ENEMY NO. 1 KILLS U. S. AGENTS

Congressman Defies Tokio Race Threat.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 27.—(AP)—In unvarnished words the congressional leader on naval legislation warned today that if existing treaties are scrapped he will insist, in any ensuing naval race, upon American construction of "five ships for each three laid down by Japan."

Chairman Vinson [Dem., Ga.] of the house naval affairs committee was the spokesman.

The Japanese already have given unofficial notice that they intend to withdraw from the Washington treaty because the United States and Great Britain will not set aside the existing 5-5-3 ratio and grant Japan actual equality on the seas.

Hopes Pact Won't Be Scrapped.

Today, as Japan was inviting France and Italy to join it in denouncing the treaty, Vinson said:

"I sincerely hope it won't be necessary to scrap the treaty. But it seems we cannot hope very strongly now for anything else.

"We cannot grant naval equality to Japan at any price. If the Tokio government does insist upon wrecking the treaty I will insist that the house naval affairs committee and congress make enough money available to build five ships for each three laid down by Japan."

Japan, he said, had once agreed to be satisfied with three warships for each five built by the United States or Great Britain.

"Officially and formally it said that was all it needed," Vinson said, "yet now it wants more."

JAPS PUSH PARITY PLAN

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 27.—Tsuneo Matsudaira, Japanese ambassador to London, accompanied by Admiral Isoroku Yamamoto, today called on Foreign Secretary Sir John Simon in the house of commons. Robert L. Craigie, chief of the American section of the British foreign office, also was present.

The conversation, which lasted more than two hours, centered chiefly around the deadlock over Japan's demand for naval equality and ways and means of overcoming the difficulties. The Japanese are still trying to persuade the Americans and British to change their minds and are pressing for their plan, under which both the United States and Great Britain presumably would retrench their current programs, while the Japanese would be free to build up a certain amount of new tonnage. The gist of the schemes is a common "upper limit" of tonnage for all three powers.

No Decision Reached.

No decision or conclusions were reached at today's meeting. It is expected that the British will meet the American delegates Friday to discuss the result of today's conversation with the Japanese.

British and American delegates made no official comment today upon Japan's action in requesting France and Italy to join the Tokio government in denouncing the 1922 Washington naval treaty. Unofficially, however, it was predicted that France and Italy would decline to be drawn into the Japanese scheme. Italy particularly, it was felt, would be reluctant to denounce a treaty which gives it naval parity with France in capital ships and airplane carriers.

Another new factor apparently entered into the situation today when the German ambassador called on Sir John Simon at the latter's request. It is understood that naval matters bearing on the London conversations were discussed.

An official of the British foreign office, while admitting that the German ambassador called on Sir John and that they "probably" discussed naval matters, refused to make any statement as to what form the conversation took.

Envoy Sees German Chief.

Sir Eric Phipps, British ambassador to Berlin, called today on the German foreign minister, Konstantin von Neurath. Following their conversation Sir Eric Phipps left Berlin for London. One rumor said Sir Eric protested against Germany's alleged rearming. Officially it was said Sir Eric only asked Von Neurath for details of the German situation, which the British government wants to know so it will be able to answer questions in tomorrow's debate in the house of commons over the increased military budget.

Joachim von Ribbentrop, Hitler's personal emissary, who arrived here recently to discuss with the British what could be arranged about arms equality, left tonight for Berlin.

ROYAL COUPLE ARE COACHED ON WEDDING RITES

Marina and Prince Wed Tomorrow.

BY JOHN STEELE.
(Picture on Back Page.)

LONDON, Nov. 27.—Principals in the state ceremonies attending the wedding Thursday of the duke of Kent, fourth son of King George and Queen Mary, and Princess Marina of Greece rehersed their parts today at Westminster abbey.

All the participants performed their rôles in street dress and the lights in the abbey were turned low, probably from motives of economy, wrapping the great church in a dim religious light.

The rehersal was private, but it was learned that the queen took charge and saw to it that all the royalty will know their proper places in the great wedding procession up the alle of the abbey. Diversion was furnished by the two small daughters of the duke of York, Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose. Dressed in red cloaks, they jumped out of the car in which they arrived and scrambled up the abbey steps. Their mother, however, pursued them, took their hands, and placed one child on either side of her, so insuring a measure of decorum.

Attended Secret Rehersal.

Neither the bride nor the bridegroom was present at the practice service. They had already attended a private rehersal last night at the abbey, entirely unknown to the public, and had at that time learned their places for the various parts of the ceremony.

The duke and Marina did, however, participate in the second rehersal of the day in the private chapel of Buckingham palace where the 1,100 year old Greek Orthodox marriage service will be performed Thursday after the British abbey rites. Archbishop Strinopoulos Germanus instructed the royal couple here with King George, Queen Mary, and the eight bridesmaids also in attendance. It was the first time the Greek ritual was observed in the palace.

There was one other rehersal—by the six spanking Windsor grays who will draw and attend the royal coach Thursday. They went through their paces today, however, pulling an old luggage coach.

Fêted at Palace.

Tonight the future duchess of Kent was fêted at Buckingham palace at a reception attended by 800 of Britain's social, diplomatic and political elite.

Marina met among other notables United States Ambassador and Mrs. Robert W. Bingham. They will be the only Americans to attend the wedding. The Greek princess was introduced to the guests by the parents of her fiancé in the state reception rooms of the palace.

In between rehersals the duke and his bride-to-be hurried over to St. James's palace and, along with servants of the various royal properties, viewed the fast-growing stacks of wedding presents, which now fill three rooms and are being added to hourly. Already it is estimated that the royal couple have enough gifts to stock a jewelry store and a small picture gallery and furnish a small hotel.

The only American representation in the gifts thus far appears to be Ambassador Bingham's share of the three soup tureens given by the diplomatic corps.

Police to Face Crowds.

For the first time in history London police will line up facing the crowds instead of standing with their backs to them during the procession to the abbey Thursday. This extra precaution, it was pointed out, is not because of fear of an attack on British royalty, but because of the presence of so many foreign royalties and ex-royalties. Many of them have enemies in their own or their former countries who might like to take this opportunity to assassinate them, as King Alexander of Jugo-Slavia was killed in Marseilles.

All streets leading to the abbey, which means practically the whole center of London, will be closed from 9 a. m. Thursday until the whole party is safely back in the palace.

This means a great inconvenience to the public, but the British public, which loves royal pageantry, is expected to put up with it without much murmuring.

WONDER WHY JAPAN WANTS SUCH A BIG FLEET?

ESCORT SHOOTS WOMAN; SLAYS SELF IN MYSTERY

Joseph Lefkowitz, 39 years old, shot and killed himself last night, after having first fired two shots into the body of Miss Eva Shifress, 33 years old, of 5322 Drexel boulevard. The double shooting occurred in the vestibule of the apartment building where the woman lived.

According to Mrs. Rose Zazove, sister of the wounded woman with whom she lived, Miss Shifress and Lefkowitz had gone out for the evening, presumably to a picture show, about 7:30 p. m.

About 9:45 p. m., Mrs. Zazove said, she heard shots in the vestibule, and looked out of the window in time to see her sister stagger from the door and collapse on the sidewalk. She was taken to the Chicago Hospital, where it is said she will recover.

Mrs. Zazove denied there was any love affair between her sister and Lefkowitz, and said she was mystified by the shootings.

ROBBERS SLAY OWNER OF TIRE SHOP IN HOLDUP

Konrad Topp, 39 years old, 1215 Diversey parkway, was murdered last night by two robbers who held up his automobile tire shop at 665 North La Salle street, less than two blocks from the East Chicago avenue police station. His wife, Mrs. Olga Topp, was at the back of the store.

Two men, who parked their car at the curb, came into the shop and asked for service on a light, Mrs. Topp told the police. Topp went outside with the men and when he returned she heard one of the men say: "Is that all you've got?" A shot followed and the two men sped away north in La Salle street with their $45 loot.

Examination of the body indicated that Topp was slugged several times and then shot in the head.

Mrs. Topp and a son, 8 years old, survive.

Dr. G. J. Musgrave Robbed of $50 by Careful Bandit

Dr. George J. Musgrave, ear, eye, nose, and throat specialist, was robbed of $50 last night by an armed bandit who accosted him just as he had driven his car up in front of his home at 2054 East 69th street. According to Dr. Musgrave, the bandit declared he had just gotten out of the penitentiary, and carefully wiped all parts of the car he had touched with his hands, explaining that he was taking no chances his fingerprints would be discovered.

Oust 26 Who Protest Huey's Gag on Paper

Baton Rouge, La., Nov. 27.—(AP)—President James M. Smith of Louisiana State university said tonight that twenty-six students of journalism had been suspended for "gross disrespect" because they signed a petition today condemning university authorities for "censoring" the Reveille, student publication.

The entire staf of the Reveille resigned yesterday because President Smith informed them they would not be permitted to print anything that might be displeasing to Senator Huey P. Long, the state's dictator.

Students of the journalism school met today and drew up petitions declaring they would not contribute anything further to the newspaper until the staf was restored and the "censorship" lifted.

Angered by Press Release.

Dr. Smith said the students were guilty of "gross disrespect in giving to the press a petition addressed to the president and the faculty committee on student publications asking for reinstatement of the Reveille staf before the petition had been presented to the president of the university."

He said the suspensions were made "subject to the approval of the board of supervisors which will be called to meet in the near future." Senator Long recently had himself appointed a member of the board.

"I understand," he said, "that outside influences are being brought to bear through the medium of telegrams, telephone messages, and personal conferences to encourage the students of the university to take an unreasonable and radical stand with reference to the issue raised concerning a reasonable faculty supervision of the publication of the Reveille.

"It is not admirable, to say the least, that outsiders, from a position of vantage, should push forward these youngsters, who alone must bear the hurt for the position they have been encouraged to take."

Forty Students Hold Meeting.

Forty members of the university school of journalism in a massmeeting demanded the reinstatement of the Reveille staf, which resigned and shut down the paper last night rather than accept the censorship. Across the door of the shop was hung the sign: "Killed by suppression."

Those who attended the mid-day meeting on the campus set up an organization to be known as "Students of the School of Journalism" for the purpose of circulating a petition about the university boycotting the Reveille unless the paper's resigned staf is restored.

A resolution adopted at the meeting for circulation on the campus stated:

"We, the undersigned members of the L. S. U. journalism school duly request the reinstatement of the Reveille staf without censorship and if such is not forthcoming we do refuse to contribute one word to the Reveille."

Editors of the student semi-weekly paper said the censorship was clamped down to forestall the publication of contributions by students critical of the college leadership of Senator Long.

BONUS WITHOUT TAX BOOST WINS BACKING OF 2 HOUSE LEADERS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 27.—(AP)—Moves for cash payment of the soldiers' bonus without increasing taxes gained new adherents among house Democrats and Republicans today despite reports that President Roosevelt will insist upon new levies if congress persists in passing the 2 billion 200 million dollar measure.

This stand was taken today by two important members of the house ways and means committee, which will consider the measure. They were Representatives Vinson [Dem., Ky.] and Bacharach [Rep., N. J.].

Each predicted the house would pass it over a presidential veto, although they disclaimed knowledge as to what action the senate would take in the event of a veto.

Senate leaders, however, have expressed doubt that their branch would override a veto.

Vinson, who has been a leading advocate of the cash bonus, said he favored currency expansion to meet the payment.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., Nov. 27.—Nearly 500 members of the Indian reservation at Caughnawaga, opposite the Island of Montreal on the south shore of the St. Lawrence, have signed a petition asking the federal government to permit them to revert to the old system of Indian chiefs instead of the present method of city council, the practice of the white man. The 500 members comprise practically the entire community.

Action was taken at a massmeeting in the reservation last night. It was held that under the old system in effect fifty years ago Indian braves were able to look after their own affairs as well as themselves, their squaws, and their children, whereas now they cannot do anything without the approval of the federal department of Indian affairs.

The Indians claim that relief at present afforded is not enough to keep them fed and clothed, as was guaranteed to them by a treaty signed with Louis XIV.

NELSON'S CRIME CAREER BEGAN AS AUTO THIEF

"He's a clever kid!"

That was how the family of George [Baby Face] Nelson, 27 years old, now America's No. 1 public enemy, received the news yesterday that Nelson had slain one federal agent and desperately wounded another.

"He's a clever kid!"

Mrs. Fitzsimmons has six children of her own and her husband is a respectable and hard working man. She is taking care of 4 year old Arlene, daughter of Nelson. The little girl came to the door with her yesterday in time to hear Mrs. Fitzsimmons refer to Arlene's father as "a clever kid."

Always a "Clever Kid."

Nelson, whose real name is Lester M. Gillis, has always been a "clever kid" from the time he stole his first automobile at the age of 15 to the day when he grew important enough to have United States department of justice executives give orders:

"This is the man above all outlaws whom you must get. And take no undue chances in capturing him."

That last phrase is another way of saying:

"Shoot first and catch him afterward."

That was also the word the federal men received about the late John Dillinger, under whose tutelage Nelson reached his present rank in crime.

Mrs. Fitzsimmons went on with her discourse:

"He's able to take care of himself. He won't be captured. If they get him, they'll be taking him to a morgue, not to a cell."

Taken Up by Dillinger.

Nelson gained his first infamy under Dillinger after the then No. 1 Public Enemy made his notorious escape from the Crown Point jail. Dillinger saw in the diminutive, blue eyed gunman the kind of merciless and cowardly killer he needed—the kind who would have no compunctions about shooting in the back.

But the career of "Baby Face" started long before that in a small way. He was sent to the St. Charles school for boys in 1922, after stealing his first automobile. He was paroled less than two years later.

Violation of parole sent him back to St. Charles within a few months. But the "clever kid" earned another parole, and yet another, although each time the kindly authorities let him loose on society he was ready to commit another crime.

To Prison for Bank Robbery.

"Baby Face" graduated to major crime in February, 1931, when he was sentenced to serve one year to life in Joliet penitentiary for bank robbery. A year later he was taken from his cell to Wheaton to be tried for a similar crime. He was again convicted and got another one year to life sentence.

Then the kid got clever once more. He escaped from his guard just after they returned to Joliet in a blinding rainstorm, and so far he has managed to elude capture.

But Nelson didn't reach his greatest notoriety until he linked his fortunes with those of Dillinger, after Dillinger escaped from Crown Point.

"Get Dillinger" was then the cry that went up over the nation, but the police and government men also had their eyes on Baby Face Nelson.

TWO SHOT DOWN IN CLASH WITH OUTLAW NELSON

Herman E. Hollis, special agent for the federal department of justice, was killed and his companion, Inspector Samuel P. Cowley, was fatally wounded yesterday in a machine gun battle with George (Baby Face) Nelson, who has been known since the death of John Dillinger as Public Enemy No. 1.

The battle took place on the Northwest highway in the north outskirts of Barrington after the two government men had overhauled a fleeing car containing Nelson, another man, and a woman. The scene is thirty-five miles northwest of the loop.

Both Leave Families.

Hollis, who was killed outright, was 28 years old. His widow and a son, 4 years old, who survive him, live at the Sherone Apartment hotel, 4423 Sheridan road.

Cowley, who was 35 years old, died at 2:20 this morning, ten hours after the shooting, in the Sherman hospital at Elgin. He, too, was married and had two small children. His home was at 20 East Delaware place.

Both Cowley and Hollis were accounted excellent investigators and for this reason had been assigned to the dangerous pursuit of Baby Face Nelson, former lieutenant of Dillinger.

They had been hot on the trail of Nelson since the slaying by federal agents of Dillinger and Charles (Pretty Boy) Floyd. Cowley was in at the death of Dillinger and is believed to have fired the shots that killed the desperado.

Police Mobilize for Hunt.

Last night the police of the metropolitan area were mobilized in the search for Nelson and his companions. Two alleged associates of the gangster were arrested. Orders were received from Washington to shoot Nelson on sight.

Because of a censorship put on all official information little could be learned of the events which preceded the battle.

Identification of Nelson as one of the gunmen was announced from Washington, however, by Assistant Attorney General William Stanley on information received from Melvin Purvis, Chicago chief of the investigation division of the justice department.

Nelson was also partly identified by one of the eight persons who saw the fight. Most of the witnesses were in three gasoline stations fronting on the Northwest highway west of Hough street in Barrington.

Sight Gangsters' Auto.

From various sources it was indicated that Cowley and Hollis, riding in a high powered automobile, sighted Nelson, the second gunman, and a blonde woman driving toward Chicago on the highway northwest of Barrington. Apparently two agents in another car had passed the Nelson car ten minutes before without recognizing the occupants.

Shortly after 4 o'clock Nelson's car, a Ford V-8 sedan, was seen speeding east in the highway, closely pursued by Cowley and Hollis, with Hollis at the wheel of the federal automobile. The occupants of the cars were exchanging shots.

Apparently it was a shot by one of the federal men, disabling the gasoline pump of the gangsters' car, which ended the chase and brought on the battle.

The action at this point was described by Mrs. Frances Kramer, operator of the Barrington service station, about 1,000 feet west of Hough street. Northwest highway at this point runs east and west.

Mrs. Kramer, her son Harold, 21 years old, and an unidentified motorist witnessed the shooting from the gasoline station. She told first of the approach of the chase from the west.

Story of Woman Witness.

"We could hear the roar of the motors and then shots as the government men fired at the gangsters' car," said Mrs. Kramer, relating her story to Chief of Police E. W. Baade of Barrington. "Some one in the gang car fired back.

"Just before they reached my station the federal car pulled abreast of the other. We heard the tires on the gang car screech as the driver swung sharply into a little side road about 200 feet past the station. (This road is the entrance to Barrington's North Side park and is about 800 feet west of Hough street.)

"The agents' car swerved, too, and Hollis managed to pull up at the side of Northwest highway just beyond the side road.

"A woman got out of the gang car which had slipped half into a ditch. She ran down the side road a few yards and then threw herself flat in the ditch. The two gunmen jumped out at the same time and faced the federal car with machine guns. They started firing as the two agents got out.

Both Federal Men Downed.

"Both sides used their automobiles as shields at first. Then one of the agents—Cowley, it was, I learned later—fell backwards into the ditch. The other—Hollis—darted behind a telephone pole. He dropped a few minutes later."

While bullets peppered the outside of her brick filling station and one pierced her son's car, Mrs. Kramer telephoned Chief Baade.

Meanwhile developments of the gunfight were being watched by other witnesses.

Robert Hayford, 25 years old, 205 North Cook street, Barrington, who was at work in the town's park, said that one of the gangsters [from a description apparently Nelson's companion] was shot in one leg. With difficulty the man regained his feet just as the federal agents' fire was halted, Hayford said.

Gang Takes Agents' Car.

The other gunman—Nelson—walked over to Hollis, looked at him, and then signed to his companion indicating the agent was dead. Then the wounded gunner clambered behind the wheel of the government car.

Nelson called to the woman, who got up from the ditch and also entered the agents' automobile. Nelson put in the two gang machine guns used in the fight. Then he got two more machine guns, four rifles, and a quantity of ammunition from his own car and put all that into the agents' machine. He got in himself, abandoning his own automobile, and the car started back west, moving slowly, Hayford said.

Harry E. Cooper, whose filling station is almost opposite the park road, also watched the closing minutes of the gun fight. To the east of him is the third station, on the northwest corner of Hough street and the Northwest highway.

State Policeman Sees Fight.

Inside this third station were Alfred Trestik, the attendant, and William Gallagher, 25 years old, a state highway policeman, off duty. Trestik lay flat on the floor, but peered through an open door at the battle.

Gallagher, who was unarmed, asked Trestik for a gun. The attendant handed him a rifle, but the gangsters had headed west as Gallagher opened fire. He did not hit them.

Meanwhile the eighth witness to the shooting was hiding in the loam of a nearby field, where he took refuge after nearly becoming a victim. He is P. W. Sherman, 4526 North Spaulding avenue. Driving toward Cary, he aproached the federal and gang automobiles as they neared the end of the chase.

Sherman Gets Out of It.

"I heard a lot of cracking noises," related Sherman. "It took me half a second to discover it was gunfire. I jammed on the brakes, backed my car right into a field, jumped out and ran like hell.

"There was a burst of shots at me and I flopped down in the mud. I hardly know what happened. I got up and ran to get farther away and somebody shot at me again."

Sherman apparently was fired on by the federal agents, who mistook him for a member of Nelson's gang when he ran into the field. Sherman said he had a good view of the occupants of Nelson's car. The woman was a blonde, he said. Asked if he thought one of the men was "Baby Face" Nelson, Sherman said:

"I'd have to see a picture of Nelson again to make sure, but he certainly resembled the fellow I've seen in newspaper pictures. I haven't seen any photos for some time."

My Partner First, Says Cowley.

Policeman Gallagher was the first to reach the side of Inspector Cowley and Agent Hollis. Cowley whispered:

"I'm a federal officer. Help me but take care of my partner first."

Gallagher pulled back their coats and saw the federal badges. He took a machine gun from Cowley's hands and laid it beside the shotgun Hollis had been holding, then ran to get help.

Roy Wilmering, a Barrington undertaker, brought his ambulance and took Hollis to the emergency hospital in Barrington. There physicians tried in vain to revive him with a heart stimulant.

Edward Tubin, 31 years old, vice president of the Elgin Glass company, who was riding past, drove the wounded Cowley to the hospital in Elgin, 14 miles away.

En route Tubin tried to converse with the inspector. Cowley asked to have his wife notified. Tubin inquired if there was anything Cowley wanted to say or write, but the inspector said he was too weak.

Shot Through the Body.

At the hospital it was found that a machine gun bullet had passed through Cowley's abdomen. Dr. Morgan L. Carpenter of Elgin operated, assisted by Dr. K. L. Fish of Barrington, who had accompanied Cowley to the hospital.

Cowley's wife and one of their children, a 4 month old baby, arrived at the hospital and were given a room there for the night. Mrs. Cowley was at her husband's side when he died. Melvin Purvis also hurried to see Cowley as soon as word of the gun fight was received.

Purvis revealed that he had been on the point of accompanying Cowley and the other agents in the search for Nelson during the afternoon. He said the agents were sent out on information that Nelson's car had been seen northwest of Barrington. Another matter came up and he had to remain at his office, Purvis said.

"I am reasonably sure that Nelson and a confederate were the men in the fight, but I don't know, and I have no details of the chase leading up to the shooting," Purvis said. "Also, I do not know where the other agents were at the time."

This last remark apparently referred to two agents who appeared at the Barrington hospital after Hollis was taken there. They refused to give their names, but from telephone conversations they were identified as John Medallie and another agent named La France.

When informed of the license number of the car Nelson used in the chase Medallie was quoted as saying: "Good God, we must have passed that car ten minutes before the shooting."

Back at the scene of the battle Sherif Lester Tiffany of Lake county found Nelson's car shot through and through. One bullet had punctured the rear window, another was in the gasoline tank, a third in the radiator which had boiled over, and two had pierced the top of the car on the left side.

Inside the car Sherif Tiffany found a machine gun and other articles, indicating the gang was either planning a long trip or was preparing to stock up one of its hideouts.

There were three suitcases containing men's clothing, two battered men's hats, several boxes of canned goods, several tins of motor oil, two brief cases, one containing rifle shells and machine gun drums, and six sets of license plates from as many states.

One of these was for Wisconsin, where Nelson was last reported early this month in a north woods hiding place.

Sherif Tiffany revealed that Cowley and a crew of picked agents had been in Lake and McHenry counties as well as throughout Wisconsin for the last two months, seeking Nelson.

Chicago Police Join Hunt.

Last night's search for Nelson and his companions of the gun battle was joined by five squads from the Chicago detective bureau, who accompanied federal agents on a number of raids. The government men were reported to have identified the gunman with Nelson—the man said to have been wounded—as a gangster named "Leo."

Seven of the places reported visited by the raiders were on the north side. Others were said to be in Berwyn and other western suburbs. At 11 o'clock two men were arrested and taken to the office of the department of justice for questioning. They are Chester Leader, garage owner at 2556 Division street, and Lester Van Huston, saloonkeeper at 152 South Crawford avenue. Both are associates of Nelson, police charged.

The deaths of Hollis and Cowley raise to three the number of federal agents believed to have been slain by Nelson. He is alleged to have killed Agent W. Carter Baum last April 22 when the Dillinger gang broke out of a federal trap at the Little Bohemia inn on Spider lake, near Mercer, Wis.

Both College Graduates.

Both Cowley and Hollis were university graduates and lawyers.

Cowley, whose former home was Logan, Utah, was a graduate of the Utah State Agricultural college and the law school of George Washington university. He entered the service of the department of justice five years ago. Later he was assigned to the Chicago area for the Dillinger hunt, remaining here to track down other members of the gang.

Hollis was born in Des Moines, Ia. In 1927, after his graduation from Georgetown university, he married Miss Genevieve Glenn of Council Bluffs, Ia., and entered the government service. The couple celebrated their seventh wedding anniversary last Saturday.

In the department of justice Hollis first had charge of investigations in the Oklahoma district. Later assigned to head the Detroit bureau of investigation, he broke up the notorious Purple gang.

Active in Dirigible Quiz.

Several years ago he went to Akron, O., when the ill-fated dirigible Akron was under construction and gathered evidence which convicted a workman of conspiracy with a foreign power to destroy the craft. Later he was shifted to Chicago.

Deputy Coroner John J. Butler of Cook county ordered Hollis' body taken to undertaking rooms at 5811 Broadway where an inquest will be held this morning at 11 o'clock. The county line runs through the center of Barrington. The shooting occurred on the Lake county side, but the hospital where Hollis was finally pronounced dead is on the Cook county side.

THREE POLICE RADIO STATIONS SPUR HUNT FOR HOLLIS SLAYERS

By the three police radio stations, as well as by the police teletype, the message to search for the car in which Baby Face Nelson and his two companions are believed to be fleeing, was sent out last night to police of Chicago and 125 suburban towns.

In accordance with a telephone message from the office of Melvin H. Purvis, local head of the department of justice agents, stations WPDB, WPAC, and WPDD broadcast:

"Attention all police cars; be on the lookout for a dark blue Hudson sedan in which two men and a woman who killed Federal Agent Herman E. Hollis are trying to escape. Car is latest 1934 model, with Illinois license 79-976. Wheels are wooden, with aluminum hub caps. Be sure of the license number before you shoot, as the automobile is a department of justice car, and department of justice agents are traveling in cars like it."

This message, on the air at 7:21 p. m., was received by 200 police cars in Chicago alone.

U. S. SENDS ACE AGENT HERE TO HUNT KILLERS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 27.—[Special.]—J. Edgar Hoover, head of the division of investigation of the department of justice, today ordered an assistant, H. H. Clegg, to Chicago to take charge of the search for the men who killed one federal agent and wounded another.

In the hunt for George [Baby Face] Nelson, who is blamed for today's casualties Clegg is to replace Samuel P. Cowley, first assistant in the Chicago office, who was critically wounded.

Clegg is reputed to be one of the department's ablest detectives. He was head of the federal agents in Nashville, Tenn., the home of Thomas H. Robinson Jr., fugitive kidnaper of Mrs. Berry Stoll, and was active in the investigation soon after Mrs. Stoll's release. A few days later he was called here and assigned to the more important post.

He was present at Spider Lake, Wis., when members of the Dillinger gang eluded a federal trap and killed one agent. His knowledge of the habits and movements of the remnants of Dillinger's mob is regarded as one of the chief reasons for his new assignment.

Instructions were telephoned this afternoon from Hoover's office to that of Melvin H. Purvis, chief of the Chicago unit of the investigation division, to withhold all details of the Barrington shooting from the newspapers.

U. S. COMPLETES ITS CROWN POINT ESCAPE INQUIRY

Washington, D. C., Nov. 27.—(AP)—The justice department said today it is studying a report of an investigation inaugurated to determine whether any federal statutes were violated in connection with the escape of John Dillinger from the Lake county jail at Crown Point, Ind.

The department disclosed that the inquiry was conducted by its own investigators and that the report has been received here, but that the contents will not be divulged until a thorough review has been completed.

The report is understood to deal not only with the escape of the notorious criminal, but with the alleged abduction recently by J. Edward Barce, deputy attorney general of Indiana, of eight "witnesses" to the affair.

The "witnesses" were alleged to have been held in a Monticello hotel, and in one at Indianapolis.

QUIZ BY NRA HINTS MISUSE OF CODE FUNDS

Loose Accounting Found in Ohio Case.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 27.—[Special.]—Reckless spending and possibly graft have corrupted the NRA's costly code administration machinery, investigations launched by the NRA itself indicated today.

Code authorities set up under the NRA have been assessing American business approximately 200 million dollars a year to pay for code enforcement and have been spending the money without, in many cases, making a proper accounting for it. Business men are complaining of high code salaries and misappropriation of funds.

NRA Audits Budgets.

NRA itself has launched a series of audits of code budgets in order to sift the charges and a budget audit section has been set up in the NRA research and planning section, W. A. Harriman, NRA administrative officer, revealed today.

First concrete disclosure of the loose handling of NRA code funds came today when, as the result of an audit, the retail coal code authority for Ohio was called on the carpet by Deputy Administrator Frank A. Hecht and Special Assistant Hiram S. Brown. Some Ohio dealers also appeared before Hecht today to protest the way in which Code Chairman Kline L. Roberts and his associates were spending money raised by assessments on Ohio dealers.

"Careless Accounting" Found.

"Several cases of carelessness in accounting were shown, but none was of such seriousness as to warant summary action against any member of the code authority," Harriman said after the Ohio hearing. "There are no formal charges against these men. It is merely that they did not make accounting for some money in the usual way. It is true that they spent more than the budget allowed, but the expenditures were legitimate."

Harriman said that the NRA did not believe that the salaries or traveling expenses which the code authority members had voted themselves were excessive.

Despite Harriman's conciliatory attitude, rebel dealers declared that the Ohio code authority was guilty of misappropriation of funds. Chairman Roberts, they argued, was being paid $10,000 a year and should be cut to $5,000. The NRA refused to make public the hearing at which the complaints were aired.

Officials Suspect Graft.

The Ohio revelation is the forerunner of more such disclosures to come. Special Assistant Brown was appointed by Harriman a week ago to dig into the whole budget setup and cut out the rotten spots. Brown is a former chief of the army air corps finance division.

Officials who have worked with the code budget admit frankly that they suspect many of the budgets of being shot through with graft. Altogether there are some 500 code authorities, and many of them are assessing their industries over a million dollars a year for running expenses. Code authority chairmen, secretaries, and counsels are pulling down the fattest salaries in Washington.

Henderson Finds Padding.

Graft is believed to have crept into the budgets during the period when Gen. Hugh S. Johnson was letting the NRA drift prior to resigning.

Johnson himself had promised to keep close check on the budgets as they were submitted, but in his absence the work drifted until Leon Henderson of the research and planning division undertook to pass on budgets. Without adequate help he caught obvious padding, but could not manage a thorough checkup in all items.

HERMIT SCHWALL GETS TWO YEARS FOR BANK THEFT

Nicholas Schwall, 40 years old, former assistant cashier of the First National bank of Wilmette, was sentenced to two years in Leavenworth penitentiary yesterday by Federal Judge William H. Holly for embezzlement of $56,000 of bank funds. Schwall had pleaded guilty.

Schwall, who is married and the father of three children, was arrested two weeks ago in a cabin in northern Wisconsin, where he had lived for almost two years. Assistant United States Attorney James C. Leaton recommended a sentence of five years.

"I don't feel inclined to be so hard on the defendant," Judge Holly said. "This man has no previous record, his character had been irreproachable, and he has a family in distress. I do not feel I should impose a penalty as heavy as that recommended."

Schwall, who helped straighten out the books of the defrauded bank, said that he planned to "pay back every cent of the $56,000" after he finished his sentence. He said that his wife, who had advised him to come back and plead guilty, had promised "to start over again" when he is returned to society.

Witness Shooting of Federal Agents

Kills a Federal Agent.

Nelson was among those present last April near the Little Bohemia resort in northern Wisconsin, where the Dillinger mob was hiding. The hideout was found and surrounded by federal agents, but the attack was bungled. The gang escaped and Federal Agent W. Carter Baum, left slain, was a victim of the gun of "Baby Face."

"He's a clever kid!" said the underworld.

"He's a rat!" said Attorney General Homer S. Cummings and the department of justice.

Dillinger was still Public Enemy No. 1, but there came the night of last July 22, when Dillinger met the guns of federal agents in Chicago as he left a north side neighborhood theater. Dillinger went to the morgue.

Baby Face Nelson then shared the "No. 1" title with other survivors of the gang—Hamilton and Van Meter. True, there were Harry Pierpont and Charles Makley, but they were in the Ohio state penitentiary at Columbus, awaiting execution for the murder of a sheriff.

Van Meter Goes to Morgue.

Came Aug. 23, and Homer Van Meter, up in St. Paul, started out to call on Miss Opal Meliga, a young waitress. But police machine guns intervened. Van Meter went to the morgue.

Federal agents haven't seen or heard anything of Hamilton for some time. They are inclined to the belief that he is dead, victim of one of the gang's encounters with law enforcers.

That leaves "Baby Face" Nelson in the spotlight as Public Enemy No. 1 of the United States. Others, who might have shared the title or disputed it with him, have been accounted for.

Charles [Pretty Boy] Floyd was slain by federal agents led by Melvin Purvis of Chicago near East Liverpool, O., on Oct. 23. Makley and Pierpont tried to escape from the Ohio penitentiary last September. Makley was killed. Pierpont was seized. He died in the electric chair Oct. 17.

So "Baby Face" Nelson, Chicago born and Dillinger educated, is the kingpin of those who live by the gun.

His Wife Is Somewhere.

Nelson has a wife somewhere. Mrs. Fitzsimmons and Mrs. Gillis both say they don't know where she is. She was captured when "Baby Face" and the rest escaped from the Little Bohemia trap, and was tried for aiding in the escape of men wanted by the government. She was put on probation for 18 months and disappeared.

There was a woman in the car yesterday with the man, who the United States authorities say was Nelson. Mrs. Fitzsimmons said she doesn't know whether it was Mrs. Nelson or not.

There are two children, little Arlene and a 5 year old boy who is now in Bremerton, Wash., being kept by another sister of the fugitive. Mrs. Fitzsimmons said she is glad to keep little Arlene, even though she has six children of her own.

She'll Raise a Flag.

"He hasn't sent me any money, but keeping his daughter is the least we can do for him," said Mrs. Fitzsimmons. "If this story about the shooting up near Barrington is true, then I'll raise another flag for him, for getting away. Of course, maybe it's too bad about the killing, but the old saying is 'An eye for an eye.'"

Then she added:

OFFERS TO SELL INFORMATION ON CODE DECISIONS

Coal Dealers Promised Data "Hours Ahead."

A promise to provide code authority information, "hours ahead of your competitors," is contained in a letter soliciting members for the Chicago Associated Coal Yard Owners, it was disclosed yesterday. Joseph J. Heritage is listed as president of the organization. He is a member of the retail coal code authority for this district. He said that no information other than that "officially released" by the code group is sent to association members.

The letter, dated Nov. 15, reads as follows:

"How would you like to have a list of all the suits and judgments each week against persons who have bought coal and failed to pay for it? Without this list you may be the next coal man to get 'stuck.'

Offer New Appointments.

"Think of the new business you can get if you have a list of the new receivers for buildings as soon as they are appointed!

"Do you want notices of all requests for bids on coal and coke?

"Do you want 'spot' credit information or special credit reports?

"How would you like to have information regarding the activities of the code authority, changes in prices, rulings, and other important information, hours ahead of your competitors?

"Do you want a representative on the code authority watching your interests, investigating complaints and giving you first-hand information right off the bat? Semi-monthly meetings and dinners.

"Your membership in the Chicago Associated Coal Yard Owners gives you all this service for 33 cents a day or less.

Initiation Fee $10.

"The initiation fee is only $10. Dues are only one cent per ton per month, with a minimum of $10, or 20 cars of coal.

"May we have your application for membership by return mail? Sign the enclosed blank and send check for $10."

The letter is signed by C. S. Clark, executive secretary.

"The reason members can get the information sooner than non-members," said Mr. Heritage, "is that the code authority has 4,000 dealers' names on its mailing list while we have only a few hundred. We could put the code authority bulletins in the mail quicker than the code authority. But only the official information is sent out.

Explains Speed Offer.

"Of course, things come up, and can be anticipated by code authority members. But here it should be pointed out that every dealer group in the city is represented on the code authority."

Mr. Clark said the promise of prior code information was based on the fact that he is a member of the publicity committee of the National Recovery Act administration, and that the association is a member of the national code authority and the National Retail Coal Dealers' association.

In this way the association acquires data not so easily available to non-member coal dealers, he said. If the information is important, it is telephoned to members instead of being mailed, thus saving the promised "hours," Mr. Clark added. He declared that none of the information comes from Mr. Heritage in his capacity as a code authority member.

GOVERNMENT OF CITY IN RUSSIA IS FIRED; NO ONE MISSES IT

[Copyright: 1934: By the New York Times.]

MOSCOW, Nov. 27.—A strange case of the "mysterious disappearance" of an entire town soviet, which apparently was not seriously missed until a month ago when the time came to prepare for the elections now going on in all parts of Russia, came to light today.

Not only had the town soviet, which corresponds roughly to Chicago's city council, disappeared, but so had the subordinate officials, department managers, etc. The town had been getting along without any government and just now has awakened to the fact.

The scene of this unique situation is Stalinbad, capital of the autonomous republic of Tajikistan. The reason for the "disappearance" of the town soviet is that it was dismissed from office en masse last June by the government of Tajikistan on the ground that it had violated communist party principles. The government appointed a commission to run the city until a new soviet should be chosen at the regular election. Last month this commission also was ousted and a committee was appointed to conduct the election.

Secretary of Carpenters' Union Is Seized in Theft

George Anderson, 62 years old, for twenty-one years financial secretary of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, local 643, was held at the First district police station last night, charged with embezzling $5,000 of union funds. He was taken into custody at his home, Petite Lake, Ill., after a warant was sworn out by Martin Hertz, business agent of the union. Hertz will appear against him this morning in the Felony court.

GIVES BLOOD

GIVE SEYFERLICH TRANSFUSION; HE IS RESTING WELL

Fire Commissioner Arthur Seyferlich, ill in the Henrotin hospital with a gangrenous foot, was given a blood transfusion last evening. The attending physician, Dr. Stanton K. Livingston, staf physician at the Hines Memorial hospital, issued a bulletin later stating that Commissioner Seyferlich was resting comfortably and that his temperature, pulse, respiration and blood chemistry were normal.

Dr. Livingston in his statement said that the blood transfusion was given preparatory to an inspection and redressing of the infected foot later.

When it was learned throughout the fire department that a blood transfusion was to be given to the stricken commissioner, the fire alarm office was deluged with calls by firemen who volunteered to give their blood. Sergt. Edward Ganschow of the Irving park district, a nephew, and Fireman Harry Lukow of fire company 76 were selected to donate a pint of blood.

U. S. BOARD FAILS IN LOS ANGELES TROLLEY STRIKE

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 27.—(AP)—Announcing a hopeless deadlock in negotiations to settle the four day Los Angeles railway strike, the federal regional labor board adjourned tonight and telegraphed Washington it could do nothing further.

Meanwhile violence flared again when more than 100 strikers took charge of a street car, ordered every one off, and tipped the car over at an intersection, tying up more than fifty other street cars and automobile trafic more than two hours. At several downtown points sporadic rioting was reported, but no one was reported hurt. More than forty had been injured in the three previous days.

Dr. Towne Nylander, executive secretary of the regional labor board telegraphed the national labor relations board at Washington when negotiations collapsed.

HIRES "HONEST FACE"; LOSES $450.

Because Michael McDonald, 35 years old, had an honest face Thad Alavezos hired him to work in his restaurant at 610 South Crawford avenue last week. Yesterday McDonald failed to report for work and Alavezos found $450 had disappeared.

HOLD WOMAN IN DEATHS OF THREE MYSTERY GIRLS

Suffocated, Is Latest Official Theory.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 27.—(AP)—An official high in the investigation of the mystery of the deaths of three children found in the mountains near Carlisle tonight said a woman was being held in Philadelphia in connection with the case.

The official emphasized, however, that the woman is not under arrest.

The official said the woman would be taken to Carlisle tomorrow to view the bodies.

Investigators in the case, the informant said, regarded the new angle in the case as their "first break."

No information was revealed as to the circumstances under which the woman was held or her name.

Suffocation Theory Advanced.

Carlisle, Pa., Nov. 27.—[Special.]—The new theory that the three chestnut haired girls discovered Saturday on a mountainside bier died of suffocation, possibly through murderous intent, occupied authorities tonight as the baffling case passed the fourth day.

Another hypothesis that the unidentified children may have been strangled, a belief advanced at the outset of the case but later discarded, was also being studied with new interest following the completion of further tests on the bodies.

However, the suffocation theory was given the more serious consideration. It was supported by the report of Dr. George R. Moffitt of Harrisburg, after he had made blood tests. The doctor's examinations eliminated a previous assumption that death may have been caused by carbon monoxide.

Linked to Dead Couple.

Also baffling the police's best efforts are the deaths of a man and woman found shot to death at Duncansville, about 100 miles west over the mountains from where the corpses of the three children were stumbled upon by woodsmen.

It is believed the five are part of a single tragedy, a bus driver having identified the woman and the three young girls as passengers on his bus on a trip from New York to Harrisburg last Wednesday. The deaths of the man and woman have been termed a murder and suicide.

Hunting along trails that extend the entire breadth of the United States, police were most intent tonight on two clews to the children's identities which point to California for confirmation.

According to one of these, a California couple with three girls answering descriptions of the children in the mountain mystery stayed at a tourist camp near South Langhorne, near Philadelphia, from Nov. 19 until Nov. 21. The couple gave the names of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Malone of Vallejo, Cal.

Maj. C. M. Wilhelm, deputy superintendent of state police, said he was told of the incident by Mrs. Gooden Dills, who operates the camp.

Wash Cloths Match Up.

Wilhelm said there is a close similarity in the descriptions of a wash rag which was in a black bag picked up Thursday near where the girls' bodies were found and a wash rag the Malone couple left at the tourist camp.

He also declared that the description of the girls who stayed at the camp fits that of the dead children almost exactly, even to the clothing.

The other California clew appeared when Larry Carney of Philadelphia looked at a photograph of the man found shot at Duncansville and declared the body was that of Horace Hughes, a Salvation Army member with whom he lived in San Francisco six years ago.

REALTORS HOLD ANNUAL DINNER OF THANKSGIVING

Nineteen former presidents of the Chicago Real Estate board, accused of "having broken the law," were vindicated yesterday at a mock trial held in the board rooms, 32 West Randolph street, and presided over by "Chief Justice" Blake Smith. The trial was a feature of a burlesque melodrama, written by William C. Regelin. It was presented at the annual Thanksgiving dinner of the real estate board.

The court, also known as "The Brain Trust," which tried the case was made up of James W. Belanger, Arthur Kruggel, P. D. Angell, John Fisher, Samuel Rapold, and Tomas Roberts. The prosecuting attorneys were Robert Dyrenforth and George Anderson. Homer Hoyt and Herman V. Silvertrust represented the defendants.

SANE BUDGET ALL BUSINESS NEEDS, SAYS SEC. ROPER

Recovery Will Follow, He Tells Roosevelt.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Warm Springs, Ga., Nov. 27.—[Special.]—Business needs only the assurance of a safe and sane federal program of expenditures to stride toward recovery in seven league boots. This message was carried to President Roosevelt in the little White House today by Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper.

The quiet North Carolinan threw himself among the more conservative of the presidential advisers in warning that the government will not stand on its feet if the left wing clamor for pouring more easy money into relief of the unemployed is not halted. He declared the government must be saved from such a policy by a further shifting of relief control to communities.

Secretary Roper said he was cheered by the statement of Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, senate floor leader, that federal expenditures will be tapered off and no new tax burdens will be added by the next congress. The senator's definition of a new financial policy was given after a conference with the President yesterday.

"All That Was Needed."

"Senator Robinson's statement is very wholesome," said Secretary Roper. "This is all business has been waiting for. There is an immense reservoir of business which will move forward anyway, but this assurance of wise control of expenditures will make business move far more rapidly."

The secretary said that business has been disturbed over governmental expenditures. He confessed business has been marking time in apprehension over the flood tide of federal outlays. The volume and administration of federal expenditures both have contributed to such uneasiness.

The secretary's stand for community control of relief was considered a significant declaration of a new and more conservative policy under development in the little White House. This was seen as reduction of the dole aspects of relief and a heaping of emphasis on a day's pay for a day's work program.

Must Take More Interest.

"There is the conviction that the individual localities—the states, counties and municipalities—must take a more intimate interest and become more intimately identified with relief expenditures. This should be done to permit only the worthy needy to get relief and in the general interest of the community. Only the community can prune the unworthy from the rolls."

Secretary Roper cited an instance in interpretation of his declaration that relief is encouraging unemployment. In Cincinnati he said a negro was offered a job at $18 week and refused it because he was getting $15 on relief and on acceptance of the job would be working for "$3 a week."

"No government can stand on such a policy which encourages unemployment," he continued. "To counteract this the people should coöperate for the purpose of saving the government from a policy which, if carried too far, will attract people from the ranks of the employed to the federal handout line.

"We need a balanced attitude. We should be just as interested in creating jobs as in getting money. People want the needy taken care of, but on worth while work projects."

President Roosevelt dropped administrative problems late in the day to visit with his friends, the inmates of the Warm Springs Foundation. Many of these remember the President when he fought his attack of infantile paralysis here before he became governor of New York.

UNTERMYER TO HEAD ANTI-NAZI BOYCOTT GROUP

LONDON, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Samuel Untermyer of New York today was elected president of "The World Non-sectarian Anti-Nazi Council to Champion Human Rights" and London was established as the headquarters of the council preparatory to a boycott on German goods.

Before his election, which was held in secret, Untermyer threatened to withdraw from the candidacy when Rumanian Jewish delegates, stating they feared police reprisals at home, held out against joining the nonsectarian conference which they said they thought would ally them with communistic organizations in the United States.

Untermyer indignantly retorted that the American organizations, especially the American Federation of Labor, were not communistic.

Illinois Officials Discuss Relief in Capital

HEAR PWA PLANS BILLION AND HALF FOR HOMESTEADS

Report Given Credence in Washington.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 27.—(AP)—An unprecedentedly large subsistence homesteads program, calling for federal spending of between 500 million and a billion and a half dollars over the next five years, was reported under serious consideration today as a part of a new public works program.

The proposal would furnish opportunity to Secretary Ickes to carry out his government-financed housing idea. The PWA chief's recent exposition of a federal low-cost housing plan brought so strong an objection from James A. Moffett, housing administrator, that White House intervention was necessitated. At that time, however, Ickes did not mention the homestead plan as what he had in mind.

Hear Billion and Half Figure.

Reports of the subsistence homestead plan were heard coincidentally on Capitol hill and in the executive section of Washington. In one government quarter it was said that the billion and a half development was under consideration.

Representative Hampton P. Fulmer [Dem., S. C.] said he had heard of a proposal to spend 100 million a year for five years in this work. He said he believed it would receive hearty congressional approval.

Meanwhile, Ickes' already operative subsistence homestead organization was disclosed to be selling homes to families in the low income class at three per cent interest, giving them 30 years in which to pay.

The present efforts of Housing Administrator Moffett to encourage home building with private funds are based upon government-insured five per cent mortgages. He had declared that Ickes' previously expanded plan would wreck the National Housing act.

Relief Officials Anxious.

Relief officials also were revealed today to be as anxious as Ickes to continue government activities in the field of low cost housing. They said, however, that they had decided to follow the interest rates of the Farm Credit administration—ranging from about five to five and one-half per cent—in determining the rentals to be charged occupants of homes built with relief funds for destitute families.

SOUTH PARKS' 19 HORSES ORDERED SOLD; MOTORIZE

Although the horse is still king of the Chicago Park district under the new district code, which provides that motorists must stop for equestrians at intersections of bridle paths and highways, he no longer has a place in the district's working forces. Yesterday the commissioners ordered the sale, at auction, of the last nineteen horses in the south parks' teaming division, an integral part of the south park system since its founding.

Motorization of south park equipment makes the use of the horse no longer necessary, said George T. Donoghue, superintendent of the Chicago Park district, and the park commissioners hope that at least $1,500 will be realized from the sale of the nineteen horses, plus harness and vehicles.

"We can't keep 'em, even for exhibition purposes," Mr. Donoghue said. "They're good horses, and ought to be pensioned, but there's too much overhead."

ZOO AT BROOKFIELD AWAITS EDUCATED CHIMPANZEE OF N. Y.

New York, Nov. 27.—[Special.]—Meshie Mungkut, Dr. Harray C. Raven's tame chimpanzee, which he says has more brains than some people, is going west. For six years she has lived with Dr. Raven and she has had a swell time. Now, however, the doctor is off to Burma, where a delicately raised chimpanzee might find life too tough, and Meshie has got to stay behind.

So Dr. Raven decided to send Meshie to the Chicago zoological gardens in Brookfield, which has the reputation of being a sort of animal country club. Miss Mungkut is a friendly soul, and will like that. She leaves next Monday, traveling by herself on one of the crack trains.

Dr. Raven picked up Meshie a few weeks after her birth on the Congo. Her mother had been killed and he raised her.

MOTHER SEEKS SON, 6, KEPT BY GRANDMOTHER

Superior Judge Rudolph F. Desort was confronted with a knotty decision yesterday, involving the custody of George Snip Jr., 6 years old, of Crown Point, Ind.

The boy has been with his grandmother, Mrs. May Snip, since July, 1933. His parents were divorced in November, 1933, and Mrs. Snip was awarded custody of her child. Recently she married Milton Weigert, 5562 Jackson boulevard. She sought to regain custody of her son, but the grandmother insisted she loved the boy too much to surrender him.

Yesterday, with all the principals except the boy in court, Mrs. Weigert's attorney, Norman Becker, asked that Snip and his mother be held in contempt of court for failure to comply with the custody order. Snip, who lives at 6308 Drexel boulevard, was represented by Attorney Frank Levitan.

"I can take care of my son now," Mrs. Weigert asserted, weeping.

"But I love him," Mrs. Snip countered, "and I won't give him up. His mother abandoned him to me and I care for him as a son." She also wept.

Judge Desort ordered that the child be brought before him Monday, when he will rule on which parent shall have custody.

DU PAGE COUNTY TREASURER VOTE TO BE CONTESTED

John F. Hesterman, Republican, present sherif of Du Page county, who was defeated for the office of county treasurer by Arthur L. Hellyer, Democratic candidate, by 14 votes in the official canvass made of the recent election, will go before the County court on Friday to ask that a recount be ordered.

The decision to contest the election of Mr. Hellyer to the office of county treasurer was made Monday night at a caucus of Republican leaders held in Wheaton and was disclosed yesterday.

Sherif Hesterman declared yesterday that he was not given credit for votes on otherwise straight straight Democratic ballots which had been marked for him.

MAYOR OUTLINES THREE JOBS TO EMPLOY 50,000

Urges Federal Funds for Outer Bridge.

Three projects to provide employment for 50,000 persons in Chicago—financed by federal relief funds—were proposed yesterday by Mayor Kelly. They are the outer drive bridge, resurfacing of 200 miles of city streets, and the digging of small sewers.

The mayor, speaking informally at his press conference, expressed concern over the relief problem. He pointed out the shortage of city funds as a reason for dipping into federal relief money to carry out the projects.

City Might Pay a Part.

"We might work out some plan whereby the city could pay as much as possible," said Mayor Kelly, "but the federal government would be called on to bear the brunt of the expense for materials and labor."

The outer drive bridge was originally a federal Public Works administration project, but Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes, PWA head, withdrew the fund allotment last summer on the ground that the collateral offered was not sound enough.

Streets Need Resurfacing.

The 200 miles of streets referred to by Mayor Kelly were laid with macadam years ago and are now badly in need of repairs.

According to the plan they would be resurfaced with asphalt. Engineers say the work could be carried on during the winter months.

Mayor Kelly also discussed the possibility of getting a federal loan on back taxes due the city. This would take legislation, he said.

SEIZE INSURANCE MAN IN BOSTON IN ARSON CASE HERE

State's Attorney Courtney was notified yesterday that Harry Brown, insurance adjuster and alleged incendiary, is under arrest in Boston. Brown has been sought as one of the key defendants in the $1,000,000 arson ring since late in September when he forfeited a $10,000 bond shortly before his indictment for murder by arson.

The murder charge grew out of the death of Joseph Pecori, 17 years old, a cripple, who was fatally burned on Aug. 11, 1928, in a fire in a building at 1200 Taylor street. Indicted with Brown in the case are Mrs. Bertha Warshovsky, grandmother and so-called "arson queen"; Thomas Falone, who operated a butcher shop in the building, and Harry Siegel, an insurance adjuster.

Siegel recently was sentenced to 14 years in the penitentiary on the charge. Mrs. Warshovsky and Falone obtained severances and testified for the state. Besides the murder charge Brown is also under indictment on several charges of arson.

Assistant State's Attorney Marshall Kearney announced that extradition papers were being drawn. He said that representatives of the state's attorney would start immeditely for Boston to seek extradition of Brown.

ILLINOIS HUNTS RELIEF CASH TO MEET U. S. EDICT

Increase in State Sales Tax Is Proposed.

Back from Washington with the ultimatum that beginning Jan. 15 Illinois must provide $3,000,000 a month for relief purposes, Gov. Horner and Mayor Kelly cast about yesterday for sources of revenue which would yield this sum. The ultimatum was delivered on Monday by Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief administrator, who said the government would pay the state's relief bill until the middle of January and would provide $6,000,000 a month after that if the state would contribute $3,000,000 monthly.

Whatever plan to raise the $3,000,000 is tried must be in shape for submission to the Illinois general assembly when it convenes Jan. 9 in the 59th regular session. If it were an agreed program, already approved by both Democratic and Republican leaders, the chances for passage in about five legislative days would be fair; if not, the Democratic majorities would have to jam it through, providing they were united in its favor.

Horner Hopes for Support.

The governor hopes that whatever is done will have the support of both parties. It has been reported that he would call a conference next month with legislative leaders, but it seemed much more likely yesterday that the Illinois emergency relief commission would issue the invitation for the conference.

Robert J. Dunham, chairman, said the commission "might conclude to invite the leaders to a conference, so that we may apprise them of what we are doing and what problems we are up against."

If the meeting is called—Mr. Dunham said he would talk with the commission about it on Friday—it might be deemed the proper forum to consider a plan talked about yesterday. This plan, it was thought, might bring in the necessary $36,000,000 annually by three amendments to the 2 per cent state sales tax law.

No one official is understood to be back of the plan. It appeared to represent the opinions of several leaders.

The Program Suggested.

The suggested program involves diversion to relief of whatever portion of the present sales tax revenue is not necessary for state purposes; an increase of the levy from 2 to 3 per cent, and broadening of its base to include professions and occupations not now under its scope.

For the first proposal the argument was made that the tax was expected to bring in more than $40,000,000 next year. One of Gov. Horner's advisers said in Springfield last week that the revenue might be as high as $45,000,000. The state is now using about $3,000,000 of sales tax revenue monthly. Therefore there is a possibility of some excess revenue which could be diverted to relief if the 40 or 45 million dollar estimate is correct.

An increase from 2 to 3 per cent in the amount of the levy and application of this additional income to relief would add perhaps as much as $15,000,000 toward the $36,000,000 goal.

Plan to Widen Tax Base.

The third proposal, that of extending the base of the sales tax, would bring in a sum as yet not even estimated by those considering the revenue problem. Physicians, dentists, lawyers, and other professional men would probably be taxed, not on their incomes but on the privilege of doing business.

Combined, the three new proposals might provide the necessary $36,000,000, some of the leaders believe.

Mayor Kelly, who returned from the Washington conference with Gov. Horner, emphasized that he did not favor increasing the sales tax.

The governor returned to Springfield last night. If the relief commission asks legislators to meet with it, it was thought likely that the governor would also attend the conference.

BLOOD TESTS FAIL TO PROVE INNOCENCE IN PATERNITY FIGHT

The testimony of two physicians, who had made blood tests, failed yesterday to disprove Joseph C. O'Malley, 28 years old, 1158 North Lockwood avenue, as the father of the thre children of Miss Casimira Dyle, 26 years old, 1039 North Spaulding avenue. O'Malley is on trial before Judge Frank M. Padden in the jury branch of the Municipal court in proceedings to compel him to support the children as their father. The three children range from 11 months to 6 years.

Dr. J. J. Moore and Dr. Aaron Learner testified that the blood tests of the mother, O'Malley, and the youngest child, Carol, fell in the same group classification. No tests are known, they declared, which can prove parentage conclusively, but tests will show if one is not the parent. In this case O'Malley, they said, could be the parent.

O'Malley on the stand denied repeatedly that he was the father of the children. Paul F. Pomeroy, counsel for O'Malley, was granted a continuance until Friday morning. Miss Dyle was represented by Attorney Arthur P. Feigen.

REYNOLDS FINDS 1.6 PER CENT FIT FOR RELIEF WORK

Not more than 1.6 per cent of persons in Illinois who apply for relief are physically able to do any type of relief project work, according to the report yesterday from Wilfred S. Reynolds, executive secretary of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission. Mr. Reynolds said that physical examinations were given in October to 50,817 relief clients and that only 797 of them were found fit for relief work.

Detective Gives Blood to Aid Fellow Worker

Lester Sprague, member of a detective bureau squad, yesterday gave a pint of his blood in a transfusion to save the life of a fellow squad member, Hugo M. Olsen, 30 years old, 324 South Kilbourn avenue, who was injured recently in an automobile accident. The transfusion was performed in the Lake View hospital. It was the second since the accident.

ANTI-VIVISECTION MOVE ASSAILED AS BLOW TO CITY

Professor Says Medical Reputations Menaced.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Chicago's possibilities as the medical research center of the world are threatened by the movement which is to begin in the city council today to hamper and prevent the experimental use of animals in laboratory work, according to Dr. Anton J. Carlson, professor of physiology at the University of Chicago and chairman of the executive committee of the Illinois Society for Protection of Medical Research.

An effort is to be made by a group of anti-vivisectionists, led by Mrs. Irene Castle McLaughlin, through Ald. Oscar F. Nelson, to have repealed the Arvey ordinance under which a portion of the unclaimed dogs at the city pound, which would otherwise be destroyed, have been turned over to the medical schools and research institutions in Chicago. The old struggle between these groups is to be renewed in the judiciary committee hearings on this subject.

"Emotionalism Vs. Science."

The issue, as it is seen by the leaders in medical and biological study, is emotionalism on the one hand against the accumulated evidence of 300 years of scientific progress, through this method, on the other side.

Prof. Carlson has as kindly a heart toward dogs as any one, but when it comes to a question of human experimentation with those that would be killed anyway, in the interests of the promotion of the health of the human race, he is for the human race. Without the use of these animal reactions, he says, the progress of scientific medicine and the understanding of human life will become a haphazard affair, with man himself the one to be experimented upon.

"The moral code of civilized man, as I understand it," he said, "reads thus: As between man and the animals, man comes first. This is the law of life, but when man uses or destroys the animal for man's own protection, aid or other interests, such use or destruction must be done without cruelty.

Civilization Is Kindness.

"I regard kindness to all animals as one of the finest fruits of human development, especially when the emotion of kindness is tempered and directed by a profound understanding of the complexity, beauty and unity of all life, man, animal and plant."

He particularly resents the charge of cruelty to animals which so often is made and probably will be made again at these hearings. He has engaged in animal experimentation himself for many years and, as a result, is one of the foremost authorities in this country and throughout the world on the heart and circulation, glandular activity and metabolism. It was due to the use of animals in this way that the circulation of the blood was discovered by Harvey, he points out.

Calls Deaths Painless.

"I know the biological and medical research laboratories in this country as well as abroad," he said, "and can state as a fact that in animal experiments involving pain the same anesthetics are used as in surgical operations on man. When animals under anesthesia are used in medical teaching, they are not allowed to come out of the anesthesia. Death by anesthesia is probably the least uncomfortable. There is inflicted on animals more pain in one hunting, trapping and fishing season than in all the centuries of animal experimentation. We use animals for food, for clothing, for labor, for pleasure. How can it be wrong to use animals humanely to increase our understanding of life, our control of disease, both of which contribute to human happiness?"

Owe Much to Animals.

Among the medical wonders credited to animal experimentation are anesthesia, which gives relief from pain; the germ causation of infectious diseases; knowledge of immunity and resistence to disease; antisepsis, or the prevention of wound infection; knowledge of cause of symptoms; organotherapy, which includes the use of insulin in diabetes, thyroid extract to develop children, liver extract in pernicious aenemia; nutrition and vitamines, which relate to growth and the prevention of rickets, scurvy, pellagra, etc.

The dog's contribution to the knowledge of the functions of the human organs would fill a volume, it is said. Eight great benefits to dog life and health also are shown.

The institutions which maintain large medical schools for experimentation are the University of Chicago, the University of Illinois medical school, Loyola, Northwestern and several other hospitals and schools. The question is reduced, according to Prof. Carlson, as to whether the dogs that are unclaimed at the pound are to be reduced to fertilizer by the city, at the city's expense, or whether they are to be given a painless death, with much intervening benefit to students, in the laboratories.

Dr. A. C. Ivy of Northwestern medical school, is secretary of the organization of research workers which is opposing this ordinance.

EARHART-PUTNAM HOME BURNS; FLYING TROPHIES DESTROYED

Rye, N. Y., Nov. 27.—[Special.]—The sixteen room home of George Palmer Putnam, New York publisher, and his wife, Amelia Earhart, aviator, was swept by fire today. One wing was destroyed and the remainder of the house was damaged by flame and water. The loss was estimated at $30,000.

Most of Putnam's famous autograph collection, many of Miss Earhart's trophies, and a quantity of rare and valuable furnishings were destroyed. Firemen from here and Harrison fought the blaze for several hours.

Miss Earhart is in California. Putnam, who arrived while the fire was still burning, told authorities he closed the place for the winter last night and moved to his Manhattan apartment. It was believed the fire started in the basement.

LEAPS TO DEATH FROM 21ST FLOOR OF LOOP HOTEL

Leroy F. Harris, 47 years old, 1216 Madison Park, former real estate broker and until two weeks ago employed as an appraiser for the Home Owners' Loan corporation, ended his life yesterday by cutting his wrists and throat and leaping from a window of his room on the twenty-first floor of the Palmer house. His body struck a roof at the ninth floor level in the areaway of the hotel.

Harris registered at the hotel Monday evening under an assumed name. When assigned to the ninth floor he asked for a higher room. He wrote letters to two friends, Warren A. Cahn, 110 South Dearborn street, and Eugene F. Hiller, 5321 Woodlawn avenue, in which he announced his plan to end his life because of financial troubles. When they received the letters yesterday they hurried to the hotel, arriving ten minutes after Harris had leaped.

Before he plunged Harris called the Furth Undertaking company, 934 East 47th street, and directed them to come for his body.

He is survived by his wife Clare and two children, Emily and Edith, 15 and 14 years old.

WHEELER FIGHTS WRIT TO CURB STRIKE METHOD

Attack Court's Power in New York.

New York, Nov. 27.—[Special.]—Sounding a warning that issuance of injunctions in labor disputes tended to undermine confidence in the American system of government, and also opposed the principles of the NRA, Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana today argued in Brooklyn Supreme court for the right of unions to refuse to work with nonunion men.

Senator Wheeler appeared as counsel for longshoremen's and teamsters' unions before Justice Burt Jay Humphrey. Wheeler asked for the dismissal of injunction proceedings brought against them by the Brooklyn Chamber of Commerce and other trade organizations to restrain the union members from persisting in their refusal to handle goods on the piers previously handled by nonunion men.

Denies State Jurisdiction.

"The United States Supreme court," Senator Wheeler said, "has held that no injunction shall be issued by state courts for violation of the Sherman anti-trust law. These plaintiffs obviously knew that the federal statute, as enunciated in the Norris law, would be against them, and in my opinion there is no question of doubt that an injunction action cannot lie in a state court in a matter of the kind we have before us."

The proper authority before whom the case should have been taken first, continued Senator Wheeler, was the shipping board, as the plaintiffs charged discrimination by shippers.

Then there were other federal tribunals which had been vested by congress with the power to intercede, the senator declared.

"The only reason that the American constitution has survived as the greatest document of all time," Senator Wheeler added, "is that the courts have interpreted that constitution in such a way as to meet the advance of civilization."

Would Affect 70,000.

Senator Wheeler said more than 70,000 workers in Greater New York would be affected by the court's decision.

Thirty-two labor unions and fifty-six of their officials are among the defendants. Some of the organizations are the International Longshoremen's association, the Brotherhood of Teamsters and Chauffeurs, and a group of steamship companies. Joseph P. Ryan, president of the Longshoremen's union, also is a defendant.

Senator Wheeler, a strong defender of the Norris-La Guardia act, which makes it impossible for a federal court to interfere by injunction in labor activities such as strikes, came here from Washington. He went at once to the courthouse, where he launched into his speech.

INFANT KILLED, 15 HURT BY BLAST IN NEGRO FLAT

A three months old colored child was killed and fifteen other colored persons were injured last night in an explosion that tore off the roof of a three story brick building at 1222 Washburne avenue and wrecked the second floor of a two story frame building at 1226 Washburne avenue.

The baby was Robert L. Robinson. His mother, Mrs. Jane B. Robinson, and four other children were cut by flying glass in their home on the second floor of the 1226 building. A number of other persons living in both buildings suffered slight injuries also, six of them being taken to the county hospital for treatment.

Windows were broken in a number of adjacent buildings, including the Mt. Sinai Baptist church across the street. Police expressed the opinion that the explosion was caused by an accumulation of gas.

ALDERMEN VOTE NEW TAX PLANS FOR NEW YORK

Income of 58 Millions Is Expected from Levies.

New York, Nov. 27.—[Special.]—The board of aldermen branch of the municipal assembly enacted today a 2 per cent city sales tax, a 3 per cent tax on the gross income of utilities in 1935, and a city tax on inheritances next year amounting to 40 per cent of the state inheritance tax.

The sales tax, counted upon to produce 40 million dollars for relief, swept through the board by a vote of 55 to 7. The utility and inheritance taxes received only one negative vote, that of Ald. Lambert Fairchild, Manhattan Republican. The utility tax is expected to yield 15 million dollars and the inheritance tax revenue is estimated at 3 million dollars. Giving a total yield of 58 million dollars for the combined program.

Divert Funds for Relief.

With the new tax program lined up for early ratification by the board of estimate branch of the assembly, the administration is prepared to divert other funds to relief until a substantial loan can be arranged from the city's bankers. Relief payments will continue uninterrupted until this loan is made.

Using prospective revenues from the sales tax as a basis, the city expects to borrow about 20 million dollars next week to carry relief until the end of February. By that time the first payments on the sales tax are due, clearing the way for additional loans.

As the lower branch of the assembly acted upon the program, protests by business organizations began to be heard.

Trade Groups Protest.

The sales tax committee of one thousand, representing 300 trade organizations, assumed the salient position in the attack on the sales tax. It was followed by the merchants' association, the Retail Dry Goods association, the Fifth Avenue association, and many similar groups. Each organization will have a representative at a public hearing tomorrow on the tax bills, which is to be held prior to final action by the board of estimate.

Immediately after the aldermen had acted the board of estimate convened under the chairmanship of Aldermanic President Bernard S. Deutsch. After hearing the three bills read by title the board voted to commit them to its local laws committee and ordered the public hearing for tomorrow. The administration is prepared for vigorous protest, but intends to hold fast to its determination to put the bills through. Mayor La Guardia is expected to sign all three by Tuesday or Wednesday of next week.

Sales Tax Starts Dec. 10.

The 2 per cent sales tax applies to purchases made in the period from Dec. 10, 1934, to Dec. 31, 1935. Unlike the state's sales tax of 1 per cent, which expired last June, the city bill levies upon sales of gas, electricity, steam, telephone, and telegraph service.

Food, drinks, and entertainment provided in restaurants or other establishments where entertainment is included under a minimum or cover charge, are placed under the tax. Wines and liquors are taxed, but beer and similar malt beverages are exempt. Other exemptions include food products.

Mayor La Guardia addressed the aldermen for more than half an hour. His plea for passage of the taxes was marked by an attack he made on Milo R. Maltbie, chairman of the public service commission, who said last week that additional city taxes on utilities would provide a basis for increased utility rates.

BABY RETURNED HOME AFTER DAY OF WEIRD DOINGS

Last Saturday her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Jennings, 528 Adams street, Gary, quarreled. Mrs. Jennings, who is 18 years old, took her child to the home of Walter Graham, 1015 West 5th avenue, Gary, and then went to Hammond to seek work.

On Monday Graham, worried because the mother had not returned, set out with Mary Anne for the Jennings home. En route he stopped in at Morgano's saloon, 120 West 5th avenue. Several hours later, at 11:30 p. m., Graham was asleep in a corner and Mary Anne was entertaining patrons of the saloon. Some one called the police. Graham could give no clear account of the baby's ownership, so Mary Anne was taken to the juvenile detention home in Gary.

ENGINEER SAVES VICTIM OF GAS TANK EXPLOSION

Roy Koestler, 25 years old, of Wauconda, was watching a dredge operating in Bangs lake, near the village, yesterday when the motor's backfiring caused the gasoline tank to explode. Burning gasoline splashed on Koestler. Vincent Daxlin, the dredge engineer, extinguished the flames on the victim's clothing by pushing him into the mud filled excavation, from which he was fished by the Wauconda fire department.

JOB INSURANCE FUNDS GROWING IN WISCONSIN

Private Plans and State's Well Under Way.

As the national administration is making employment insurance a principal item of its program for the next session of congress, there is added interest in the Wisconsin experiment. In that state, the first to take such action, job insurance has been brought about by law. Payments under that plan will begin next year.

BY THORNTON SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Madison, Wis., Nov. 27.—[Special.]—Wisconsin employers have been setting aside funds since July 1, 1934, under the new state job insurance law, which proposes to insure, under certain conditions, pay days to employés for a maximum of forty weeks and a minimum of ten after they lose their jobs. It is the first state to undertake to provide continuity of income to laborers by legislative enactment.

Employers are given one year under the law to create an insurance reserve, so it is impossible to tell how successfully the law will operate until the first payments under it are made some time after July 1, 1935.

Many Have Own Plans.

More than one-half of the employers have exercised the alternative offered by the law and are operating under job insurance plans of their own devising, which were accepted by the state industrial commission, and which exempted them from the state law.

The industrial commission estimated today that of the 3,400 employers of the state, approximately 2,200 hiring 200,000 workers had voluntary employment reserve programs. This leaves about 1,200 employers and 100,000 workers under the state plan.

Although many of the bosses, both large manufacturers and some of smaller merchants, opposed the experiment when it was in the legislature, they withdrew active opposition to it after its enactment, and now are cooperating either in the state or private plans.

Climax of Long Effort.

The Wisconsin law became effective July 1 this year, after more than ten years of agitation for its enactment, and two years of postponement, after it received the signature of Philip La Follette, then governor. The bill was introduced first in 1921 and biennially after that until it became a law.

Its administration then was delayed to give employers a chance to submit voluntary plans satisfactory to the state industrial commission. The provision was that the law would become active unless one-half of the average 350,000 employés were enrolled under voluntary plans. Voluntary plans not ready at first were declared acceptable after the law became active July 1.

The state law avoids the general unemployment fund, obnoxious to most manufacturers. It provides each employer shall set up his own fund. It affects all employers with 10 or more eligible employés and provides that each set aside for employment benefit reserves 2 per cent of his pay roll each month. He also must pay one-tenth of one per cent each month for administrative expenses to the state industrial commission which administers the act.

The employer makes these monthly contributions until he has an average reserve of $75 for every employé eligible to receive insurance. No benefits will be paid until payments have been made for a year or until an average minimum of $55 has been established for each employé.

The law exempts a considerable group: Farm employers, with whose help it was enacted; domestics, teachers, railroad workers, loggers, and all persons who receive more than $300 a month or an annual salary of more than $1,500.

A worker is not eligible to payments from the fund if he is discharged for misconduct or has quit his job voluntarily without reason from his boss. He will not be paid if he quits in a labor dispute or if he refuses to register at a state employment office or refuses to work at a suitable job if it is offered him.

Eligibility and Benefits.

The employe at the minimum must have been a resident of the state for the two previous years and worked at least 40 weeks during the two years' period. Then he becomes entitled to payments two weeks after he loses his job. The payments are fixed as 50 per cent of his average wage in that period of employment, with a maximum of $10 and a minimum of $5. He will receive that, up to 10 weeks, at the rate of one week of pay for each four weeks he has worked.

In a period of a prolonged depression and general shutdown such as the state has gone through, payments continue at this rate until the reserve fund has shrunk to $55 an employé. Then the scale is cut down, at a rate of $1 for each $5 in the fund. At $50 the maximum payment is $9 weekly, at $45 it becomes $8, and so on.

Prof. Harold M. Groves, economist of the University of Wisconsin, then an assemblyman, but elected to the state senate this month, gave the bill his name. It was the product of Prof. Groves, Prof. John R. Commons, labor ecenomist of the university, and Paul A. Raushenbush, all members of the Wisconsin university brain trust which has drafted much of the experimental legislation in Wisconsin favored by the La Follette progressive political group.

The bill was put through the legislature as an act to relieve the tax burden on real estate. Farmer legislators supported it on the theory that it would provide continuous employment, increase pay rolls and, by stimulating the returns from the state income tax, bring down the tax they were paying on their farms.

Story of the Bill.

The law first gave employers until 1933 to adopt individual insurance plans satisfactory to the state industrial commission. By 1933 Albert S. Schmedeman was the Democratic governor. Gov. Schmedeman declined to favor repeal of the bill, but his legislature cut from 175,000 to 139,000 the number who must be under a voluntary program and extended until July 1 of this year the time they would have to organize their own systems.

Another loophole for those who wished to avoid operating directly under the state plan permits exemption for companies who can guarantee to the state commission that they will provide a minimum of 42 weeks of 36-hours each for every employé.

Puts Curb on Employers.

The law has a clause to stop employers who try to evade its consequences by hiring out of state workers without the required two years' residence in the state. If such an employé loses his job his pension benefits go into the state fund at the rate of $5 for every four weeks he worked.

A worker who has passed from job to job until he finds himself out of work looks first to his latest employer for his job insurance payment. When that employer has fulfilled his obligation for the period of time he hired the man, responsibility reverts to the next previous employer until the full period 40 weeks' work is covered.

Opponents of the bill argued that it would tend to discourage employers from enlarging their pay rolls.

Fights Ex-Evanston Mayor in Court

MRS. ELIZABETH PEARSONS.

Denies Owing $6,968

Counsel for Harry P. Pearsons, Northwestern university trustee and former mayor of Evanston, denied yesterday that Pearsons owes his estranged wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Schmitt Pearsons, $6,968. Superior Judge Rudolph F. Desort is hearing arguments on Mrs. Pearsons' petition that her husband be held in contempt for arrearage in the $40 a week separate maintenance alimony.

Of the amount claimed, Pearsons owes only $1,500 in alimony arrears, according to his attorney, Lloyd C. Whitman. The remainder represents chiefly Mrs. Pearsons' unpaid bills, it was argued, and to jail Pearsons for their nonpayment would be illegal, the attorney contended. A $300,000 legacy which Pearsons received from his father consists largely of vacant farm land, which brings little income, said the lawyer.

The hearing was adjourned until today after Attorney Whitmain said his client would endeavor to find funds to make a payment and to finance Mrs. Pearsons' contest of her husband's appeal from a separate maintenance decree which is pending in the Appellate court. Mrs. Pearsons is living at 905 Michigan avenue, Evanston, and her husband lives in the University club in the suburb.

UPHAM TO OFFER BALANCED CITY BUDGET TODAY

Trims Appropriations for 1935 to $44,800,000.

A tentative budget listing appropriations of $44,817,647 for the city's corporate, or operating, purposes during 1935 will be submitted to the city council at its meeting today by Controler Robert B. Upham. Upham declared that the budget he prepared is balanced and by it the city can live within its income.

The department heads asked a total of $50,860,121. Upham trimmed the request by $6,042,474. The tentative appropriation figure is $6,353 less than the estimated available revenue.

The total figure for revenue is $44,824,000. This was reached, Upham explained, by using the city's 1935 tax rate of 1.29 and an estimated valuation of $2,400,000,000. Deducting 10 per cent for loss and cost in collection of taxes, the tax revenue on this basis would be $27,864,000. To this is added $16,960,000 in miscellaneous revenue for the estimated revenue of $44,824,000.

Kelly Stresses Pay Days.

Mayor Kelly has ordered full speed ahead in order to pass the budget shortly after the first of the year. If this is done the 1935 borrowing power in the form of tax warants will become available and there will be no disruption in the pay days for city employés.

The proposed appropriations set up in the tentative budget for the mayor's office, city council and committees are practically the same as for 1934. In other major classifications the proposed expenditures for next year as contrasted with the 1934 revised appropriations are as follows:

Police	$14,453,654	$14,524,330
Fire	6,316,730	6,318,783
Health	1,939,659	1,923,875
Streets	5,828,652	5,474,282
Electricity	3,269,683	3,234,805
Local improvemts.	397,672	333,421
Bridewell	681,439	625,299
Bldg., maintenance and repair	961,835	957,624
Bridges	275,936	378,936
Rivers and harbors	936,175	916,192
Sewers	681,154	662,090
Parks, etc.	658,190	646,960
City clerk	13,088	130,888
Election board	792,343	1,240,403
Municipal court:
Chief justice	431,877	428,571
Clerk	909,665	903,665
Bailif	801,103	790,578
Corporation counsel	413,716	403,037

The finance committee of the council has decided to start the budget meetings next Tuesday in the afternoon. The budget will be referred to this committee at today's meeting of the aldermen.

Ald. J. M. Arvey [24th] said that in keeping with the mayor's plan the finance group would try to complete its work on the budget by Dec. 21. Arvey probably will be elected chairman of the finance committee today to take the place of John S. Clark [30th], newly elected county assessor. It was said that Ald. Terence F. Moran [16th] would be elected chairman of the local industries committee, filling the post of Sheriff-elect John Toman, aldermen from the 22d ward.

ESTIMATES CALL FOR $1,400,000 INCREASE IN SCHOOL PAY ROLLS

The 1935 educational budget of the board of education will be increased $1,400,000 to provide additional salaries for teachers and principals, it was indicated yesterday as departmental heads were completing 1935 expenditure estimates which will provide a basis for the budget making.

The estimates will be presented to the board at its meeting today and the trustees immediately will begin sitting as a committee of the whole to draft a final budget by Jan. 1. Approval of the budget at that time, it was said, will permit uninterrupted financing to assure the regular payment of salaries to teachers and employés. Tax warants now available will carry the school pay rolls until that date.

While complete totals on the estimated 1935 expenditures will not be available until today, it was declared probable that there will be no important increases except for the teachers' salaries and additional fixed charges required by the Reconstruction Finance corporation loan of $22,300,000 which paid up school back salary accounts last August.

It appears certain that the board of education will ask the state legislature to "peg" the board's educational fund levy at 43 million dollars, an amount similar to the "pegged" levy of last year.

The increase of $1,400,000 in the educational fund would bring the 1935 total educational appropriation to $48,110,713, as compared with $46,710,713 for last year.

Truck Hits Adobe House, Couple Crushed to Death

Wickenburg, Ariz., Nov. 27.—(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Davis were crushed to death today in an adobe rooming house when a truck, loaded with 12,000 gallons of gasoline, crashed into the building.

FIND TURKEYS' ANCESTRY IS PURE AMERICAN

As Chicago prepared by wholesale decapitation for a determined Thanksgiving offensive against the turkey, a controversy arose yesterday as to the origin and antecedents of the bird.

Patriotic scholars quickly marshaled facts to refute the utterance of Joseph Vehling, catering expert, that "the Romans were familiar with the bird as early as 250 B. C."

Charles H. Beeson, professor of Latin at the University of Chicago, said he had found no mention of the turkey in his researches into antiquity.

The Encyclopedia Britannica says: "Turkey, so-called from the mistaken idea that it came from Turkey. They are all American and were not introduced into Europe before 1530."

While the controversy as to origin raged yesterday the market for the best turkeys ranged from 28 to 35 cents a pound retail, and 17 to 26 cents wholesale. Hen turks brought higher prices yesterday than the Tom turkey.

NEW COLD TREATMENT PROVES SENSATION

This "RUB" Relieves colds in a flash: is volatile and spreads: is harmless to a baby

This "cold season" will be a different story in a great many households.

They have tested the new volatile rub—and are convinced.

The word has spread so fast about Pine Balm that druggists have had to order and re-order to supply the demand.

So, don't decide that this is just another surface rub such as you may have tried in the past.

Pine Balm is so volatile that its pungent pine aroma reaches the very bronchial tubes. It starts its work in ten seconds. It relieves a head cold in a few minutes, and generally loosens a chest cold overnight.

For a throat irritation, just swallow a lump of this remarkable preparation; sprays and gargles cannot compare with this newer treatment.

Dr. Caldwell Pine Balm is bringing surprising results with various types of colds. It is particularly valuable in treating children — whose stomachs are easily upset by internal medicines. Powerful as it is, you can use it on any child—full-strength.

TO THE PUBLIC: Local druggists now have ample stocks of Pine Balm and you will have no difficulty in obtaining it. Get a jar now, for twenty-five cents, and enjoy the benefits of this new, far-reaching cold treatment.

TO PHYSICIANS: Dr. Caldwell Pine Balm is a careful preparation of highly volatile oils. Its speed, efficacy, and perfect safety commend it to professional use. Any practising physician may have a supply of individual treatment tins by addressing Pepsin Syrup Co., Monticello, Ill.

TO DRUGGISTS: Pine Balm is so very superior to any slow, inert rub you do your patrons a service by acquainting them with this new cold treatment. Keep up your stock! If your wholesaler cannot fill all your orders, write or wire Pepsin Syrup Co., Monticello, Ill.

COLDS Go Overnight

When You Take the Right Thing!

A cold doesn't have to run its course and expose you to serious complications. A cold can be routed overnight if you go about it the right way. First of all, a cold being an internal infection, calls for internal treatment. Secondly, a cold calls for a COLD remedy and not for a "cure-all."

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is what a cold requires. It is expressly a cold remedy. It is internal and direct—and it does the four things necessary. It opens the bowels, combats the cold germs and fever in the system, relieves the headache and grippy feeling and tones and fortifies the entire system. Anything less than that is taking chances with a cold. Get Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine at any druggist. 30c and 50c. Ask for it by the full name and beware of dealers who offer substitutes.

65 WOMEN ON PANEL FOR TRIAL OF HAUPTMANN

150 Names Are Drawn for Jury Service.

Flemington, N. J., Nov. 27.—[Special.]—Names of sixty-five women, all but ten of them self-described as housewives, are on the panel of 150 veniremen drawn today for the murder trial of Bruno Richard Hauptmann. Eighty-five men were drawn. The panel is eligible for call from Dec. 10 to April 10.

Hauptmann is slated to go to trial Jan. 2, the indictment charging him with the murder of Charles A. Lindbergh Jr., infant son of the famous aviator and Mrs. Lindbergh.

Five Carpenters on Panel.

The panel, as drawn by Jury Commissioner Charles Holcombe and Sherif John H. Curtiss, contains the names of five men who are carpenters—the trade that Hauptmann followed.

On the list of women were the names of Mrs. Jennie E. Curtiss, wife of Sherif Curtiss, and Miss Frances Opdye, who resides in the same house where Mrs. Hauptmann is staying.

Howard Moreau, editor and publisher of the Hunterdon County Democrat, weekly newspaper of the region, also is on the list.

List Offers Cross Section.

The list also includes farmers, laborers, machinists, realtors, retired business men, a stenographer or two, a lumberman, a law student, two or three insurance men—a thorough cross section of the community hereabouts.

An idea of the personnel is afforded by the first few pages of the list as given out from the sherif's office:

Wesley E. Schuyler, painter, Flemington.
Scott Allen, retired, Frenchtown.
Garett B. Rynearson, clerk, Flemington.
Liscom C. Case, carpenter, Pittstown.
Raymond Alpaugh, farmer, Califon.
Albert Force, farmer, Neshanic Station.
Laura Tunnison, housewife, Glen Gardner.
A. E. Heckman, retired, Glen Gardner.
Laura Angevine, housewife, Lambertville.
Irene Kovi, housewife, Lambertville.
Josephine Jefferson, Flemington.
Willard Struble, mechanic, Glen Gardner.
William J. Smith, carpenter, Glen Gardner.
George Keller, laborer, Glen Gardner.
Bertha Moore, housewife, Hampton.
George Croot, retired, Little York.
Frank Potter, trainman, Glen Gardner.
Robert Mills, salesman, High Bridge.
Verna Snyder, housewife, Neshanic.
Wilford Ashcroft, farmer, Baptistown.
Mary Lance, housewife, Flemington.
Luly B. Johnson, housewife, Sand Brook.
Harold F. Barlow, farmer, Hampton.
Charles F. Snyder, farmer, Annandale.
Marjorie Crater, housewife, Hampton.
Charles Walton Sr., machinist, High Bridge.
Forman Van Sealous, farmer, Frenchtown.
William Pferd, realtor, Frenchtown.

The names were selected from a previously drawn "big list" of 389. From the 150 twelve will be drawn when the trial opens.

UNWRITTEN LAW PLEA HINTED IN PRIEST SLAYING

New York, Nov. 27.—[Special.]—Weeping, unkempt, and looking ten years older, Joseph Lieb Steinmetz, 22, was held without bail today in homicide court on a charge of murder.

Through the night Steinmetz had tried vainly to sleep, his rest broken by utterances of anguish over the fact that he had killed his bride of 16 days, Mrs. Ruth P. Steinmetz.

He shot her to death Monday in a room in the K. of C. hotel and at the same time killed the Rev. Joseph J. Leonard, 40, Catholic chaplain at the home for the aged in Lawrenceville, N. J.

After the youth's arraignment Max Weider, assistant district attorney, asked that the case be adjourned until Monday.

Meyer Machlis, who is representing the youth, intimated that the defense probably would be the socalled "unwritten law."

The arraignment affidavit described Steinmetz as a student. He is one of a family of ten children of the late Rabbi David Steinmetz, was brought to this country at the age of six from Rumania and for a time was a Talmudic scholar. He became a Christian convert two or three years ago and studied at the Metropolitan Bible Institute in Los Angeles.

Hi-Jack $5,000 Butter; Hold Truckmen 10 Hours

Jack Craven, truck driver, and his helper, T. Gilmore, both of Springfield, Mo., who were kidnaped by hi-jackers on Monday night near Kankakee, were released yesterday in the 2000 block in North Western avenue after they had been held prisoners for more than ten hours. They told police that four gunmen seized the truck near Kankakee. The truck, the property of the Powell Brothers Truck Lines, 320 West 29th street, was found emptied of its $5,000 butter cargo.

SCENES OF GREAT BATTLES ON NEW ROUTE TO SOUTH

Tribune Roadster Off for Florida Today.

BY HAL FOUST.

THE TRIBUNE roadster will leave Chicago this morning in the van of the army of motor vacationists who will be moving southward in the next three or four weeks. En route, rather than following the familiar pavement to Florida, this driver will detour to trace the march of another army seventy-one years ago whose objective was not a vacation but the preservation of the Union.

Indications are that the travel to the south this year may exceed in volume all past records, not excepting the boom years. Florida last winter enjoyed the biggest tourist season since the stock market crash. Long distance travel this summer, as measured by national park statistics, was more popular even than in '28 and '29.

Finds Four Day Route.

A study of maps at THE TRIBUNE'S touring bureau and at the Chicago Motor club showed an all pavement route to the winter resort peninsula that can be covered in four days of steady duty at the wheel. It's a route familiar to many motorists, U. S. 41 to Hopkinsville, Ky., U. S. 41E to Nashville, Tenn., U. S. 41 to Jasper, Tenn., Tenn. 27 to Chattanooga, Tenn., U. S. 41 to Perry, Ga., U. S. 341 to Baxley, Ga., and U. S. 1 to Miami, Fla., 1,427 miles.

Off this main highway are scenes of civil war battles that changed the course of history on this continent. The names are familiar from schoolroom and later study but the places are unfamiliar to the eyes of a majority of Chicago automobile owners.

Battlefields Near Route.

Fort Henry, Fort Donelson, Shiloh, Pittsburg Landing, Corinth, Vicksburg will be visited on side trips from the main route usually followed by motorists in hurried trips to Florida for its golf and bathing in the sunshine. These are scenes of victories by Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, and Wisconsin troops and others under Gen. Ulysses S. Grant while the Union army in the east was balked by Gen. Robert E. Lee.

In former years, roads in the south did not encourage motor tourists to visit these battlefields. There has been some improvement in the last couple of years but the present condition of the highways is something that will be learned on the trip.

Milk in Indianapolis Raised to 10c a Quart

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 27.—[Special.]—An increase to 10 cents a quart in the retail milk prices in Indianapolis and 9 cents a quart at the store was forecast tonight following the signing of a tentative agreement raising the wholesale price.

"Short and Snappy"

LONDON, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Lord Ashley's suit for divorce, naming Douglas Fairbanks Sr., American film star, as co-respondent, which is listed in the calendar for a hearing tomorrow, is expected to be "short and snappy," lawyers engaged in the case said today.

Asked whether the suit might be defended, one of the counsel replied: "I don't know, but you had better ask the co-respondent, who is in the United States."

If the suit is contested it would be heard by a special jury and listed as "Lord Ashley against Lady Ashley and Fairbanks." Court President Sir Boyd Merriman will conduct the trial.

THREE INDICTED AS BRIBERS IN SCOTTSBORO CASE

Huntsville, Ala., Nov. 27.—[Special.]—Two New York attorneys and a Birmingham man were indicted today by the Madison county grand jury on charges of attempting to bribe Mrs. Victoria Price, principal witness against nine Negroes in the "Scottsboro rape case."

True bills named Daniel Swift and Sol Kone, New York lawyers, and J. W. Peerson, of Birmingham. The three were charged with trying to bribe Mrs. Price to sign an affidavit repudiating her testimony in the trials of two of the Scottsboro case defendants now under sentence of death.

The New York attorneys are at liberty under bond of $2,000 each. Peerson, unable to post bail, remained in jail here. The date of their trial has not yet been set.

Mrs. Price testified in a preliminary hearing here that the three men offered her amounts ranging as high as $1,500 to change her testimony in the case.

Her testimony had resulted in the conviction and imposing of death sentences on Heywood Patterson and Clarence Norris, Negroes, in Morgan Circuit court a year ago.

INSULL TRIAL IN BANKRUPTCY LEFT TO GREEN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 27.—[Special.]—Final authority for determining whether Samuel Insull and other defendants acquitted on mail fraud charges last Saturday must stand trial again on bankruptcy fraud charges was vested in United States Attorney Dwight H. Green of Chicago today. Attorney General Homer S. Cummings announced his decision after a conference with Mr. Green, who headed the Insull prosecution staf.

Both the attorney general and Prosecutor Green said that no announcement could be made at this time concerning the government's future course in the Insull matter. This will depend, it was said, on the outcome of studies of the evidence now being made by Mr. Green and on the decision of Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson, who has a demurrer to the bankruptcy fraud indictment under advisement.

Cummings Praises Green.

In announcing that he was leaving the Insull second trial entirely up to Mr. Green, the attorney general said he had "every confidence" in the young district attorney and praised the conduct of the mail fraud trial. Observers pointed out, however, that in leaving the decision on the second trial up to Mr. Green, Mr. Cummings is relieving himself of the responsibility that would have to be borne in the event of another acquittal after a prolonged and costly trial.

In response to a question whether Mr. Green would continue as district attorney at Chicago at the conclusion of the Insull case, Mr. Cummings said: "The answer is yes, of course."

Mr. Green's position has been somewhat ambiguous since the advent of the Roosevelt administration, for he was a recess appointee of President Hoover and his name never was submitted to the senate for confirmation. But the attorney general indicated that there is no thought of replacing him.

Silent on Second Case.

Mr. Cummings declined to venture an opinion as to whether the second federal indictment, charging Samuel Insull and 10 other defendants with alienating the assets of Corporation Securities company in contemplation of bankruptcy, is better than the ill fated mail fraud case. Mr. Green has stated, however, that he regarded the bankruptcy case as the stronger of the two. The mail fraud case was tried first because that indictment was returned first and more preparation had been made upon it when Insull was brought back from Istanbul.

ACCUSED STATE POLICE RESIGN TO 'AVOID FARCE'

Returning from Springfield yesterday, where charges of insubordination against them were to have been heard, three suspended state highway policemen from Lake county announced that they had resigned to avoid a "farcical" disposal of their cases.

The men are William Morley, Democratic precinct committeeman from Antioch; Irvin Moody, Democratic committeeman from Wauconda, and Stanley J. Dady, 1205 North Lewis avenue, Waukegan. They were suspended Nov. 12 by Ernest Lieberman, chief state highway engineer, on charges preferred by their superior, Sergt. Arthur Stanton.

Sergt. Stanton accused the men of refusing to obey orders, and later declared they had been "shaking down" truck drivers. They countered by alleging that they had acted as collectors for Sergt. Stanton. The charges were to have been aired before Lieberman in Springfield yesterday.

The men said they resigned because Chief Lawrence Taylor of the state highway department had announced they would be heard one by one. They declared Lieberman had refused to consent to the presence of their attornys, Leslie Smith and Hugh Johnson, and of a court reporter who accompanied them.

YALE A SUCCESS, ANGELL AVERS, CITING SCORES

Talks Here at Annual Alumni Dinner.

Yale beat Harvard last Saturday; Yale beat Princeton the Saturday before. "And this," said President James R. Angell of the New Haven university in a jocular mood last night, "should convince even the most captious of the alumni critics that our educational policy is right."

Similar light heartedness prevailed during most of the annual dinner of the Yale club of Chicago, held at the Blackstone hotel. Closest to serious action was the election of Robert A. Gardner as president for the coming year. He succeeds Fred L. McNally.

Gay Over Triumphs.

For the rest, the gathering contented itself with a dinner and the singing of Yale songs. An orchestra schooled in the ballads provided accompaniment.

President Angell, who is usually the only speaker at the Chicago reunions, reported at length on the successful football season, and drew much applause and laughter when he told of the discomfiture of the presidents of Harvard and Princeton at the defeats administered their teams by "Old Ell."

Prospects for a good season next year are equally promising, Dr. Angell added. The entire coaching staf has been reappointed and Mather Whitehead, star back, elected captain of the team.

Contact Plan Proves Success.

In a serious mood, the president told the alumni that the new plan of creating closer social contacts between students and faculty through large undergraduate residences, is working well and that the students "have settled down" and fit well into the scheme.

He also told them that the college has been "dolled up" and buildings and facilities improved. Dr. Angell urged the alumni to return whenever they could, and promised that the same "intangible spirit" they knew in their school days still abounded on the campus.

JUDGE REFUSES TO CUT $25,000 BAIL OF BAIATA

CRIMINAL COURT.

Walter Nowojski, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary by Judge Harry B. Miller.

Judge Matthew D. Hartigan in the Felony court denied yesterday a motion to reduce the $25,000 bail of Joseph Baiata, who, with four other men, is charged with conspiracy to embezzle $25,000 from the Abraham Lincoln Life Insurance company of Springfield, Ill. The other defendants are Gustav Lindquist, fugitive, former president of the insurance company; Hayden Sanders, W. W. Ehlers, and Abraham Karatz.

The charges against the men were continued until Dec. 7, when Assistant State's Attorney Vernon Thompson told the judge that he expected grand jury action in the case early next week. The case is to be delayed until Monday because the December grand jury convenes at that time.

Baiata, Ehlers, and Karatz also are charged with a $54,000 fraud against the Amalgamated Trust and Savings bank, 111 West Jackson boulevard. The alleged plot against the insurance company was discovered during the bank fraud investigation. The police reported no progress yesterday in the search for Lindquist, who once was insurance commissioner of Minnesota.

ANNA H. MOORE, PIONEER ILLINOIS RESIDENT, IS DEAD

Mrs. Anna H. Moore, pioneer Illinois resident and sister of Isaac Miller Hamilton, president of the Federal Life Insurance company, died yesterday at the home of Mr. Hamilton, 3500 Lake Shore drive. She was 84 years old.

Mrs. Moore had made her home in California for some time, but following the death of her husband some five years ago she returned to Chicago.

She had been in ill health for the last three years, and was confined to her bed for the last several months. Funeral services and burial will be Friday at Hoopston, Ill., her childhood home. Mrs. Moore had no children, and, in her immediate family, is survived only by her brother.

ROB HOME OF $5,500.

Herrin, Ill., Nov. 27.—Special.]—Burglars took $3,500 in valuables from the home of Ernst Ruggeri, local merchant, last night.

JURY DISMISSES DIVORCE ACTION OF LADY HODGE

Finds No Evidence of Her Mate's Misconduct.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 27.—The petition of Lady Vera Hodge, the former countess of Cathcart, for a divorce from her 75 year old third husband, Sir Rowland Hodge, millionaire shipowner, because of his alleged misconduct with a woman named Miss Patricia O'Dare, came to a sudden end today when the jury stopped the suit and dismissed the case.

The jury said it had heard enough evidence and had found there had been no misconduct.

Lady Hodge Tells Charges.

Lady Hodge's petition was based on the charge that after her marriage to Sir Rowland on Sept. 30, 1930, her husband insisted upon continuing his association with Miss O'Dare, with whom he had admitted having associated for some years. Lady Hodge testified that she left Sir Rowland at the end of November, 1930, and in January, 1931, there was a deed of separation.

Toward the end of last year, having seen her husband walking arm in arm with Miss O'Dare, Lady Hodge said she had him watched. On several occasions he was said to have been seen to visit Miss O'Dare's apartment, and also was said to have been observed riding with her in his automobile.

Sir Rowland Denies Charge.

Both Sir Rowland and Miss O'Dare on oath denied misconduct. Sir Rowland's defense was that he had visited Miss O'Dare at her apartment in the afternoon a number of times, but never had been in her apartment at night.

Lady Hodge was ordered to pay the cots of the trial for Miss O'Dare after Sir Patrick Hastings, one of Sir Rowland's attorneys, said that in the three weeks in which the husband and wife had been together, Lady Hodge had received $27,500 above her allowance and that Sir Rowland now was paying her $7,250 annually for life.

The countess of Cathcart caused a sensation in the United States in 1926 when she was detained on Ellis Island on grounds of moral turpitude.

Ten jobless men and their wives have been given seats in stands near the Abbey similar to seats which are being sold at $50 apiece. One side and the front of the abbey are half hidden by these stands, erected to seat some fifteen thousand who were not invited to the ceremony but who are willing to pay a good price for even a fleeting glimpse of the Thursday morning procession.

Two hundred yards away, in a side street, seats in another stand are selling for $20. There spectators will need field glasses to view the pageantry.

What Queen Mary Will Wear.

LONDON, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Queen Mary is wearing a pastel blue and gold brocaded velvet gown at the wedding Thursday of her youngest son. The official description of the gown was issued tonight at Buckingham palace:

"The queen will wear at the royal wedding Thursday a beautiful gown specially designed and executed for her by Reville of Hanover Square, London, in pastel blue and Australian gold brocaded velvet, woven in classic floral effect.

"The creation is in princess style, the gracefully sculptured skirt revealing an underdress of supple cloth of gold. With the gown will be worn a capelet of similar brocaded velvet lined with pale gold and collared with Russian sables.

"Her majesty's turban toque will be of blue and gold velvet with a mount of pastel blue South African ostrich feathers."

ETHIOPIA PAYS $123 TO ROME FOR KILLING 1, SHOOTING 3 ITALIANS

ROME, Nov. 27.—(AP)—An anti-Italian demonstration at Gondar, Abyssinia, Nov. 17, during which a guard at the Italian consulate was shot to death and three others were wounded, cost the Ethiopian government 1,450 lire [approximately $123.54] today.

An official communique received here from the Italian minister at Addis Ababa said Ethiopia had paid damages of 1,000 lire [about $85.20] for the Italian who was killed and 150 lire each [about $12.78] for the three who were wounded.

The governor of the city of Gondar led a squadron of picked Ethiopian troops to the Italian consulate and rendered military honors to the Italian flag flying there, the communique said, and official assurances were given that the Gondar chief of police and his under officers, found guilty of complicity in the affair, would be subjected to penal action.

The attack on the consulate followed reports that Italy was fortifying her military garrison at Eritrea and the Italian Somaliland, both of which border the Ethiopian kingdom.

Appellate Court Upholds Conviction of Polls Judge

The conviction of Louis Greenzeit, 1333 South Central avenue, who was sentenced to 60 days in the county jail for contempt of court after the discovery of irregularities in his actions as Democratic judge of election in the 19th precinct of the 24th ward during the election of November, 1932, was upheld yesterday by the Illinois Appellate court. Greenzeit was found guilty in October, 1933, of making a false convass and return of votes by Judge J. G. Vankeuren of Perry county, sitting in the County court here.

FAIR GROUND USE AS EDUCATIONAL CENTER IS URGED

Plans Heard at City Club Luncheon.

The establishment of an annual exposition on the lake front as a successor to A Century of Progress that would make the city the center of educational progress was advocated yesterday by several speakers at the forum luncheon given by the City club in the Hotel Sherman.

An early start on a yearly fair was urged by Dr. G. George Fox, rabbi of South Shore temple. He told the City club members that they should request officials of the Chrysler Motor company to halt its dismantling program before the demolition of buildings that should be saved has proceeded too far.

Revenue Possibility Discussed.

"I believe," said Dr. Fox, "that there can be salvaged from A Century of Progress the beginning of an annual exposition, showing the progress made each year in the arts and sciences, that would make Chicago the center of educational, scientific, and industrial progress. We have before us the opportunity of a half dozen lifetimes."

Frank Bering, manager of the Hotel Sherman and chairman of the convention committee of the Chicago Hotel association, expressed the opinion that the lake front can be made into a revenue producing asset for the city while its beauty and usefulness is being increased for Chicagoans and visitors.

"Something should be done to keep an exposition here to which we can go for enjoyment and education," said Mr. Bering. "People throughout the United States are traveling now, and we should do something in a dignified way to attract them to Chicago."

Retention of some of the buildings was urged by Mrs. Moses L. Purvin, member of the Chicago library board and of the Chicago recreational committee. She said she would like to see a portion of the park developed into a playground.

Homer J. Buckley, president of the West Central association, expressed the belief that any continuance of the Fair would have to be done as a municipal and not a private affair.

Dr. Alfons R. Bacon of the City club urged the retention of a number of the buildings, and suggested construction of a hill to separate the classical and modern forms of architecture that are to be found now in Burnham park.

Suggests Planting of Trees.

"The hill could be a thing of beauty," said Dr. Bacon. "It should be forested, with a rest haven on top affording a magnificent view of the lake. In the winter there could be ski and toboggan slides. There also should be a building housing reading rooms, gymnasiums and an indoor stadium."

Arthur Fisher, an outdoor enthusiast, cautioned that the present Fair buildings are nearly all of a temporary type. He also declared that the parks and forest preserves have been the location of too many hospitals, schools, museums and other buildings which he said should be located in other places.

ESTATES ARE ROBBED; FIVE YEAR TERM FOR AN EX-POLITICIAN

New Bedford, Mass., Nov. 27.—[Special.]—Carl A. Terry, lawyer, church worker and former chairman of the state Republican committee today was sentenced to from 3½ to 5 years in state prison.

Terry pleaded guilty to a secret indictment charging that he had taken $87,225 from estates entrusted to his care, the largest single amount being $50,000 from the estate of Miss Sarah Borden of Fall River.

Terry explained politics had caused him to neglect his law practice and as a result he had used funds intrusted to his care. Sentence was imposed by Judge John M. Gibbs in Superior court.

SUES AIRLINE OVER DESIGNS OF TILTED WINGS

G. A. Hughes Claims First Invention.

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 27.—(AP)—The federal district court here today was asked to correct aviation history and credit George A. Hughes of Lincoln as the designer of "the first practical airplane."

Hughes filed suit against United Air Lines, Inc., for alleged infringement of his patent on dihedral or tilted wing design, which he claims was an essential feature of a model he conceived in 1893, years before the first successful airplane flights. Although his patent is dated Aug. 2, 1932, his attorneys asserted the law dates a patented invention back to the actual conception, regardless of when the patent formally was granted.

R. Max Anderson, Hughes' attorney, said he would bring former cowboys of the Colorado hills to Lincoln to testify they shot at Hughes' gliding models, when he weighted them and set them free against winds in the nineties.

Anderson also displayed certified copies of letters from the files of the Smithsonian institution in Washington, showing correspondence between Hughes and S. P. Langley, head of that institution and credited by some authorities with making the first successful flights. These letters were written in 1901.

Hughes wrote to Langley to ask about engine possibilities, telling the scientist that he already had a practical plane design. Langley supplied Hughes with various technical information, but discouraged aviation as a "figment of the imagination."

GUN FIRES; YOUTH SHOT.

Chester Kwidzinski, 16 years old, 1012 North Ashland avenue, was wounded in the forehead yesterday by the accidental discharge of a revolver he and a companion were examining in the rear of a candy store at 1338 North Ashland avenue. At the North Avenue hospital it was said his wound was not serious.

NAZIS ATTACK U. S. FAIR-PLAY IDEA IN EXTRADITION ROW

[Copyright: 1934: By the New York Times.]

BERLIN, Nov. 27.—America's refusal to extradite for trial in Germany the former Harvard lecturer, Isaak Levin, accused here of forgery and various other crimes, has aroused the financial paper Berliner Boersen Zeitung to bitter attacks on the American government's idea of "fair play."

"We are not going to weep for Herr Levin," the paper declares. "One thing must be said, however. The American authorities in protecting this swindler have done poor service to America's reputation for loyalty and fairness and to our recognition of the extradition treaty. In Levin's case the extradition treaty of 1930 which America was much interested in securing, has shown itself a worthless document."

The paper states extradition was refused on the ground the period had run out in which it would have been legal. The Zeitung asserts it was the American and not German authorities who delayed the procedure.

INJURED IN FALL; DIES.

Injured in a fall at 159th street and Cicero avenue on Nov. 11, Francisco Campos, 25 years old, of Oak Forest, died in the Oak Forest infirmary yesterday.

SOUTH AMERICAN SLUMP IS ENDED, SAYS TRAVELER

The depression seems to be over in nearly all of the countries of Latin America, Maj. James C. Sawders, retired army officer and engineer, reported to members of the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations yesterday at the Palmer house. He returned recently from a trip to South America which increased his travels on that continent to 80,000 miles during the last 13 years.

Exceptions to the general prosperity of the continent, he said, are Argentina and Uruguay, whose principal industries are beef raising and wheat farming. The Argentine recently was caught evading the quota of wheat shipments allotted it under the world wheat agreement, with the result that mountains of grain which cannot be shipped until January have accumulated at its principal ports, he said.

Maj. Sawders painted a rosy picture of the foreign trade opportunities of the United States in Latin America, asserting that with the exception of Argentine beef and wheat and Cuban sugar, all of the countries produce raw materials which the United States can well afford to take in exchange for manufactured goods.

He predicted numerous treaties setting aside the tarif barriers which Latin American countries set up in retaliation against the Smoot-Hawley tarif.

ASKS A WIDOW'S SHARE OF KLOCK $1,500,000 ESTATE

Charging that the late Frank B. Klock, wealthy River Forest drug manufacturer, deceived her as to his assets in a prenuptial agreement, Mrs. Glena Wooton Klock, 42 years old, 408 South Oak Park avenue, Oak Park, sued in the Circuit court yesterday for her widow's share of the $1,500,000 estate.

The suit is directed against Harold F. Klock, 104 South County Line road, Hinsdale, her stepson, who is head of the Murray & Nichell Drug Manufacturing company, 2612 Arthington street; his five children, and the Northern Trust company, trustees of the estate.

In her bill Mrs. Klock charges that a half hour before their marriage in Los Angeles Nov. 26, 1930, her fiance, then 70 years old, induced her to sign an agreement renouncing her rights to his property, which he represented to be worth about $300,000.

When Your Cough Hangs On, Mix This at Home

Saves Good Money! No Cooking!

If you want the best cough remedy that money can buy, mix it at home. It costs very little, yet it's the most reliable, quick-acting medicine you ever used. The way it takes hold of stubborn coughs, giving immediate relief, is astonishing.

Any druggist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle, and add granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. To make syrup, use 2 cups of sugar and one cup of water, and stir a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed. It's no trouble at all, and gives you four times as much cough medicine for your money—a real family supply. Keeps perfectly and tastes fine.

It is surprising how quickly this loosens the germ-laden phlegm, soothes and heals the inflamed membranes, clears the air passages, and thus ends a severe cough in a hurry.

Pinex is a compound of Norway Pine, in concentrated form, the most reliable healing agent for severe coughs. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

"At Home" on Thanksgiving . .

On Thanksgiving—of all the family occasions—tradition demands the dinner be superlatively right—down to the smallest detail. Prepared with infinite care, each dish—from the plump turkey, tender and succulent—to the rich plum pudding with its hard sauce—reflects hours of endless, patient preparation.

With just this same care Seagram whiskies have been prepared for generations. Into the selection of the special grains, into their distillation, their aging—has gone the utmost care—and the skill and experience of over three-quarters of a century.

So, for this occasion, when the sideboard must live up to the table's high standards, what could be more appropriate than your selection of one of Seagram's cask-mellowed whiskies? Goodness such as you will find in bottles bearing the Seagram name could only be possible with the time, the experience, and patience that have gone into their preparation—now and always.

Say Seagram's and be sure

AUSTRIA QUELLS STUDENT RIOT TO NIP NAZI PUTSCH

Czech Legation and Two Newspapers Stormed.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VIENNA, Nov. 27.—Students, demonstrating against Czechoslovakia, strayed so far and so violently today that the government posted strong guards in Vienna to keep the feeling from growing into a Nazi putsch. Undergraduates stormed two newspapers and staged a riot in front of the Czech legation, trying to burn the Czech flag.

The same incident—the surrender of traditional insignia by the German university to the Czech university at Prague—was the occasion for anti-Czech oratory in Berlin and a demonstration by 2,000 students in front of the Czech consulate at Cologne. In Prague Czech students staged a tumultuous celebration, contrasting with the anti-German and anti-Jewish riots of yesterday.

Guards Patrol Streets.

The Austrian government had an unwitting part in the outburst here in allowing an official notice to be posted at Vienna university. "Repel the insult offered the whole German race by the seizure by the Czechoslovak education authorities of the insignia of the historic alma mater of Carolina at Prague," the bulletin urged.

The outgrowth was more than the government reckoned, and tonight heavy details of mounted police were stationed at vantage points and motor trucks filled with steel helmeted police and auxiliary forces rolled through the streets.

Students launched their first attack on the Czech controled newspapers Der Tag and Die Tunde. With bricks and stones they smashed almost every window in the plants, wrecked the offices, and terrorized the editorial stafs and printers. The students, several hundred strong, then marched to the Czech legation shouting:

Ride Into Crowd.

A hastily summoned police guard preceded them to the legation, and police swinging swords and clubs charged into the students. Mounted police rode into the crowd which gathered in the Ringstrasse near the legation. Some women and children waiting for street cars were knocked down.

The students fell back, but gathered a few blocks away and marched to Stefansplatz and added the Nazi tinge by singing the German anthem, "Deutschland Uber Alles."

Fearing further spread, the government barricaded entrances to the Ballhausplatz, government center and scene of the July putsch which led to the assassination of Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss. Before the quick assembly of government forces, the students dispersed, but the guard was extended and maintained.

Nazi Strength Grows.

The government's alarm follows the recent increase in boldness and strength of the Nazi movement. Handbills denouncing "a government of hangmen which murdered 13 of our Nazi comrades" have been distributed in Vienna and the provinces. Other circulars have urged Nazis to rally. These are significant at this time, for Austria's corporative state council is now replacing the old parliamentary forms.

The Cologne demonstration got under way when Prof. Martin Spahn, a Nazi, interrupted his history lecture to criticize Czech authorities for not protecting German students in Prague. Students joined by civilians marched to the Czech consulate shouting, "We demand equal rights for German students in Prague."

The students disbanded without conflict.

They sent the foreign ministry a wire demanding that it take steps to "protect old German cultural treasures and compel Czech authorities to return the insignia to the German university." In Berlin students gathered in the university court to hear one of their leaders brand the Czechs as barbarians. The Czech minister protested to the German foreign ministry against exaggerated press reports of the clashes in Prague.

Czechs Celebrate.

At Prague thousands of students filled the streets cheering the triumph over the German faction. Police armed with clubs kept the demonstration within bounds.

The surrendered insignia—a scepter, seal, and chain—were displayed to the students from the balcony of the Czech rector's official residence. They will be used for the first time tomorrow when the new Czech rector is inaugurated into office.

The Czech university was founded in 1384 and was divided in 1920, the German branch keeping the insignia. The department of education's order to surrender these caused yesterday's flareup.

FLANDIN OFFERS FRENCH NRA AS DEPRESSION CURE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Nov. 27. — Asserting that "there is no other solution for France than to adapt production to consumption," Pierre-Etienne Flandin, France's six foot six inch premier, tonight outlined a "French NRA" as a cure for the nation's business depression. He spoke at a banquet attended by representatives of commercial and industrial organizations.

Flandin stressed that the proposed legislation will be "only for the duration of the depression." Though declining to reveal his program in detail, he declared it would "legalize and render obligatory producers' agreements tending to regulate production" and would also afford "certain guarantees in favor of consumers."

Experts to Decide.

"A committee of experts will decide, moreover," he added, "what industries cost the country more than they yield and those which must be protected."

He appealed to his audience to oppose alike "the defeatists of 1934" and the "exploiters of civil war." He rejected vigorously devaluation of the franc, since "deflation in France is nearly over."

"World prices in terms of gold are tending to reach the level of French prices," he said.

Cites Roosevelt.

Referring to the demand for reform of the constitution, the issue on which Gaston Doumergue was ousted as premier, Flandin observed that President Roosevelt did not revise the American constitution before setting to work to battle the depression.

"In the United States, as in England, the entire nation massed behind its chiefs," the premier said. "By neither censorship nor repressive law, but by simple patriotic reflex, paralyzing criticism was branded as cowardice and treason."

ACTS IN STICKUP AS HE TELLS HIS FARES HE WOULD

When planning a holdup one of the very best things to know in advance is how your victim is going to react.

Cornelius McCarthy of Downers Grove, a cab driver, had never heard this, so he answered innocently when the two men he had picked up at South State and Van Buren streets asked him:

"What would you do if some one tried to rob you?"

"Why, I'd let 'em. I wouldn't take a chance on getting killed."

By this time the cab had reached 4610 North Winchester avenue, and one of the two men said, producing a gun:

Sends Shoes for Shine; Now Her $663 Is Gone

As Miss Rose Buck explained to Austin police last night, it seemed like a good idea to hide her $663 in the top of one of her shoes. But it wasn't such a good idea to give the shoes to David Perkins, 21 years old, a Negro bootblack in the apartment hotel at 321 North Central avenue, where she lives, to shine for her. That was a week ago, and Miss Buck hasn't seen Perkins, the shoes, or the $663 since then.

CROAT, SUSPECT IN KING'S DEATH, TAKEN IN FRANCE

METZ, France, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Stefan Tomljenovic, a Croat, who police said admitted being in Merseilles the day King Alexander was killed, was arrested here today. Police put the man at the disposition of Jugo-Slav authorities.

Italy Explains Refusal.

ROME, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Neither Italian penal law nor international treaties and usage justified extradition of Dr. Ante Pavelich and Egon Kvaternik, alleged ringleaders in the assassination of Jugo-Slavia's king, an official communique said tonight in the first official explanation of Italy's refusal. Under the laws governing the case and the Franco-Italian treaty of 1870, the Court of Appeals "could not and should not" grant the extradition requested by France, it was pointed out. A new international agreement to include the political crime of assassination in extradition treaties will be urged by Italy when Jugo-Slavia's memorandum on the Marseilles events comes up before the league of nations council, well informed circles said today.

Hungarian Students Protest.

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Crowds of students demonstrated before the Jugo-Slav consulate today as a result of the action of Jugo-Slavia in accusing Hungary of "guilty complicity" in the assassination of King Alexander at Marseilles before the league of nations. Police charged the crowd and dispersed them, arresting one.

Claims Nobel Peace Prize Will Go to Norman Angell

OSLO, Norway, Nov. 27.—(AP)—The newspaper Dagbladet said today it had learned that the 1934 Nobel peace prize would be awarded to Sir Norman Angell, noted British author and lecturer. The 1933 prize, which has not yet been awarded, probably will be given, the newspaper said, either to Freidrich Wilhelm Foerster, former German professor and diplomat, and Walther Schuecking, German member of the world court, or to Count Richard Coudenhove-Kalergi of Austria president of the Pan-European Union.

HITLER ORDERS NAZIS IN SAAR TO END PROPAGANDA

Carries Out His Reported Pact with France.

SAARBRUECKEN, The Saar, Nov. 27.—Reichsfuehrer Hitler of Germany today gave the "cease firing" order to the heavy guns of the Nazi preplebiscite propaganda battery.

In line with his reported agreement with France's foreign minister, Pierre Laval, that Germany would pay for French mining properties in the Saar if France abandoned its campaign to keep the Saar under league of nations jurisdiction, Hitler instructed Nazi leaders here to soft pedal their activities.

Orders Disturbances Avoided.

Disturbances must be avoided, the orders said, and Nazis must depend largely on the press to keep the swastika flying in this disputed territory after the plebiscite on Jan. 13, which will determine whether the Saar remains under league administration, joins France, or rejoins Germany.

A report here today said the plebiscite might not be necessary in view of the reported understanding between Hitler and Laval, but this prospect was believed hardly likely.

One result of the instructions from Hitler was to end the unwillingness of Nazis to coöperate with plebiscite authorities in their effort to insure an impartial vote.

Army Under Emergency Orders.

BERLIN, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Despite official denials of "malicious lies" concerning unrest in the reich, reliable sources disclosed today that the German army and police forces are being held under emergency orders.

A long smoldering feud between the reichswehr [regular army] and the Schutz Staffel [black shirt picked Nazi guards] was believed responsible for the orders, which involved suspension of Christmas furloughs for soldiers and military police.

Drilling of Nazi Storm Troops has increased, reports said, while all marriages of army men and police set for the Christmas holidays, popular wedding period for Germany's military men, have been postponed.

Berlin newspapers today printed an officially inspired denial, issued by the official news agency, from "responsible quarters" in which "malicious lies" abroad concerning popular unrest in the reichswehr and among government leaders were assailed.

A reported near rift between Chancellor Hitler and his minister of war, Gen. Werner von Blomberg, was also considered significant in the light of the emergency orders given the armed forces.

The report said Hitler, visiting Von Blomberg in a sanatorium at Dresden, asked him to reinstate ejected officers of part Jewish parentage who married Jewesses.

Von Blomberg was said to have replied that he opposed this as he had opposed Hitler's original move eliminating them from the reichswehr. He added that the army is not a play thing to suffer with ever changing thought of the National Socialist leaders.

PRIEST KILLED AS HE SAVES SERB BISHOP FROM ASSASSIN PAIR

NOVISAD, Jugo-Slavia, Nov. 27.—(AP)—A priest and an assassin were killed today, three sextons stabbed, and a second assassin was taken to prison after an attack on Bishop Marco Kolodyer, head of Jugo-Slavia's Old Catholic church, as he was riding in a carriage through the village of Starry-Yankovatz.

The bishop escaped only because the Rev. Father Toma Shtranger, who was traveling with him, threw himself in the way of the fatal knife thrust.

An infuriated crowd of peasants, who had seen a tranquil clerical procession through their village come to a bloody end, overwhelmed the two assailants. Mindful of the recent assassination of their King Alexander, they killed one of the murderers. The life of the second was saved by police who arrested him.

FRENCH CHAMBER APPROVES NAVAL AND AIR BUDGETS

PARIS, Nov. 27.—(AP)—France's 12 billion franc [$790,000,000] national defense budget for 1935 today continued its high speed passage through parliament.

The navy budget of 2,906,065,383 francs [about $191,000,000] and the aviation budget of 1,454,390,254 francs [about $96,000,000], were approved by the chamber of deputies today, after it heard the government advocate increased aviation development as essential to the French war machine.

Approved Friday were the army budget of 5,689,215,895 francs [about $375,000,000], while still to be approved are supplementary war credits amounting to 800,000,000 francs [about $52,640,000] and appropriations for military expenses in the colonies totaling 613,348,345 francs [about $40,481,000].

UNCLE WATT RIDER SAYS:
THERE'S BEEN A BIG IMPROVEMENT IN AUTOMOBILES, BUT PARKING SPACE IS AS HARD AS EVER TO FIND

Street Cars Serve All Chicago

Eight out of ten people in Chicago using local transportation ride on the Chicago Surface Lines and its cars carry more people to the loop than both of the other transportation systems.

But of the total number of daily street car passengers, only 18 per cent go to the central business district.

Each of these cities within a city has grown up around a street car intersection. Years ago, street car lines were extended over open prairies, north, west, south. The tiny communities they created or tapped have since become large metropolitan centers, surrounded by their own homes, schools, churches, theaters and industries.

Now, as in the beginning, street cars are rendering these localities a service indispensable to their development.

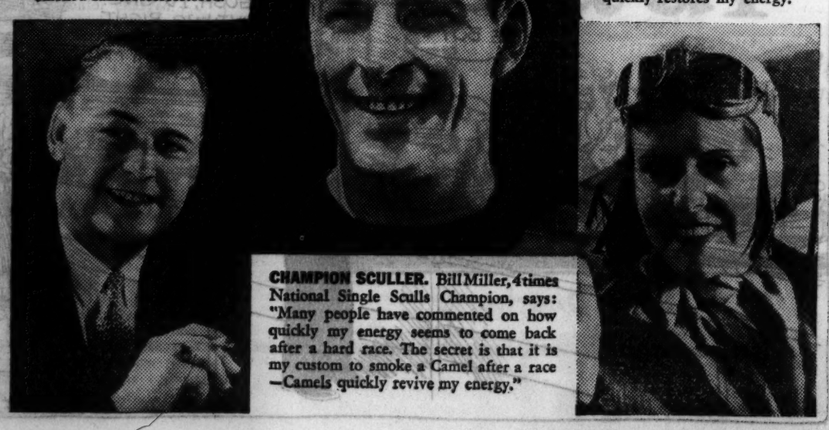
THEY ALL GET A LIFT WITH A CAMEL!

ACCOUNTANT: "I enjoy the flavor of Camels," says Harold D. Yeomans, "and have noticed that after sustained effort, when 'used up,' if I smoke a Camel I feel restored."



SPORTSWOMAN PILOT: "Camels are the mildest cigarette I know," says Mrs. Teddy Kenyon. "After a tiring flight, when I feel worn out, a Camel quickly restores my energy."

CHAMPION SCULLER. Bill Miller, 4 times National Single Sculls Champion, says: "Many people have commented on how quickly my energy seems to come back after a hard race. The secret is that it is my custom to smoke a Camel after a race—Camels quickly revive my energy."

I'll Bet You'll Like This Idea!

Funny isn't it, how you sometimes miss the best and most obvious idea—until someone else mentions it? And then you wonder why you didn't think of it yourself!

Last night I was planning my Thanksgiving dinner. Dick was sitting opposite, reading his paper and having his usual bottle of Blue Ribbon Ale.

"I'll have," thinks I, "turkey, of course, with oyster dressing. And cranberry sauce. And pumpkin pie. Every one is a 'natural' for Thanksgiving. Now what drink is just as much of a 'natural'?"

So I said to Dick: "What'll I serve to drink with our big turkey dinner?" He didn't look up from his paper. "Why Blue Ribbon Ale, of course," he said in his you-ought-to-know-that tone.

Certainly! I like it as much as he does. And who wouldn't? It's mellow, with a kind of special glow that goes with the big feast. It has a tang, just right for the season—a flavor that is the perfect accompaniment of traditional Thanksgiving foods—and just the right lift to enliven the day without ever carrying you too far.

If you want to give your family one thing more to be thankful for, add Blue Ribbon Ale to your menu—and prepare to be showered with congratulations! . . . Who am I? I'm a Chicago housewife who likes to see her family enjoy themselves—and I've found that there's hearty, sane enjoyment in . . .

THE INSULL VERDICT.

Comment upon the verdict of not guilty in the prosecution of Samuel Insull and his co-defendants by the federal government is withheld by THE TRIBUNE at this time. A number of observations and conclusions arise from the trial, but inasmuch as they might be considered also relevant to the still untried cases they cannot be discussed with propriety until it can be done without prejudice.

A CONFLICT IN HOUSING PROGRAMS.

The conflict between Mr. Ickes and Mr. Moffett over their housing programs is reported to have been settled amicably. Mr. Ickes wants to spend easy money in construction by the federal government of large-scale apartment house projects, each of which is to cost many millions of dollars and to cover many acres of land. He will rent his flats at the lowest possible figure. Mr. Moffett wishes to use government credit and government insurance of mortgage risks to stimulate small house construction and repair.

A joint statement was issued by the two men saying there had been no quarrel and there would be none because there could be none. Mr. Ickes' PWA will erect apartments to be rented to families which can command no credit. Mr. Moffett's mortgage loans will go to those who are creditworthy. As the beneficiaries are different persons, there can be no conflict.

This sounds plausible, but the argument will not bear examination. As a speculative builder of apartment houses, the government will have the immense advantages of low interest rates together with the right to condemn the land it selects for its purposes. Mr. Ickes will have whatever saving is to be found in large-scale building operations and, above all, the government will be under no necessity to charge rents which will earn a fair return on the investment. Indeed, the government will be under no particular pressure to collect its rents. If the tenants cannot or will not pay, the government may throw them out, but a government which is already providing people with other necessities cannot consistently deprive the needy of shelter.

The government's apartment houses are therefore both a threat to the prospective individual builder in the sense that they tend to undermine the value of his investment and a discouragement to him in the sense that they promise him comparable living values at considerably less cost to him. Ownership involves risk and worry in exchange for the intangible satisfaction of possession and the hope of profit when the property is sold. The government's apartment house projects tend to destroy the hope of profitable sale and to increase the worries. In addition, the competition of government in the material and labor markets is likely to raise the costs of construction for the small builder. As costs rise, the individual will find fewer advantages in building a new house.

To say then, as Mr. Ickes and Mr. Moffett now do, that there is no competition between their schemes is to speak with a good deal less than candor. It is like saying that there is no competition between the New York Central and the Pennsylvania because they go to New York by different routes. The truth is that the money the government appropriates for large-scale housing in the big cities will discourage the individuals whom Mr. Moffett is trying to induce to build their own homes.

SAFETY ON SHIPS.

In the Morro Castle inquiry it was revealed that the crew was not expert in lowering the boats and that many of the precautions which are supposed to provide an expert, disciplined body of seamen, capable of meeting an emergency in what is supposed to be the traditional efficiency of the seagoing trade, were not taken into account in the daily routine aboard ship.

Recently off Thunder Bay Island in Lake Huron there was a collision and four members of the crew of the freighter W. C. Franz were lost. The survivors could not get off, although the sea was moderate, because the boats could not be lowered. An effort was made to lower one, but something went wrong with the gear. The men gave up the effort and waited for rescue.

The ship kept in preparation for the emergency which may occur to any is probably the exception and not the rule. The assumption seems to be that the boat will not need any of the safety or life saving devices with which it is supposed to be equipped, and captain and crew go on the theory that everything will be well and do not take the time to test out either themselves or their equipment. It is notorious that many sailors can't swim and many of them are unfamiliar with the small boats to which they may be obliged to take in a disaster. A false sense of security and a disinclination to break into the daily work routine seem to prevail in many instances, and from time to time the consequences are registered in some disaster in which everything goes wrong. The tradition of the sea is a different one, but the facts do not seem to sustain it.

ABROAD BY AIR.

"Of all human inventions, the printing press alone excepted, those which abridge distance have done the most for civilization." When Macaulay penned this phrase the limit of his vision was a somewhat embryonic railway train without sleeping or dining car accommodations and with speed limited to possibly twenty-five miles per hour. Yet he thought it sufficiently marvelous for comment. The daring spirits of the next generation or two, however, were to experience the thrill of "going to bed on the train," usually fully clad in case of accident. Still later generations, curiously watching the chugging forerunner of the automobile as it led the annual circus parade, little thought that within a few years they would risk life and limb to ride in a successor to that machine at race horse speed of thirty miles per hour.

It took a dreamer to visualize any practical use for a power driven box kite, and even when flying became common it was cautiously regarded as an emergency or exhibition device by the great majority of travelers. Yet in the present year the man whose business takes him away from home and who has not frequently used plane service is the exception rather than the rule. Those who have flown across the continent are no longer heroes to the small boy or dare-devils to acquaintances.

And from this point the aero-dynamic engineer carries on to the next development—transoceanic flights. Even now it is not a problem to Sikorsky, Douglas, Boeing, Lindbergh, et al. They have announced that the machine will be ready when the demand is developed. They have the designs for the ships that can take the assignment and they are certain that the distance can be safely negotiated on fixed schedules via Bermuda and the Azores or via Newfoundland and Ireland.

With America setting the pace in the air, the members of the committee now conducting the aviation inquiry can make the next step possible with a recommendation that the administration initiate overseas air mail service for the purpose of neutralizing the communications handicap of our exporters. With a successful mail service established, the passenger demand will naturally follow as it did in the case of transcontinental air mail service. Let those who doubt the outcome remember that each generation has characterized transportation developments as "speed crazes." The railway ride, automobile trip and airplane flight at first were hazards. Now they are commonplace.

TYRANNOUS PRICES.

Americans, reading that the price of butter in Germany is fixed by Nazi decree at 64 cents a pound, about three times the price in neighboring countries, will wonder again how long the German people will support the régime. In Germany prices are fixed by the government and they are high. In this country many prices are fixed by NRA and they are also higher than they need be.

As between the two systems there is much to be said for the German scheme. The German government cannot wholly overlook the welfare of the consumers, but the various code authorities are under no comparable restraint. They are interested primarily [and some will say only] in getting as much as the traffic will bear. The maintenance of price rather than volume is their chief objective.

The fact that the NRA price system has broken down at a hundred points is, perhaps, the most reassuring aspect of the recent history of NRA. The collapse indicates that Americans will have little to do with a system at once tyrannical and destructive of welfare. Americans regard the fixing of prices by agreement among sellers, without consulting the buyer, as absurd. As long as Americans continue to think that way the brain trust is going to have a harder time imposing its wishes on the public than it found in imposing them on congress. Here is one more example of the folly of expecting a law to operate successfully in the face of widespread disapproval of its objectives and the means laid down for its enforcement.

Editorial of the Day

[Peoria Transcript.]

Although the official canvass of the by-election is not yet completed, Illinois Democrats are already making plans and drafting a slate of candidates for 1936.

Democratic officials are practically agreed that Gov. Horner should be nominated for a second term. A few months ago the governor was not very enthusiastic about serving another term, but the Democratic deluge of last week evidently changed his mind.

The selection of Gov. Horner as a candidate to succeed himself, however, complicates the Democratic situation. For a while there was talk of letting the governor retire at the end of his term and inducing Senator Dieterich to resign from the senate and run for governor. That would have given Illinois a downstate governor and silenced some of the criticism of the Cook county machine.

With Horner a candidate for reëlection, this solution is closed. The Democrats must now find downstate candidates for several major state offices to appease voters outside of Cook county, although some of their leaders feel that, inasmuch as Chicago controls elections anyway, little attention need be paid to downstate.

Inasmuch as Senator Lewis is more an individualist than a member of the Democratic combine, his plans have been passed over lightly. Of course, if Senator Lewis insists on renomination, the machine can't actively oppose him, but it has the means available to sidetrack him gracefully.

There has been considerable talk of putting up State's Attorney T. J. Courtney of Cook county for United States senator to succeed Lewis. That, however, would involve a preponderance of Chicagoans at the head of the ticket. Courtney has made a good record, and but for his Chicago connections might make a strong possible candidate in view of his service in the state senate and his many friends downstate.

Michael L. Igoe, elected congressman at large last week, is another potential candidate for the senate. Igoe probably would not run if Lewis decided to seek renomination. He, too, is handicapped by being a resident of Cook county, although his downstate vote has always been large.

Some Democrats believe the solution to their problem lies in persuading Senator Dieterich to resign and run for governor. That would leave two vacancies in the senate, one of which would go to Gov. Horner and the other to a downstate man.

Such an arrangement would make it possible for all present state officers to seek reëlection without making the ticket top-heavy with Chicago candidates, but it would stifle the ambitions of some Chicago Democrats who have their eyes on Springfield or Washington.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

IT'S THE BALONEY!

"New Deal Announces Solutions to All Problems That Have Vexed Us."—Headline. Is that so? I don't want to argue, but what about the vexing problem of what to do with old razor blades? Has the New Deal solved that? No! And try to put on a new shirt. Isn't the blamed thing as full of pins as a pin cushion? And after you've gone all over that shirt and pulled out 369 pins and at last put the shirt on what happens? Don't you jump straight up as you sink down at Mrs. Hiflyer's cocktail party and give an awful yell because one of the pins you overlooked in the tail of the shirt has taken an unfair advantage and stabbed you? Even so! What has the New Deal done about the pins in new shirts? Nothing. And what about people at the movies getting up in the midst of a breathless scene and pushing past you and stepping all over your feet and spoiling the whole business? Has the New Deal done anything about that? It has not! And this thing of the fond papa slapping you on the back and making you stand still in the middle of the block while he tells you the cute thing that Junior said to his mamma yesterday afternoon? Has that nuisance been abated? No! And the bird that calls you up on the telephone and says, "Guess who this is"? Has the administration down in Washington taken any steps to put those guys in jail or the psychopathic ward? It has not! And what about trying to get Beethoven's immortal Ninth Symphony on the radio and being told that if you want the best kind of tooth paste you should use Molargleam, which you can buy at your corner grocery store? How about that? Has the New Deal or the administration taken any steps to free us of that nightmare and perpetual irritation? The answer is nay, nay, nay! And what about the bird who comes into your house and laps up four cocktails and two drinks of the best Scotch and then pounces down on your most favorite book with shrieks of wolfish glee and screaming, "Oh, I've always wanted to read that book; I've heard so much about it," and carries it away and never brings it back. What about that? Has the New Deal or the administration down in Washington taken any steps to bring our books back? No! Nary a step. Very well, before there is any more sounding of trumpets and firing the culverin and beating tom-toms over how the New Deal has solved all our problems, let's ask 'em to stop and consider and then get down to plain brass headed tacks.

WHEN I AM DONE IN MARBLE.

When I am done in marble, faithfully
Sculptured in minutest cold detail by death,
I ask no tears nor roses over me
To signify the ending of my breath.

Music is sweet—(O, Love! How sweet!)—
But let no harp throb out with melody
Of liquid sound, and I not feel the beat:
Beauty was ever much concern to me.

Only you who loved me—whom I love—
Come in to me then, thinking how we read
This monument in the tapestry we wove
Of life. "The rest is silence," Hamlet said.

MARY FASSETT HUNT.

THE EIGHTH HUNTING DEATH of the Minnesota deer shooting season is reported. Why shouldn't deer hunters be informed that a deer has four legs, while guides and other hunters have two? Also that deer don't swear, smoke cigarets and pipes, and, generally speaking, do not wear swanky sport clothes? There is really considerable difference between deer and guides, but apparently it has never been pointed out to the deer hunters. It should be done at once.

A MAN SUES a chiropodist who cut off two of his toes to cure his corns. Without going into the merits of the case I'm willing to bet a nickel against a doughnut that the man doesn't have any more corns on those toes, anyhow.

WHICH MAY BE UNSYMPATHETIC, but I come of a hard boiled race. When my father was a young man he was a rail splitter down in Indiana. He developed an ingrowing nail on his little toe and went to the village doctor. The doctor took a look and said: "Can't do a thing; you'll have to suffer." "The hell I will," said my dad, and he went out into the woods and took his trusty ax and whacked the toe off. "And that cured the ingrowing nail," said dad. I'll betcha!

UNDER THE RULES of the Big Ten Minnesota is not allowed to play in the Rose Bowl in Pasadena. Why couldn't the Minnesota eleven be wrapped in cellophane (everything else is) and sent out to California? Then they wouldn't be damaged and the Big Ten would get them back in fair condition.

A cenotaph of fame.
The words of ancient lovers,
Held in a mystic frame.
The Swan of Avon's hiding,
The prophets loiter here,
Poets are abiding,
And lingering ever near.
To move men, to enthrall them,
To soothe, to call to arms,
Indifferent what befall them,
Led on by subtle charms.
Words! words! and tools to treasure
Of every precious kind,
And gifted with full measure
That can enrich the mind.

How to Keep Well By Dr. Irving S. Cutter

To the limit of space questions pertaining to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this column. Personal replies will be made to inquiries, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Cutter will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual disease.

PYORRHEA.

WITHIN recent years our attention has been called rather sharply to the importance of mouth hygiene as related to systemic disease and to one of the all too common disease processes that may attack the teeth—pyorrhea alveolaris.

In the normal jaw the spaces between the teeth are partly filled by projections of the gum. The free edges of these projections lie in contact with the necks of the teeth and the projecting gum tissue thins out to a layer that is prolonged and blends just below the surface with the firm tissue covering of the teeth. Whenever these gum projections become inflamed, appear swollen, and are redder than normal, we usually suspect the beginning of pyorrhea.

The first symptom may be a feeling of soreness in the gums, or bleeding after the teeth are brushed. Because the thin gum area is so easily damaged, inflammation readily extends to the tooth itself, followed by solution and disintegration of the tooth structure. Bacteria are harbored in the pockets thus created and pus may be present. Tartar aggravates the condition. As the pockets become deeper the teeth loosen and the infection may spread to the tongue, tonsils, and other structures of the mouth and throat. In some cases the gum recedes until the roots of the teeth are exposed.

J. G. Turner believes that decomposition of carbohydrate food is a causative factor. At any rate, stagnation of food in the mouth, bad dentistry—for example, crowns with overhanging edges, irregular teeth, and any condition that traps food in the mouth—all hasten the advent of pyorrhea.

No single bacillus has been identified as the exact cause of pyorrhea. Careful bacteriological examinations have shown that many organisms are present, and streptococci and staphylococci are often found in the infected areas.

Conservative treatment implies that all the tartar will be removed and that the pockets already formed will be thoroughly sterilized by proper means. Fairly strong chemicals will be required in some cases to stimulate healing. The patient may be instructed to massage the gum with a glycerin and tannic acid mixture, later using a fairly strong salt solution [one teaspoonful to a glass of water]. In carrying out this procedure a piece of soft muslin may be wrapped about the finger and the gums rubbed briskly. The direction of the massage must be toward the teeth, as this aids in emptying the pockets. Zinc chloride or zinc sulphate [one grain to an ounce of water] will assist in relieving inflammation, and must be applied cautiously by means of a sterile cotton applicator. All unnecessary and diseased gum tissue may be cut away by a skilled operator. The treatment is essentially drainage and obliteration of the pockets. To insure success this form of treatment must be continued for months.

In our search for focal infections, particularly in relation to arthritis, rheumatic conditions, heart and kidney disease, pyorrhea must not be overlooked. Even though there is no positive evidence that disease conditions are related to the extent of cause and effect, coöperation between physician, dentist, and patient is highly desirable. If the attack upon pyorrhea cannot be undertaken with a reasonable chance of success the physician and the dentist alike should advise needed extractions rather than permit the system to absorb possible infection and the loosening of teeth to continue.

STAMMERING.

Mrs. R. B. D. writes: When our son was 2 years old, after he had been talking quite a bit, he began to stammer. Because of the fact that this did not manifest itself when he first began to talk we were quite sure there was no physical defect. We decided most of his trouble was due to the fact that his thoughts seemed to run ahead of his ability to express himself. This was accompanied by some nervous symptoms, mainly excitability, due to his enthusiasm when he was thrilled by some new experience and tried to tell about it. He also showed some indication of being left-handed. We had heard the theory that if an attempt is made to make a child change to his right hand it would cause stammering. We didn't make any very great effort to have him change. He is 8 years old now and seems to use each hand equally well.

Whenever he would start to stammer we made it a point to have him pause for a moment, think through what he wanted to say, and then speak it right off. In his case this worked admirably. There is seldom any evidence of hesitancy in his speech, and when there is it is always when he comes in excited about his school work or something and starts out enthusiastically to tell about it.

I realize there are many cases having a more serious basis than his. A playmate of my son stammers much worse. I have asked him if his folks try to correct him and he says they do not. He is an exceptionally bright, vivacious child, and whenever I stop him and have him speak more slowly he can express himself without any difficulty. I think it is a shame to allow him to continue the habit of stammering until it is so firmly fixed that perhaps he will never overcome it.

Not if undertaken by an experienced operator. If they are extensive, however, surgery may be required, followed with a skin graft.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

ADOPTION AND INHERITANCE.

Calumet City, Ill., Nov. 23.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—The following took place in Minnesota: My mother's sister adopted a boy. My mother and her sister, or my aunt, are both dead. Recently my mother's brother died. 1. Is this adopted boy considered a nephew of my uncle? 2. If so, how would he share in my uncle's estate? 3. Would he share as one of the nephews and nieces, or [4] would he get his mother's share? My uncle doesn't have any other relatives except my two brothers, two sisters and myself. 5. If this adopted boy should die, who would be his heirs? Would the relations of his adopted mother or his own father be heirs? His own mother is dead. He has no adopted father. E. P.

1. Yes. Section 8630 of the Minnesota statutes provides: "By virtue of such adoption, he shall inherit from his adopting parents or their relatives, the same as though he were the legitimate child of such parents."

2. Section 8720 provides that in absence of closer relatives the estate goes to "the lawful issue of any deceased brother or sister, by right of representation."

3. See 4.

4. Yes.

5. Section 8630 further provides that "in case of his death, the adopting parents and their relatives shall inherit his estate as if they had been his parents and relatives in fact." TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

ADMINISTRATOR'S COMPENSATION.

Chicago, Nov. 23.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Does the administrator for an estate in probate receive a fee for services? 2. If so, what is a reasonable fee for an estate of $1,000 or $2,000? 3. If the administrator is a close relative of the deceased and there are two surviving heirs, and the estate is small, would it be advisable for him to waive administrator's fees? 4. What reason would his attorney have for wanting the administrator to waive said fees, otherwise than to keep the assets at a higher value? 5. Is this just a matter of personal feeling, or [6] is the administrator perfectly justified in claiming fee when there has been considerable work attached and some personal expense?

G. B. C.

1. Yes, in the ordinary case.
2. The statute says not over 6 per cent of the personal property.
3. This is not a legal question.
4. The attorney is in a better position to explain his motives than we are.
5. See 4.
6. Yes, unless he has agreed to the contrary. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

PROPERTY OWNERSHIP.

Maywood, Ill., Nov. 23.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Before the death of my father, a piece of property was deeded to him and my mother in joint tenancy and another deed was made out and properly signed by my mother and father deeding the property back to the original owner, but second deed was not recorded. Upon the death of my father, my mother became sole owner. 1. Does this second deed mentioned still hold good if recorded now or later, or [2] is it necessary to have another made out signed only by my mother? 3. In the event of her death, would deed be good even though not recorded? Also, upon death of my father, we found everything in joint tenancy, making my mother full owner, except $3,000 in certificates of deposit covering real estate bonds. 4. Which is best and less expensive procedure, to have these certificates go through probate or obtain surety bonds covering same? H. F. K.

1. Where a deed is not recorded until after the death of the grantor, litigation is invited as to whether the instrument was validly delivered during the grantor's lifetime. We are not in a position to predict the result of such litigation.

2. Depends on what object she wishes to accomplish.

3. See 1.

4. The committees with which the bonds were deposited may be willing to waive probate. You should take the matter up with them. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

The coldest temperatures ever recorded were not in the arctic or antarctic regions, but in Africa. A temperature of 150 degrees below zero has been recorded on Mount Kenya, which is exactly on the equator in Central Africa. This is one of the coldest temperatures ever recorded on earth. This mountain, although in the tropics, is covered with snow the year around.

A CARICATURE COME TO LIFE.

Chicago, Nov. 24.—Every once in a while a successful and highly amusing musical comedy or light opera bobs up depicting a tailor made revolution or attempted revolution in a banana republic. The theme is always the same. Successful officials [pro tem.] in resplendent uniforms on the balcony of the palace, beaming with satisfaction, toss coins of the realm (minted at Philadelphia) to the populace and soldiers below. Bravos are punctuated by hats sailing through the air. Shouts of savior are heard from the get-something-for-nothings.

We laugh at these goings-on, gold braid, bright red uniforms, official smiles, and eager hands reaching forth for coin.

Today, on a broader scale, a great republic in the temperate clime is putting on just such a show. The people who laughed at the banana production and silently ridiculed or pitied the peons for being so easily fooled are actors in a similar comedy [or drama]. After the coin of the realm is tossed from the balcony what then? No longer should we laugh at these banana skits which reflect on the integrity of the officials of our sister republics, for eventually our smiling boys on the balcony may, too, see fit to bedeck themselves with beautiful uniforms.

FURTHER REFLECTIONS ON THE HOLC.

Stickney, Ill., Nov. 24.—Referring to "Reflections on the HOLC," I think it is about time we heard from the other side of the fence. I cannot understand the unfair attitude that so many are showing toward the mortgage holders as though they were all huge demons ready to pounce down on the poor mortgagor. Did it ever occur to you that many mortgages are held by people who worked hard and sacrificed to save the money which they invested in mortgages and now when they are out of work cannot collect the money rightfully due them?

If you ask me, the home owners are the devouring demons (some of them), simply taking advantage of present day conditions and refusing to pay when they could exert some effort to make at least part payment.

Let me cite my personal experience. I hold a mortgage on a two story house. The interest was way past due, taxes unpaid, principal soon coming due, and I was collecting nothing. Numerous requests and conferences with the mortgagor availed nothing, even though I offered to cancel the interest due. All they said was "We haven't any money," although they are still driving their own car. Finally when I threatened to foreclose they promised to make a payment each month, and now they aren't even doing that. L. MEYER.

THE SPENDTHRIFT SEX.

Chicago, Nov. 24.—I am inclined to believe that the woman and girl of today are doing more to relieve unemployment and assist the New Deal than men. Here's my honest to goodness argument.

1. Women cut off their hair and replace what is left with permanent waves (O, how those waves make me seasick). They dye their hair, shave off their eyebrows, replacing them with pencil marks. Now they are using long braids of false hair and false eyelashes, thus helping the hairdressers, barbers, pencil manufacturers, and beauty experts.

2. They use all kinds of facial pastes, powders, and paints. They have their finger and toe nails manicured and painted, thus helping the manicurists and paint-powder makers.

3. They never sew or repair, but simply wear the garment till they get tired of it, or when it becomes worn out they cast it aside and purchase a new one, thus helping the manufacturer, salesmen, and employés, not forgetting the rag man.

4. They never wash or iron their clothes. Some purchase washing machines, but most of them send their clothes to the laundry, thus helping the washer maker and laundries and employés.

5. They won't or cannot make a real home cooked meal. They eat at the nearest restaurant or buy canned foods and vegetables, cakes, pastries, and bread, thus helping the canning companies, bakers, and their employés.

6. They smoke, gossip on the phone, read magazines, attend movies and clubs, thus helping cigaret makers, book salesmen, and movie employés.

7. They are constantly on the go, if not in their own car then on some of the public conveyances, thus helping garage men, oil, gas, and all transportation companies.

8. They are more interested in dogs than in children, thus helping out the city by purchasing dog licenses.

9. They are constantly at the mirror; also dieting and weighing themselves, drinking beer and cocktails, thus helping out the drug stores, weighing machine makers, saloonkeepers, and bartenders.

10. They spend all that three men could earn. The husband is the mule in the family. He has to keep his nose to the wheel; if not he is charged with nonsupport and finally divorce proceedings, thus helping out the judge, lawyer, and court attachés.

I can safely say without fear of contradiction that the modern women are doing their share in helping out the New Deal. They leave all the work for the other fellow—the husband pays for all. Wake up, men; your country needs you. Make more money so your wives will spend it. ANTIMAKEBELIEVE.

MILK WARS RANK AFTER LIQUOR AS CAUSE OF BOMBS

Loss for 1934 One-third of Previous Years.

The phrase "mild as milk" is a misnomer so far as it is applied to the causes of Chicago's commercial violence, according to statistics made public yesterday by the Employers' Association of Chicago on bombings in Cook county during the first ten months of the year.

Milk price warfare was the second most fruitful cause of bombings, being responsible for fourteen such outrages. It was exceeded only by liquor feuds. Since Jan. 1 there have been 16 bombs thrown at taverns, saloons, and roadhouses.

The statistics as a whole, however, indicated a sharp decrease in bombings, both in the number of incidents and the damage done. Until Nov. 5 there were 62 bombings in the county, with damage totaling $37,950. Of the damage nearly half, $15,000, was represented by destruction of a Broadview saloon by fire following a bombing on Jan. 2.

Note Yearly Decline.

The first ten months of 1933 saw 67 bombings, slightly in excess of the number during the same period this year, but the damage wrought was nearly three times as great, $104,900. This property loss was due principally to the five bombs exploded on May day of 1933, which damaged four important business houses and an office building to the extent of $55,000.

Bombings for 1932 and the damage during that year were even higher than the 1933 total. There were 95 bombings during the whole of that year, with damage totaling $123,600.

The milk bombings were in every case directed against concerns selling milk at cut rates, or dairies which supplied cut rate cash and carry milk stores. Such establishments since their mushroom growth in the early years of the depression have been the subject of bitter opposition not only by the large dairy companies but by the Milk Wagon Drivers' union, members of which see the cash and carry stores as destroying their livelihood.

Fewer in Service Industries.

No milk bombings have occurred since June 1. Shortly after that the Milk Drivers' union adopted a policy of paying its unemployed members to picket the cash and carry stores. Its officials asserted that this action was quite effective in winning back patrons for home delivered milk.

Generally the bombing statistics show a decrease in the use of bombs as weapons in labor disputes and trade association wars during the present year. Restaurants, beauty shops, and the establishments of tailors, cleaners and dyers, and barbers, targets in past years of many bombings, accounted for only five in the present year.

Cigar stores and bookmaking establishments were bombed four times. The Railway Express agency was the target of two bombs, blamed on teamsters' union troubles, and another teaming company was bombed. One bomb, thrown into the garage of the Chicago Motor Coach company, was attributed to attempts to organize its employes before the current strike against the company.

WOMAN NAMES MOE ROSENBERG IN BALLOT FRAUD

Testimony that the judicial ballots in the general election of 1932 were weighed but not counted in the 41st precinct of the 24th ward was given yesterday before a jury in the Criminal court of Judge Walter J. La Buy. The testimony was given by Mrs. Angela De Vere, 1517 South Turner avenue, a watcher at the polling place at the 1932 election, in the trial of three men for election fraud.

The defendants are William Kohen, a Republican judge of election at that time; Joseph Brownstein, a Democratic precinct captain, and Maurice Gruffman, a Republican precinct captain. The election in question resulted in a recount in the race between Samuel Heller, Republican, and Edwin J. Hasten, Democrat, for the position of Municipal judge. Heller, defeated in the election, was declared winner in the recount.

Mrs. De Vere, whose husband is an attorney and who has lived in the precinct 28 years, said that trouble started on the arrival of the late Moe Rosenberg, who dominated the ward. Rosenberg forced a Republican precinct captain to leave the polling place, she said.

JAIL SENTENCE PERSUADES SON TO AID FATHER

Refusal to pay $20 toward the support of his 76 year old father brought a ten day sentence for contempt to Max Cohen, 40 years old, yesterday. Cohen, who owns the Jackson floral shop at 719 West 63d street, relented after one hour of custody, paid the money, and was freed by Judge J. G. Van Keuren of Perry county, sitting in the County court here.

Cohen was ordered in October to pay his father, Rabbi Jacob Cohen, $5 a week, according to Assistant State's Attorney David J. Murphy. The son paid only $2 in all, Murphy said, and his father has been living on 6 cents a day in his room at 6235 St. Lawrence avenue, the prosecutor charged.

Cohen said his refusal to make the payments was based on his fear his father would spend the money in taverns. He also said that two brothers and three sisters had failed to contribute their share toward the father's upkeep.

EX-MRS. FIELD RENOUNCES ANY PROPERTY CLAIM

All claims to the property of her former husband, Marshall Field III, were renounced in a document filed with the Cook county recorder yesterday by Mrs. Audrey Coats Field, noted English beauty, who divorced Mr. Field in Reno on Nov. 14. At the time of the divorce it was announced that a property settlement had been reached by agreement, which was confirmed in the document. Terms of the settlement have not been disclosed.

As American as Thanksgiving ... these two fine old whiskies

THANKSGIVING is America's day for good food, good cheer and good will. It is fitting, too, that it should be your day for good American whiskey.

And of all the whiskies made, there is none quite so American in name, in tradition and in taste as Four Roses and Paul Jones.

Returning from the wars in 1865, Colonel Paul Jones first made the whiskey that bears his name. He made it as he had fought—with every last bit of his ability.

They're just as fine today

Four Roses and Paul Jones Whiskies are made today by the direct descendants of that original Paul Jones. And they are made just as he made them—made the only way truly great whiskey can be made—by the costly old-fashioned method of allowing grain to ferment slowly, naturally. For the makers of these whiskies know, as every honest whiskey-man knows, that there is no way to improve on Time and Nature.

Kentucky for Bourbon—Maryland for Rye

Four Roses and Paul Jones are made in Kentucky and Maryland—and that's important to you. For only in these two fine old States can you find the limestone water that's necessary to give whiskey the full-bodied richness it should have.

Four Roses and Paul Jones are barrel-ripened in United States warehouses under the most rigid government supervision in the world. And they are all whiskey when you buy them—blends of mellow straight whiskies. Yet they cost no more than whiskies that aren't.

Invite them to your Thanksgiving party!

Let Four Roses and Paul Jones help make your first Repeal Thanksgiving a day to remember. They're for sale everywhere.

Mix your pre-dinner cocktails with them. Burn them on your plum pudding. Let them add their mellow flavor to your after-dinner highballs. When the day is done, we believe you'll admit that these two whiskies are the finest you've tasted since Repeal—and also that drinks made with them have a richer, more zestful flavor.

In hotels and restaurants, insist on having your drinks made with Four Roses and Paul Jones. For these are true American whiskies. And that's the kind of whiskey American drinks are supposed to be made with!

Try these other famous Frankfort Whiskies

OLD OSCAR PEPPER—An old-fashioned whiskey at an old-fashioned price. MATTINGLY & MOORE—An extra-quality whiskey at an unusually reasonable price. SHIPPING PORT—The best straight whiskey at so low a price. WOLF CREEK—A fine, naturally aged Rye whiskey at a low price.

"IRVIN S. COBB'S OWN RECIPE BOOK," the greatest drinking guide ever published, describes nearly 100 selected recipes. And there's $100 worth of Mr. Cobb's best humor besides. Send 10c in stamps for your copy to Frankfort Distilleries, Dept. 23234, Louisville, Ky.

Insist on Four Roses and Paul Jones at hotels and restaurants—Today, at your favorite hotel, bar or restaurant, ask to have your cocktail or highball made with Four Roses or Paul Jones. Then your drink is sure to have the finest, fullest flavor—the flavor that comes only from fine, old-fashioned American whiskey.

VALLEY PARLEY VOTES AGAINST SEAWAY TREATY

Must Safeguard Lakes, Is Shippers' Stand.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 27.—(AP)—A sweeping majority of delegates to the annual Mississippi Valley association convention late today rejected a plea of the national administration for ratification of the St. Lawrence waterway treaty.

The action of the organization, composed largely of middle western shippers, followed by a few hours a plea by Secretary of War Dern for support of the treaty which failed of ratification in the last senate.

President Roosevelt has announced intention of resubmitting the treaty to the next congress.

Text of Resolution.

The convention resolution read:

"We oppose and will continue to oppose the ratification of the St. Lawrence treaty which was rejected by the senate at the last session of congress until its inequalities shall have been corrected; until the rights of the United States shall have been protected; until the markets for United States agriculture and industry shall have been safeguarded; until a commercially useful lakes to the gulf waterway shall have been made secure; until provisions be made whereby United States money goes to United States labor and the United States sovereignty over Lake Michigan is preserved."

Complete harmony did not prevail on the treaty resolution. Some support of a minority resolution report was voiced.

Principal officers, including Robert Isham Randolph, president, Chicago, were reëlected. Thomas F. Cunningham, New Orleans, was reëlected vice president at large, and R. W. Hawes, St. Louis, again was named treasurer.

Call on Dern to Act.

The convention, in another resolution, called on Secretary Dern "to amend the policies enunciated in the 1933 report of the Inland Waterways corporation with regard to the private operation of inland waterway craft." The Inland Waterways corporation, a federal agency, operates fleets of water carriers on principal navigable rivers. The 1933 policy, Lachlan Macleay, executive president of the association, explained, subordinated the development of private carriers to federal barge lines.

Ample steamship lines, including a goodly number of the United States lines, plying between the gulf and southeastern Atlantic ports and ports of the world.

Further development of the merchant marine, including use of government aid.

QUEBEC JOINS FIGHT.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., Nov. 27.—The province of Quebec will oppose Canadian ratification of the St. Lawrence seaway project when it is again brought up. Premier Taschereau said today he will continue opposition to the pact whether in the original form or modified, as at present suggested. Recently Ontario's premier announced his province would not agree to the scheme.

LAST BARGE OFF TODAY

To the accompaniment of reports that the trafic of the Inland Waterways corporation over the Illinois waterway has almost trebled this season over last year's business, the last southbound tow of the federal barge line for 1934 is to leave Chicago this morning. The waterway will not be closed to private interests, however, until it is blocked by winter ice.

The last tow of five or six barges is due to depart about 7 a. m. today from docks at Western avenue. Freight was being received yesterday for river ports from Peoria to New Orleans.

The final northbound tow for this season is scheduled to arrive tomorrow from New Orleans.

Officials of the federal barge line said yesterday that final figures on the year's business will not be ready for some time. They declared indications are that the trafic made possible by the Illinois waterway has apparently yielded the government line about 160,000 tons this season as against 60,000 last year, the first after the opening of the Lorkport to Utica connecting link between the Great Lakes and the Gulf of Mexico.

Bridges a Big Problem.

The barge line reports that Chicago tonnage has increased steadily, with indications that next year will see further growth in trafic.

The benefits which would accrue to Chicago and her business interests and taxpayers, from completion of the Calumet harbor terminal project, were recounted yesterday by Ald. William A. Rowan, who addressed a luncheon gathering of the Franklin D. Roosevelt Club of Chicago at the Hotel LaSalle. The federal government recently set aside $2,814,000 toward it.

Ald. Rowan declared that the resultant diversion of heavy river trafic from the downtown district would obviate the need of movable bridges. This, he said, would save the city taxpayers $39,000,000 in the next ten years in addition to the elimination of high maintenance costs.

HERE'S FISH STORY; ANGLER-WIDE-GAB SWALLOWS 2 DUCKS

New York, Nov. 27.—[Special.]—Mrs. Arol Stryker, director of the Staten Island Zoölogical society and nature instructor in the Brooklyn School of Ethical Culture, has discovered in the waters around Staten Island one or two fish that swallow ducks.

Mrs. Stryker is preparing a lecture in which this strange fish will be discussed with other Staten Island fish and birds.

The bird-catching fish is called the angler-wide-gab, or all mouth. About three feet long, its mouth occupies the greater part of its triangular body. Out of its head grows a long spine that stands up like a fishing rod, Mrs. Stryker says. On the end of that spine there is a little tab of flesh that looks like bait. That hangs just in front of the fish's mouth. The angler fish lies in wait until smaller fish come near to explore the bait; then the small victims are swept into his open mouth by the inrush of water.

Proof that the fish catches birds has recently been obtained by Mrs. Stryker from Capt. Spreggis of Cutchogue, N. Y. The captain told Mrs. Stryker that a member of a fishing party he guided hooked an angler fish inside of which were two ducks.

Saturday Is Opening Day of Exhibit.

Royalty will be represented in the 35th annual International Live Stock exposition which will open Saturday, marking the dedication of the new $1,250,000 International Amphitheater at the stockyards.

The Prince of Wales will exhibit at the show for the first time in ten years. While most of the American livestock raisers were preparing yesterday to ship their entries, those of Great Britain's heir apparent, consisting of a Clydesdale draft horse and five Shorthorn cattle, were speeding toward Chicago by fast train, surrounded by luxuries befitting royal property and accompanied by attendants charged with their safety. They are coming from the E. P. ranch at High River, Alta., Canada, owned by the prince.

Wedding Detains Prince.

Owing to the necessity of his presence at the wedding of his younger brother, the Duke of Kent, in England this week, the Prince will be unable to attend the exposition. He will be represented at the show by W. L. Carlyle, manager of his Canadian farm.

The new amphitheater was rebuilt in five months on the ruins of the one destroyed in the fire of May 19. B. H. Heide, manager of the exposition said yesterday that workmen are now completing the stalls and stands for the exhibits. The new building seats 12,000 persons.

Formal opening of the hall is set for 8 a. m. Saturday, when 5,000 samples of hay and grain from the United States and Canada will go on display to mark the 16th annual Hay and Grain show that is held jointly with the live stock exposition.

Horse Show Saturday Night.

Saturday night will be Chicago night, featured by the opening of the horse show. Only exhibitors from Chicago and suburbs will be eligible to enter exhibits.

The cattle entries of the Prince of Wales will be among 307 head of shorthorns listed. Intimates of the royal son say he hopes to repeat his victory of 1924, when his entry, King of the Fairies, won the grand prize for Shorthorn bulls. The animal was later sold to an American breeder. The prince is also said to be setting high store by the superiority of his Clydesdale entry, which will be pitted against the best entries of America's foremost horse breeders.

PHONE EMPLOYES GIVE $58,185 TO COMMUNITY FUND

Chicago employés of the Illinois Bell Telephone company yesterday pledged $58,185 to the 1934 community fund, officials of the fund announced. More than $2,530,000 has been raised toward the $3,000,000 needed to help maintain 130 private charities in the city.

Among other new contributions was $5,000 from the Morton Salt company and $3,500 from the employés of the Union Stockyards and Transit company. Employés of the International Harvester company sent $3,000 in addition to $35,000 previously pledged. Employés of the General Electric company gave $2,946.56, which was matched by a company pledge.

Pledge cards are now in the hands of 445,597 employés in 2,812 corporations and business houses and it is expected that the goal of 450,000 potential subscribers to the fund will be passed in a few days.

Cut North Shore Gas Rates for Water Heating

The Illinois commerce commission yesterday entered an order temporarily reducing the automatic gas water heating rates of the North Shore Gas company, which services thirty-one north shore towns extending from Winnetka to Waukegan. The percentage of reduction varies from 2.7 per cent to 13.1 per cent, depending on the quantity of gas used.

GENERAL BATTLE FLARES IN BUS-'L' TRANSFER MOVE

Coach Company Wants New Feeder Lines.

The feeder bus controversy involving northwest areas of the city developed yesterday into a general battle with the filing of an intervening petition with the Illinois commerce commission by the Chicago Motor Coach company.

The coach company requested authority to operate two new bus lines connecting the Logan Square, Ravenswood and Evanston elevated lines of the Chicago Rapid Transit companies, with a mutual transfer arrangement proposed between the bus and "L" systems.

Six Factions in Battle.

Now involved in the feeder bus scramble are six factions. They are the Illinois Commerce commission which yesterday took under advisement its own citation case to compel the Chicago Surface lines to install feeder buses in Higgins road and on the Northwest highway; the city council which last week took action to have feeder buses tacked on to the elevated terminals; a number of civic groups which have been fighting for both street car and elevated feeder buses; the surface lines which have been fighting any and all feeder bus extensions; the motor coach company which just entered the arena, and the rapid transit company, which is now said to favor installation of its own feeder buses.

As a result of yesterday's development, Chairman Benjamin F. Lindheimer yesterday directed Lee A. Freedman, an assistant counsel for the commission, to confer with those concerned in an effort to unscramble the situation.

Seek Agreement Before Dec. 10.

Attorney Freedman will endeavor to realign the contestants into two groups whose objectives, where they are in common, can be consolidated into one proceeding. Dec. 10 has been fixed for the next general hearing.

The coach company's petition yesterday asked authority to operate one bus line from Peterson and Kimball avenues south on Kimball to Logan Square, east on Logan boulevard, east on Diversey to Sheridan road and thence loopward. It would make transfer points with the Ravenswood and Logan Square elevated terminals. The second route would start at Central Park and Foster avenues, running east on Foster to Sheridan road and then to the loop, making a transfer point with the "L" at its Broadway-Berwyn station.

News of The Tribune Experimental Farm By Frank Ridgway

Truck Lambs Today.

Nov. 27, 1934.

FINAL touches were being given today to the band of show lambs at THE TRIBUNE Auxiliary experimental farm near Wheaton. Out of the 1934 crop sixty-three have been kept for exhibition purposes. Tomorrow they will be trucked into Chicago and placed in the show pens at the Union Stockyards where they will be held to compete in the native lamb class at the International Live Stock exposition which opens Saturday morning.

At least fifty of these lambs will be paraded on the opening day of the show before the judges in the car lot competition for lambs of 85 pounds and over. These lambs have been pampered for weeks by John Rawlings, who is in charge of the auxiliary farm flock. Carl Henderson, general manager of the farm at Wheaton, and Mr. Rawlings have picked out the best of this year's lambs for the show.

These men have some indication of the quality and condition of their lambs because a few days ago they sold from the same flock 53 head which topped the market in Chicago. The show lambs that are left are superior to the "throw outs" that were sold at $6.50 a hundredweight, the highest price paid last Friday.

Show ring results and the dressing percentage of these lambs will be used to guide Mr. Henderson and Mr. Rawlings in their breeding tests that are in progress at the auxiliary farm. At the Wheaton farm sheep are being found of value not only as wool and mutton producers but as builders of soil and weed eradicators.

The men have observed that the sheep eat practically all kinds of weeds that grow on the auxiliary farm, including burdock, dandelion, horse weed, velvet weed, quack grass, rag weed, young Canadian thistle, and young Spanish needle. Mr. Henderson says they also eat scrubby undesirable sprouts that spring up in the woodland pastures.

Mr. Henderson has found that sheep do an excellent job of cleaning out pastures infested with burdock and fields where quack grass thrives. Sand burs, bull thistles and cockleburs are among the few weeds that the sheep do not eat, he said.

"A few years ago we had a pasture badly infested with quack grass which has been killed by the sheep," said Mr. Henderson. "I have noticed that the sheep keep the plants nipped back so close to the ground that the quack grass does not have a chance to produce seed."

On the 1,000 acre auxiliary experimental farm the flock is shifted about over the land wherever the fences are sheeptight. This is done not only to furnish first class grazing at all times but as a means of eradicating the weeds and fertilizing the land.

"I have often thought it unfortunate that our sheep do not eat some of the weeds that produce burs because they get into the wool and lower the value of the fleece," said Mr. Rawlings. "This makes it necessary for us to keep the sheep out of fields where there are cockleburs and sand burs until the weeds can be cut and removed.

"It's hard to beat a sheep on our midwestern farms. They give us two crops a year—wool and the surplus lambs not needed for breeding purposes. All we take off is the extra lamb carcasses and the annual clip, and the flock kills most of the weeds and enriches the soil."

INN OWNER HELD AS A SEQUEL TO SUICIDE TRAGEDY

George Dugdale, in whose roadhouse at Willow Springs two sisters, 14 and 15 years old, worked as hostesses, was named yesterday in a warant charging contributing to the delinquency of minors.

The warant was issued by Police Magistrate Frank Pavek of Berwyn, who continued until Dec. 11, the hearing on a charge of statutory rape against Norman Wing, 23 years old, former leader of an orchestra at the roadhouse. Wing was arrested after the eldest of the sisters, Anna Vanek, 1925 South Grove avenue, Berwyn, committed suicide by drinking poison on Nov. 7.

Before killing herself Anna wrote a note saying she had lost her sweetheart's affections to her younger sister, Patsy.

Juvenile Officer Charles Martinek of Berwyn asked the warant against Dugdale after Patsy said she and her sister worked in the roadhouse for $3 a week, serving liquor and drinking with customers.

A new experimental streamlined double-deck bus was placed in operation by the Chicago Motor Coach company yesterday. Built to specifications it carries seats for 75 passengers. It has a duraluminum body, automatic gear shift, improved lighting and ventilation, cellular rubber seats, and a new type of engine in the rear, which eliminates gasoline odors. If successful, according to officials, vehicles of this type will eventually replace all the 562 other coaches now in service.

MR. AND MRS. EDWARD A. CUDAHY

Chicago Girl Scores Hit as Opera Carmen

THE CAST.

Don Jose.....Myron Duncan
Morales.....Wilfred Engelman
Zuniga.....Sidor Belarsky
Carmen.....Coe Glade
Frasquita.....Margery Maxwell
Mercedes.....Ada Paggi
Escamillo.....Joseph Royer
Micaela.....Hilda Burke
El Dancairo.....Giuseppe Cavadore
El Remendado.....Lodovico Oliviero
Conductor, Isaac Van Grove.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

It was a pleasant thing to observe the attendance and the applause at the opera last night, for the chief character in the cast is a Chicago girl who made good.

Ever since Miss Glade made her first appearance in the part several years ago she has been one of the most promising Carmens on the stage today. By now a good part of her potentialities have been realized and she gives a full length picture that is worth going out in as stormy an evening as last night to watch.

She has exactly the voice for the part, a dusky mezzo-soprano of wide range and any amount of expression. She is stage wise with a wisdom that is mostly innate but also trained. She knows how to characterize and to project her characterization. And she is a personality.

It was a good cast that went with her. Mr. Duncan has a voice with the real bead of quality in it. Mr. Royer made a huge success with the Toreador song in the second act. Miss Burke sang Micaela with a tone about as ideally suited to the part as Miss Glade's was for her own rôle. And if you want to hear what two first class artists can do with two rather minor rôles you should hear Miss Maxwell and Miss Paggi in this opera.

Isaac Van Grove, up to this time the resourceful stage director of the company, was also its conductor for the first time of the season. With two functions he made a brilliant success of both, speedy, energetic, warm in the music, the creator of stage pictures that while they had their former matter also had a new and highly attractive manner. There was a lively and colorful ballet by Ruth Page, Harriet Lundgren, and their associates in the second act, and a rumor of brave doings in the fourth, too late, however, for a report this time.

Benno Moiseiwitsch came back to be the piano soloist of the Chicago Symphony orchestra yesterday afternoon at Orchestra hall, after having stayed away for eleven years. His return was something of a special occasion, for Conductor Frederick Stock had made a program entirely of the music of Rachmaninoff and Mr. Moiseiwitsch's part of it was the composer's third, or D minor, concerto.

Rachmaninoff makes a better showing for a full length program than most. He has a great gift of melody and fully as great a one for working melody into color and drama.

Mr. Moiseiwitsch is a first rate pianist, possessed of touch, technic, and imagination.

Family Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Cudahy will be hosts to their children and grandchildren tomorrow at a family dinner that will be not only a Thanksgiving observance but the celebration of their fiftieth wedding anniversary.

The Cudahys' other children are Edward A. Cudahy Jr., who lives in Lake Forest with his wife, the former Margaret Carry, and their children, Sheila, Edward III., and Anthony; Mrs. Austin H. Niblack [Helen Cudahy], who also lives in Lake Forest with her husband and their children, Helen and Berto; Mrs. Vaughan C. Spalding [Florence Cudahy], who with Mr. Spalding and the young Spaldings, Charles, William, and Edward, live in Chicago; and Mrs. Frank E. Wilhelm [Jean Cudahy], who with Mr. Wilhelm and their children, Edward, Jean, and David, also live in Chicago. They all will be together tomorrow for an old fashioned family dinner at the handsome residence of the senior Cudahys, 22 Banks street.

The wedding of Elizabeth Murphy and Edward A. Cudahy took place 50 years ago tomorrow in Milwaukee, where they both were born. Later they lived in Omaha and in 1911 they moved here. At that time the headquarters of the Cudahy Packing company were transferred from Omaha to Chicago. Mr. Cudahy, who is chairman of the board of directors of the company, has been identified with the packing industry for 62 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Cudahy will attend the annual high mass in memory of Michael J. Cudahy to be held at 9 o'clock this morning at St. Ignatius church. President Samuel Knox Wilson of Loyola university will be the celebrant of the mass for Mr. Cudahy, who was an outstanding benefactor of Loyola. The Rev. Francis J. Gerst, dean of the graduate school, will preach the sermon. Michael Cudahy, a brother of Edward, died in 1910.

Executive of Store Calls Fashions of Women Ridiculous

New York, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Kenneth Collins, department store executive, tonight said, "All women's fashions are ridiculous."

"Curiously enough," he said, speaking before the Art-and-Trade club, "I am of the belief that the average man dresses in better taste than the average woman. Women will take violent exception to this since they choose to pride themselves on their better taste."

Collins said with conviction, "I don't think that I have ever seen more than one fashion in the last ten years that was not fundamentally ludicrous and unbeautiful."

He said women taught him the unbecomingness of women's clothes because they themselves are the first to laugh when styles of three to five years ago are displayed. Such laughter, he said, would not be provoked by a thing of real beauty only a short time after it was created.

Bachelors and Benedicks to Dance Tonight

Annual Ball Will Be Held at Palmer House.

BY JUDITH CASS.

TO 350 of the younger members of society—not including those as young as debutantes, however—Thanksgiving eve is one of the memorable nights of the season, for it brings the annual Bachelors and Benedicks ball, always one of the gayest as well as one of the most exclusive parties of each winter. Tonight's will be given in the Red Lacquer room of the Palmer house, and about 11 o'clock the young matrons who are to receive will arrive from the various dinners they will attend first, and then, if the party is like all the other Bachelors and Benedicks of previous years, they will wait until around midnight to greet the first guest.

But tomorrow isn't a working day and most of those who will make merry at the ball tonight can sleep until time to eat turkey, so the party will be as late in stopping as it will in starting. The wives of two of the Benedicks, Luther S. Hammond Jr. and Frederic McLaughlin II, are ill so they will not be in the receiving line, which will be composed of Mrs. W. Irving Osborne Jr., Mrs. Robert S. Pirie, Mrs. Ralph Isham, Mrs. John M. Simpson, Mrs. Potter Palmer III, and Mrs. George A. Poole Jr.

The Bachelors who will be hosts are Joseph C. Belden Jr., Malcolm W. Stevenson, Gardner Brown, Donald R. McLennan Jr., A. Watson Armour III, Dustin Grannis, James O. Heyworth Jr. and Gaylord Donnelley. While supper is being served there will be a floor show of half a dozen acts.

Many Dinner Parties Will Precede Ball.

The Osbornes and the Pooles are among those giving dinner parties at the Casino; the Piries will entertain guests at dinner at the residence of her mother, Mrs. John Alden Carpenter of 1020 Lake Shore drive; and the Simpsons are giving a cocktail party before they go to dinner at John Pierce's on Astor street. The John P. Porters and the Prentice Porters are combining to give a dinner for 14 at the Casino, and Miss Peggy Hixon, Thomas Cooke, Philip T. Dalton Jr., Wyndham Hasler and a number of other single people are meeting for a Dutch treat party before the ball.

The Bruce Thornes will have 18 guests at their residence, 1130 Lake Shore drive, and Miss Lydia Swift will be hostess at a party at the Swift residence, 209 Lake Shore drive, to compliment Miss Nancy Traylor and her brother, Nathan Swift, who will be married tomorrow.

Miss Marie Louise Gardner and Miss Beth Coleman are giving a dinner and theater party before the ball and Miss May Stillwell has invited ten guests to dine with her at her residence, 1530 State parkway. No debutantes ever are invited to the Bachelors and Benedicks ball.

Society to See "Salome" Tonight.

To those who have outgrown the "Bs and Bs," the opera tonight will be a lure, for those who remember Mary Garden as Salome are anxious to see Maria Jeritza in it and also to see Nicolas Remisoff's new settings, and of course those who have never seen the opera, which was considered so shocking when Garden appeared in it years ago, are curious about it now.

January 11, mark the date in your engagement books, if you have your 1935 ones, for that is the date set by the Emerson House board for its annual benefit. And this year it is to be another ball in the Urban room of the Congress similar to the one given two years ago that was so successful.

There will be another dance contest and perhaps contests to choose the best looking, the best dressed and so on and so forth in society. Miss Cynthia Wilson, president, and Mrs. Louis C. Sudler, ex-president, are in charge of entertainment, and Miss Anne Smith, Miss Dorothy Dewes, Mrs. Harold B. Smith and Miss Betty Blair will make up the invitation list.

Miss Alice Roullier has cards out for a tea on Friday from 4 to 6 o'clock in the Roullier Galleries in the Fine Arts building for Miss Katharine Dudley. The tea will open an exhibition of Miss Dudley's pastels of Morocco and Mexico and portraits of some Chicago children.

Group to Plan Ballet Opening.

CONVERSATION Piece. An indignant matron telephoned WBBM last Sunday to protest against the interruption of the Philharmonic Symphony program for the local Garibaldi statue dedication ceremonies.

Winnetka talk—Commodore—Checker—Science note.

"I want you to do something at once about putting the symphony back on," she demanded.

"I'm sorry, madam," was the polite response, "but there's nothing we can do."

"The hell you can't," answered the Winnetka symphony lover.

THE best explanation of titles yet given is, I think, that of Commodore P. F. M. Fellowes, the British airman who was in charge of the flight above Mt. Everest, and who has been in town lecturing the last few days. His summary was by way of tactful reply to a lady seated next him at dinner who had been addressing him as "Commander" and suddenly learned that the correct title was "Commodore," which signifies a higher office than commander in the British air service.

"Titles are only a mesmerism created for the purpose of enforcing discipline," he said, adding that he had retired from service, so that the title was completely unimportant.

* *

ASKED what was the most vivid moment in a career that has included both war and high adventure, Commodore Fellowes, a charming and brilliant gentleman, thought for a moment, then gave an answer that had nothing to do with triumph or accomplishment.

"I think it is that moment when, after facing certain death and expecting it momentarily, one suddenly is released from that certainty," he said. "That moment of relief—and I have known several such moments—is more vivid than any other experience."

* *

A VISITOR to the Palmer house the other day saw a white-haired man working as a food checker. He was pointed out to him as "Dream Daddy Davis," the bedtime hour radio star of other days. "Dream Daddy Davis" had his big years in radio some seven or eight years ago, when he was the children's favorite. His "Dream Daddy" theme song had thousands of listeners. Then the closing of the station over which he broadcast and, simultaneously, the death of the English sheep dogs he was raising, from a disease that swept his kennels, brought him to reduced circumstances. He has been a checker at the Palmer house for several years.

But ain't science wonderful, anyhow?

Mary Edmonds to Wed W. E. Walling Today

Wallerich-McGibbon Rites at River Forest.

At 4 o'clock this afternoon in Milwaukee Miss Mary Elizabeth Edmonds, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Edmonds, will become the bride of William English Walling II., son of Mr. and Mrs. Willoughby G. Walling of Hubbard Woods. The ceremony will be a quiet one, taking place in the drawing room of the Edmonds' house at 2611 East Beverly road, with a small reception afterwards.

The bride will have two attendants—her sister, Mrs. Joseph W. Simpson Jr., and her daughter, little Charlotte Simpson, who will be flower girl. John B. Mordock of Winnetka will serve Mr. Walling as best man.

Mr. and Mrs. Walling and Willoughby Jr. and Cheves T. Walling, the bridegroom's brothers, will be present, and also the bridegroom's uncle, William English Walling of New Jersey. The bride's grandmother, Mrs. C. W. Edmonds of Memphis, Tenn., and her grandaunt, Mrs. E. A. Long of New York, also are in Milwaukee for the ceremony.

Following a motor trip to North Carolina, Mr. Walling and his bride will be at home at 1222 North State street probably around Jan. 1.

At 4:30 o'clock this afternoon in River Forest Miss Constance Wallerich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Wallerich, will become the bride of Edmund L. McGibbon, son of Mr. and Mrs. William McGibbon of Kenilworth. Bishop George Craig Stewart, assisted by the Rev. John Young, will read the ceremony at Christ church, and a small reception will follow at the Wallerich home.

Mrs. Willard Richardson and Miss Frances Lemaux of Indianapolis will attend the bride, and Harry Stone will be best man. John Cullen and Ralph Whitsett will usher. On Dec. 17, after a wedding trip by motor to Florida, Mr. McGibbon and his bride will be at home at 1513 Hinman avenue, Evanston.

At 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon Miss Jane Lawrence, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick K. Lawrence, became the bride of Otto F. Schulz, son of Mrs. Otto Schulz, in a quiet ceremony in the chapel of St. James' church. The Rev. Duncan Browne, assisted by the Rev. Charles Venable, read the service in the presence of relatives, and a small reception for the families and their closest friends followed in the Lawrences' apartment at 190 East Chestnut street.

The bride wore a simple gown of white satin with long sleeves and train and a high cowl neck, and the lovely veil and cap of lace which belongs to Mrs. John J. Schreiner [Mary MacCaughey]. She carried calla lilies. Her attendants, Mrs. Eliot Goss [Lucy Stone] of Waterbury, Conn., and the Misses Mildred and Barbara Lawrence were gowned alike in Marina blue crêpe with brown velvet hats and gloves and they carried pompons in autumn shades. Miss Mildred Lawrence as honor maid wore a gold hat instead of the brown velvet.

Mr. Schulz and his bride will be at home after Jan. 1 at 2916 Pine Grove avenue.

At 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon in Highland Park Miss Mirjane Strong, daughter of the William G. Strongs, became the bride of Donald Kemmerer, son of Dr. and Mrs. Edwin W. Kemmerer of Princeton, N. J. The ceremony was read in the living room of the Strongs' house by the Rev. Samuel Chidester in the presence of relatives, and a large reception followed at 5 o'clock. The bride wore a white moire robe de style gown with long sleeves and a plaited Queen Anne collar. She waived the traditional veil in favor of a simple pearl bandeau on her head and carried white orchids. There were no attendants.

Mr. and Mrs. Kemmerer have gone to Bethlehem, Pa., where the bridegroom is teaching at Lehigh university. They have postponed their wedding trip until the Christmas holidays when they will go to Bermuda.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Nov. 27.—[Special.]—Mrs. Wilmarth Ickes, daughter-in-law of the secretary of the interior and Mrs. Harold L. Ickes, was the guest in whose honor Mrs. Brice Kremer entertained at tea this afternoon. Mrs. Homer S. Cummings, wife of the attorney general, and Mrs. Harold L. Ickes presided at the tea table.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Matthews Dick of Chicago and Washington entertained at dinner this evening in honor of the retiring Greek minister and Mme. Simpoulos.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, Nov. 27.—[Special.]—Mr. and Mrs. E. Farrar Bateson will give a small dance on Dec. 22 at the Hotel Pierre to introduce their daughter, Miss Florence Bateson.

Mr. and Mrs. Marsden B. Chandler are to return on the Manhattan on Thursday from a six weeks' stay in London and Paris.

WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Leslie Eldridge of 4228 North Paulina street announce the marriage of their daughter Virgilyn to Edward Eugene Rugles, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Rugles of 512 Lee street, Evanston, on Nov. 2.

World Tourists Plan Days in Ancient India

Nathaniel Owingses Will Leave Today.

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.

Of all the good wishes that will go with Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Owings this morning when they entrain at 10 o'clock for Vancouver, B. C., on the first leg of a round the world journey, one wish will be of primary importance to them. This will be the hope that their arms are long enough to reach around the bronze pillar of the Kartub tower near Delhi in India.

Ancient superstition holds that any one who stands back to the pillar and touches his fingers on the far side will accomplish the most important feat in his life. Richard Halliburton's arms reached, but his traveling companion, David, missed by one inch. The 15 foot pillar of solid bronze stands directly in the center of the ruins of the Kartub tower, which is the solitary minaret of a mosque that belonged to a city long since destroyed.

A belated wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Owings have timed their journey to climax Mr. Owings' term of service as one of the managers of A Century of Progress. With all of the glamorous pleasure in prospect, they prophesy that February in India, which includes the visit to the Kartub tower, will be one of the richest experiences of their entire world holiday.

They will stop at Calcutta first, second city of the British empire [hottest place in the world in April] and indeed worthy of a visit. Famous Hindu shrines are there, the Jain temple, bathing gats, and the mighty Hooghley with its tramps, ocean liners, country boats and Arab dhows. Then they will go north to Darjeeling and up the Himalayas by one of the world's quaintest railways. Some morning before dawn they will ride to Tiger hill to see the sun rise over Mount Everest.

Most of these Hindu highlights were on the itinerary of another young Chicagoan, Richard M. Genius Jr., who returned only a few months ago from a trip around the world. Of recent weeks Mr. Genius' friends have been seeing the movies he made. Especially interesting are those of the funeral of a general's wife in Peiping, China, that aloof, ageless city bewildering in its magnificence and squalor.

The funeral which Mr. Genius happened upon was the first of its kind, so large and splendid, that Peiping had known in fifteen years. For three hours the procession passed a given point. There Mr. Genius stood winding off reel after reel of pictures. He followed it through three inner courts of the temple, only then to be discovered and have his camera confiscated. There is a law in China that funerals can not be photographed, but conference at the American legation resulted in the return of the camera and the reels.

To Mrs. William B. Storey the ocean is just a deep, dark cavern with perils on every side, but for the glories of ancient Egypt she's willing to ride its waves for seven long days. With Mr. Storey she is leaving Chicago Monday to embark on Dec. 7 on the Saturnia for the land reminiscent of Cleopatra, the Shepherd Kings, Rameses, and Tut-Ankh-Amen.

On the way Mr. and Mrs. Storey will have stopovers in the Azores, Gibraltar, Algiers, Naples, Constantinople, and Palestine. Christmas day they will celebrate in Athens. Reaching Cairo after the beginning of the new year they will probably meet another party of Chicagoans, for Mrs. Frederic de Coningh and Mrs. Frank Voorhis are sailing on Dec. 26 for a winter in Egypt. Landing at Alexandria Mrs. de Coningh and Mrs. Voorhis plan to go directly to Cairo to join Mrs. John Clay who left Chicago yesterday for the near east.

Of some six dozen society brides this year Miss Nancy Traylor, who will be married to Nathan Swift tomorrow, will be the thirtieth to honeymoon in Bermuda. Perhaps the island's popularity as a wedding trip destination is due to the fact that there is a tablet in 300 year old St. Peter's church erected to the governor who first imposed a tax on bachelors.

But, be that as it may, there is no more delightful spot to whisper "sweet nothings," to spend long, lazy days on the beaches, to horseback, golf, tennis, and bicycle.

Clips Deserve High Place on Yuletide Lists

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Clips deserve all the fanfare and trumpeting they get. From the beginning, when they were used instead of buttons to hold some of Schiaparelli's original and unusual dresses in place, to today, when they are used for telling decoration on everything from hats to shoes, they manage to make the best costume accents you can buy.

There are some grand new clip collections around the town, ready for your gift lists. Some silver creations are about the most perfect affairs to be found. Large models are the newest—rather daring things away from the dress, but swankily effective on dark wool clothes. There is one made of oldish silver fashioned of three carefully curled ostrich plumes with tiny replicas for earrings.

Big sunburst clips that look like headlights come in silver and gleaming gold. Buckles and strap effects about three inches long and an inch wide are slick for severely tailored clothes.

Three cornered large clips formed of open flowers make a nice shoulder contrast; gleaming silver ivy leaves of good size come in pairs in either silver or gold; two and three concentric circles of shiny chromium or silver are modernistic smart clips that can slip over ascots or anchor shoulder seams.

Big transparent prystal clips that look like half a sunset are especially effective on dark blue, brown and black especially when they have bracelets to match. The best combine of the year are clips, ear rings and bracelets all expertly matched in design and metal. Sometimes a belt is also buckled in perfect harmony with clips and bracelets.

CITY PREPARES THANKSGIVING IN PILGRIM SPIRIT

Churches, Schools, Homes to Mark Day.

BY KATHERINE KELLEY.

Final plans were being made yesterday for the observance of Thanksgiving tomorrow, with all its traditional spirit, in churches, schools, institutions, hotels and in the thousands of Chicago homes.

Hotel officials revealed that reservations are being received in greater numbers than usual, and one hotel reported a 60 per cent advance over the same date for last year. Dinners of turkey with other choices of meat and all the trimmings in leading Chicago dining places range in price from $1.75 to $2.50, with music and floor shows in some of the hotel dining rooms added for good measure.

Thanksgiving dinners will be served from 11 a. m. to 9 o'clock at the Drake, 1 p. m. to 10 p. m. in the Terrace Garden of the Morrison, from noon to 9:30 at the Hotel Sherman, and from noon to 9 in the Palmer house, with supper after nine o'clock in the empire room.

Pilgrims Called Liberals.

At their Thanksgiving meeting yesterday in the Hotel Sherman members of the Rotary club heard the Rev. M. Russell Boynton of the Bryn Mawr Community church declare that, contrary to current popular opinion, the Pilgrim fathers were in reality the "liberals" of their day. Their most outstanding characteristic, he said, was that they had a spirit of adventure and a faith that they could build a better world than they had known.

"The same opportunity for adventure confronts us in our lives today," the speaker added. "We today are the pioneers in the field of science, transportation, medicine and the reorganization of the business of the world."

Pupils to Hold Benefit.

The city's public schools will be closed tomorrow and Friday, Supt. William J. Bogan announced. Today Thanksgiving programs will be held in all of the schools, with most of the programs arranged as benefits for the School Children's Aid society. Last year the pupils' Thanksgiving activities raised $54,000 for the society, which provides clothing and other supplies for needy children.

Things were looking up out in alimony row of the county jail. Roast chicken is billed for the Thanksgiving menu and "alimony widowers" who temporarily are not worrying about their payments, will dine on such delicacies as celery, relish, mixed pickles, salad, dressing, cranberry sauce, and pumpkin pie.

"Turkey Fly" Revived.

Hilarity was added to the festive season yesterday when an old Thanksgiving sport, the "turkey fly," was inaugurated in the arena of the Chicago Riding club, Ontario street and McClurg court, by Restauranteer John P. Harding. Twenty-five turkeys were released and the contestants who were lucky enough to catch them got to take them home.

Following a custom the pupils of the Western Springs public schools visited the Little Wanderer Day Nursery, bringing everything needed for a Thanksgiving dinner.

To accommodate expected thousands of holiday visitors the Field Museum of Natural History will remain open from 9 a. m. until 4:30 p. m., Stephen C. Simms, director, said.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Thoughts While Scrubbing

CICERO RESIDENT HALF A CENTURY IS KILLED BY CAR

Mrs. Anna Schauck, 76 years old, 1545 South 57th avenue, Cicero, was killed last night when she was struck by the automobile of Walter Charvat, 1531 58th avenue, Cicero.

Mrs. Schauck, a resident of Cicero for nearly 50 years, was killed while trying to cross the street at 67th avenue and 16th street, Cicero. Charvat took the woman to the Frances E. Willard hospital, where sne was pronounced dead. Police held Charvat.

The death of Mrs. Schauck and three other traffic victims increased the Cook county toll since the first of the year to 1,136. The other victims:

Dale Sherman, 25 years old, an employé in a Barrington restaurant. Killed when his automobile was struck by a truck on the Northwest highway near East Main street in Barrington. The driver of the truck, Phillip McLaughlin of Kewashum, Wis., was held for the inquest.

Mrs. Anna Stolz, 75 years old, 4943 West Monroe street. Died in the Garfield Park hospital of injuries incurred when she was struck by an automobile Oct. 10 at Washington boulevard and North Lavergne avenue.

Peter Knaull, 60 years old, 6236 Wentworth avenue, a machinist. Died in the St. Bernard's hospital of injuries incurred when he was struck by an automobile yesterday at South Halsted and West 15th streets.

Col. George W. French, Iowa Steel Magnate, Dies

Davenport, Ia., Nov. 27.—(AP)—Col. George Watson French, 76, a founder of the extensive steel and car wheel industries of the Tri-Cities and one of the outstanding industrial figures in Iowa, died of heart disease here late today. Surviving are his widow; a son, G. Decker French; four grandchildren, and one great-grandchild. He was a brother of the late Alice French, known as a writer under the pen name of Octave Thanet.

Dr. William G. Thayer, Noted Educator, Dead

Boston, Mass., Nov. 27.—[Special.]—Dr. William Greenough Thayer, who for 36 years was head master of St. Mark's school, Southboro, retiring in 1930, died here tonight. He was 71 years old. Dr. Thayer was one of the principal figures in private school education in America.

Geo. F. O'Shaunessy, 65, Ex-Congressman, Is Dead

Providence, R. I., Nov. 27.—(AP)—George F. O'Shaunessy, 65, former congressman from Rhode Island, died in his home here tonight.

Today's Features

[ON W-G-N.]

Quin Ryan's "66" Amateur show, a fifteen minute program at 6:45 p. m. every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday night has developed into an outstanding feature of the early evening radio broadcasts. It offers an opportunity for amateur artists to present themselves to the radio audiences, and much talent is displayed by many of those who have passed auditions and been presented. Tonight a number of these amateurs will be on the air with Mr. Ryan.

EDWARD SMITH.

Harold Stokes, the maestro of the W-G-N dance orchestra, will present a special arrangement of the theme melodies of outstanding orchestras on his program at 9:30 tonight. Tunes made famous as the signatures of Wayne King, Jan Garber, Ted Weems, Guy Lombardo, Paul Whiteman, George Olsen, Ben Bernie and Glen Gray will be played by the orchestra.

From 10:30 p. m. to 1:30 a. m. W-G-N will as usual feature fine dance music played by the orchestras of Wayne King, Jan Garber, Earl Burtnett, Ted Weems, Kay Kyser and Charlie Agnew.

Other features:

9 a. m.—Lawrence Salerno, baritone, and the W-G-N Rondoliers.

9:45 a. m.—Barbara White's Sewing Circle.

8:30 p. m.—"Lum and Abner," acted by Chester Lauck and Norris "Tuffy" Goff.

10:15 p. m.—"The Dream Ship"; fifteen minutes of restful music with the W-G-N concert orchestra, directed by Henry Weber.

MISS BRIGHAM DIES; ONCE AID TO BANKER HARRIS

Miss Florence Brigham, for years confidential secretary to the late N. W. Harris, founder of the Harris Trust and Savings bank, and an employé of the bank for 38 years, died suddenly of apoplexy yesterday in her room in the Hotel Hyde Park. She was 67 years old.

Miss Brigham came to be regarded as a woman of exceptional business ability, it was said at the bank. She at one time was head of the confidential department, which became the bond record department. She was first employed in 1896, when the firm was known as the N. W. Harris Co.

A brother, Ernest S. Brigham of Kansas City, was on his way to Chicago last night to take charge of the body, which was taken to undertaking parlors at 5203 Lake Park avenue.

Johan Johansen, St. Louis Shoe Manufacturer, Dies

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 27.—(AP)—Johan Johansen, 33, chairman of the board of directors of the Johansen Brothers Shoe company, and one of the pioneer shoe manufacturers of St. Louis, died today of pneumonia.

R. D. M'GREGOR, RETIRED LAKE CAPTAIN, DIES

Former Lake Capt. Robert D. McGregor, 55 years old, died at his home at 815 South Claremont avenue yesterday after an illness of several years.

Capt. McGregor began as an apprentice seaman under his late father, Capt. Frank McGregor, who was known up and down the lakes as the "fighting captain." The younger McGregor retired about fifteen years ago because of an injury to his spine.

He is survived by his mother, Margaret, 76 years old, and a brother, George. Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at 2 p. m. at the chapel at 214 South Western avenue.

Police Sergt. Sullivan Found Dead in His Bed

Police Sergt. Timothy F. Sullivan, 60 years old, 1801 West Grand avenue, assigned to duty at the county jail for the last ten years, was found dead in bed yesterday morning by police from the Racine avenue station who had been notified when he failed to appear at the jail. His death was apparently caused by a heart attack. Mr. Sullivan, who had served in the department since 1906, was a bachelor.

Last Governor of Danish West Indies Dies at 74

COPENHAGEN, Nov. 27. — (AP) — Christian Helweg-Larsen, 74, last Danish governor of the Danish West Indies, now belonging to the United States as the Virgin Islands, died today. He was a friend of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, who, as assistant secretary of the navy, visited him in 1915. Larsen spent 27 years on the islands.

W. W. DARROW'S WILL PROVIDES $1,000,000 TRUST

The will of William W. Darrow leaving an estate estimated at $1,000,000 in trust to his widow, Mrs. Esther Darrow, 596 Oak street, Winnetka, and three children was admitted to probate yesterday by George B. Weiss, assistant to the probate judge. Mr. Darrow, president of the Campbell company, railway supply dealers, died on Nov. 18 in Philadelphia while on a business trip. He was 52 years old.

The following other wills were admitted to probate and filed with Clerk Mitchell C. Robin:

HENRY F. BREMER, died Sept. 1. Estate $10,000 to widow. Fred S. Bremer, son, executor.

ANDREW A. LENZ, died Aug. 29. Estate $17,000 to widow and executrix, Linda E. Lenz.

MAURICE HOFFMAN, died July 15. Estate $5,000 to sister. Northern Trust company, executor.

FUNERAL FRIDAY FOR R. J. POOLE, EX-WHOLESALER

Funeral services for Russell J. Poole, retired wholesale merchant and former food director for Chicago, will be held at 2 p. m. Friday in the chapel at 7350 Cottage Grove avenue. Burial will be in Mount Hope cemetery. Mr. Poole died Monday in his home at 8205 Rhodes avenue after a long illness. He was 55 years old.

For several years he was general storekeeper for the Illinois Central railroad. Later he became a dealer in grocery specialties and operated a restaurant. He was appointed food director to fight high living costs in 1919 and served four years in that office, after which he became first vice president of the 79th and Halsted Streets State Savings bank. Ill health forced his retirement in 1929.

He is survived by his widow, the former Anna C. Beecher of Chicago, whom he married in 1903. Two sisters, Mrs. Edith Connor and Mrs. Ella Whallon of Chicago, also survive.

C. L. Seagraves, Santa Fe Employe 48 Years, Dies

Charles L. Seagraves, 76 years old, who until a year ago was general colonization agent for the Santa Fe railroad with offices in Chicago, died Monday in Los Angeles following a long illness, it was learned here yesterday. Mr. Seagraves was an employé of the Santa Fe for 48 years. He came to Chicago as general colonization agent in 1905 and ill health caused him to move to California a year ago. Mr. Seagraves is survived by his widow, Ella M., a son, Carl L., and a daughter, Mary L., all of Los Angeles. Funeral services and burial will be in Los Angeles.

Col. Fred N. Dow, 94, Son of Pioneer Dry, Is Dead

Portland, Me., Nov. 27.—[Special.]—Col. Fred N. Dow, 94, son of Gen. Neal Dow, "the father of prohibition," himself long a prominent factor in Republican state politics, died tonight.

Col. Dow at one time was the publisher of the Portland Evening Express and Sunday Telegram. He succeeded James G. Blaine as chairman of the Republican state committee in 1876.

Ex-Nurse Dies by Gas; Note Blames Rift with Husband

Mrs. Sally Bearden, 21 years old, 222 West 63d street, a former nurse, was found dead in a gas filled room at 6058 Wentworth avenue yesterday. A letter to her husband, Elmer, head of the shipping department of the Standard Manifold company, 509 South Franklin street, indicated she committed suicide because of estrangement.

STRANGE MALADY ATTACKS U. S. AGE MICROBE HUNTER

Public Health Service Expert Is Victim.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 27.—(AP)—A mysterious new disease, unlike anything known before, ironically has struck as its first victim one of the ace "microbe hunters" of the public health service.

He is Dr. Charles Armstrong, a veteran experimenter on all kinds of diseases for almost twenty years. Now nature has picked him for an experiment of her own with a strange malady that still has the best doctors of the public health service baffled after three weeks of intensive study.

Whether Dr. Armstrong has a brand new disease or a new manifestation of one of the diseases with which he has been experimenting is a mystery so far. All kinds of diagnoses and tests have failed to reveal even a clew.

Symptom of New Disease.

He has a skin eruption that appears only on the sides of his body and is not typical of any known disease. He runs a mild temperature and at times is irrational. He is under constant observation at the Naval hospital.

Many public health service physicians and scientists in the past have contracted diseases with which they were experimenting. This has happened twice to Dr. Armstrong, who had parrot fever, or psittacosis, and dengue fever.

Since the outbreak of sleeping sickness in St. Louis last year, however, Dr. Armstrong has been working on that disease. His present illness has no apparent connection with it. Recently he discovered a new virus that seems to cause one variety of encephalitis, different from the initial virus discovered in St. Louis.

Not Experimenting with Self.

So far as is known he was not experimenting upon himself, making himself a "human guinea pig," in his sleeping sickness studies. But other public health service doctors have done this more than once in the past, sometimes without informing their colleagues.

Dr. Armstrong was one of the first to contract psittacosis in the early days of experimentation with this disease, and came near losing his life.

Dr. Armstrong joined the service in 1916. He has a wife and one child.

BY MARY MEADE.

My sympathies are with husbands—armies of grim lipped, heroic husbands who tomorrow will rise up behind their wives' plump roast fowls, and, with battle in their eyes, perform the age-old gesture of hospitality.

Despite the story of the broken but triumphant sword, no fighter gets far in a battle if he holds only blunt and rickety weapons.

The first tip is a safeguard for your sanity—so don't skip it. Just at the moment when F. W. is trying to stretch the oven to fit the bird, happen into the kitchen, and, in your most effective manner [choice of smile or glare], adjure her to avoid overcooking. Nothing will so destroy your peace of mind and the tablecloth as a bird which falls lazily off its bones just as you are about to practice your best Oxford stroke.

Item No. 2 is something we should have brought up a month ago to give you time to practice. But we didn't, so here it is for what it's worth: Birds have joints.

As for the throne for the fowl, you'll likely go right ahead and use the one big platter in the house.

Request at your elbow a heated plate to receive the pieces as you cleave them off. Usually an extra fork for serving is placed beside the pinch-hit platter. Ignore it if it bothers you.

Your wife probably will arrive with the bird before she calls in the guests. She will carefully set it before your place with the neck to the right. When she has gone out for the gravy quickly reverse the platter, pointing the neck to the left.

Place the pieces on the extra plate with their best sides up. In serving, unless you wish to run the risk of asking preferences, use Solomon's tactics and divide each serving—half and half dark meat and light. Onto the plate also goes a serving of stuffing. Gravy may be laved over each offering before it leaves you or each guest may help himself. The rule of "family go easy" applies here.

We now present the rules of the attack in tabloid. We would advise memorization. Reference to a pocketed clipping during carving is bad form.

THE MAN AND HIS BIRD.

1. To anchor the bird during carving, insert the fork firmly astride the breast bone just to the right of the high point.

2. First carving only the side nearest you, remove the leg by cutting through the skin between the body and thigh. Bend the leg back, cut smoothly through the meat to the joint then, with the tip of the knife, separate the parts of the joint. Lay the section on the platter or extra plate, skin side up. Separate the thigh from the drumstick at the joint.

3. Now remove the wing by cutting down the side of the bird to the joint—then separate the parts of the joint with the knife tip.

4. Next, beginning with the tip of the breast bone and slanting the knife along the wing joint, remove thin slices of the breast meat. Each slice deserves a piping of crisp brown skin.

5. If the entire bird is to be served, remove the leg, wing, and breast from the other side.

6. If you're a left paw, the direction of the fowl should be reversed.

And with that, gentlemen, we're going to assume that your duties of carving are over. Our opinion is that the Thanksgiving table is no place to tussle with the rest of the carcass. Buy your bird to fit the family—without taking the rack of the fowl into the picture. Anyway, what's the fun of a Thanksgiving night refrigerator raid if there's no meaty carcass to rifle? But, if you still want orders for the final dismembering, call us up and we'll confess.

So—good luck, and cheerio!

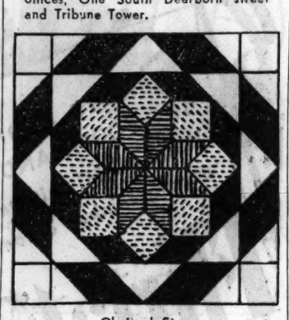
Quilt Design Is Favorite Among Star Patterns

Patterns of this quilt design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, One South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower.



Chained Star.

BY NANCY CABOT.

Natural Line of Eyebrow Is Preferable One

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

The other day a friend and I rode uptown in the street car. Two young women, around 18 years old, I should judge, were seated opposite. Neither was beautiful, outside of that compelling quality of youth, which one always loves to see. "What makes those two girls, sisters obviously, so different," my friend asked? Suddenly we found it. Their eyebrows! They weren't plucked thin. They weren't falsely tapered. They were perfectly shaped brows over large, grayish-blue eyes. Naturally good eyebrows, which the girls left alone. They weren't thick. They were simply untouched, untweezed eyebrows, with enough body to give character to the face. Nature had arched them nicely, and they'd let well enough alone.

It is funny how unconscious one becomes of plucked eyebrows and freakishly shaped eyebrows until one comes upon a pair that is naturally good of line. It's the exception rather than the rule to find, on the younger women particularly, eyebrows that haven't been tampered with. Not that all the tampered ones are bad. Sometimes, in fact, the eyebrow pencil gives shape and color to a faulty pair. Sometimes the tweezers are exactly what the overrun, thick eyebrow needs. So I'm not panning artificial aids for eyebrows that need them. What I hate to see are naturally good eyebrows converted into poor imitations of a Harlow eyebrow, let's say, or that of some other movie idol. No one's eyebrows are better than your own, if yours are good.

CONQUERING CONTRACT

By P. HAL SIMS

REBIDDING IN REPLY TO JUMP RESPONSES.

The rebidding of the various types of hands which we have discussed in the past few articles, after a response of one no trump or after a one-over-one, were concerned as much with the safety factor as with the constructive developments toward a game contract which might follow the first round of bidding. If things went wrong, our punishment would come because we were dealing with a helpless all round misfit hand or because we failed to locate the fit and played in the wrong declaration. Possibly we bid too high in endeavoring to find a fit which was not there after all. "Beware of a misfit" are the words of caution which must be kept in the forefront until satisfactory information comes to hand. The situation is different when your partner responds on the first round with any jump bid. This contains the information that there is no ultimate misfit in the two hands.

Different Words of Warning.

Substitute a different motto when you are so fortunate as to hear a jump response. Say, "I must beware of giving my partner misleading information, particularly by rebidding values already included in my opening bid. I must be careful not to make a constructive rebid when I should sign off; I must make no bid which will indicate to him how be can discard some of his losers unless this promise will almost surely materialize in the play of the hand."

When Your Partner Bids Two No Trumps.

This response on the first round is, as you know, a force to game unless your opening bid was a psychic. Though it contains less indication of slam development than a jump response in a suit, nevertheless, proper slams may be smoothly bid after this response, and the opening bidder's first rebid is usually the factor which tells the responder then and there whether there are slam possibilities or not. If the responder could visualize a slam before hearing his partner's rebid, his hand would really call for a jump bid in a suit or, more probably, three no trumps. Hands can come up where this would not be true, but I doubt if it could be said of one in twenty hands which justify this response. The exceptions are those with which you would bid three no trumps if only you had a high card in your partner's suit.

The Leeway Principle.

Remembering that the two no trump response is a leeway bid, a deliberate underbid of a trick in order that opener may have the opportunity to make a constructive rebid without thereby taking the contract beyond three no trumps, make rich use of this opportunity. Do not waste it or transform it from a privilege into a trap. With a hand of the short suited type, as you bid a spade. Your partner says two no trumps. Bid three no trumps—a signoff. You have no immediate reserve values—three and a half primary tricks plus some jacks, with no long suit to work with. If your partner should now make a further move, you could respond constructively, as your hand is in no way shaded, and you have some jacks and finessing combinations to help in the play of a high no trump contract. The slam invitation, however, must come from your partner after you have first signed off. You have absolutely no right to invite it by bidding three diamonds. This second little suit of yours is included in your opening bid—it will not eliminate losers from your partner's hand as far as you know. He is counting on you for some high cards outside your spade suit; do not bid them twice—once in your opening bid and again by making a constructive response when you should sign off. If, despite your signoff, your partner rebids his hand, now on your next response you will not mislead him when you say "Since you see slam hopes despite my first signoff, go ahead. My hand contains all the values implied by my bidding so far, plus some slight fillers which will help you in the play. I am sorry I did not have four primary tricks, otherwise I could have bid four no trumps for you on the previous round. You know, of course, that I have no five card suit on which you could throw losers, and with which you could squeeze, pseudo-squeeze, or even embarrass the adversaries." I would, however, say this by a raise in no trumps [one spade, two no trumps, four no trumps, five no trumps], not by belatedly bidding diamonds. A four card suit must be as good as A K J x or A Q J x to be bid as part of a slam try with the bidding up to this point as given above.

Sp.—A K J x Di.—A J x x
Ht.—K 10 9 Cl.—J x

THE SECOND QUESTION A DOCTOR ASKS . . . .

Here is some information that has relieved whole families from Constipation

When anyone is "out of sorts" the doctor's first question is about the bowels. And the second, what is being taken to help them. Doctors use laxatives, and expect you to use them. But they prefer a liquid laxative. Do you know why?

Doctors and hospitals use liquid laxatives because they've seen the damage sometimes done by highly concentrated drugs in the form of pills or tablets! They know that a properly made liquid laxative containing senna (a natural laxative) does not do this harm. And they use liquid laxatives to relieve the bowels, because the dose can be easily regulated.

What to Use

There is a preparation of fine herbs, pure pepsin, cascara, and senna which does away with all need of harsh cathartics. The active senna in Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is laxative enough for any adult, mild enough for any child. And there are other valuable ingredients in this delightful syrup.

Syrup Pepsin will usually relieve a case of constipation overnight. If a further dose is necessary, you give a smaller dose, each time less, until the bowels are moving regularly and thoroughly without any help at all!

If you have a youngster who doesn't eat, doesn't gain, gets upset and bilious no matter how careful you are about the diet—don't resort to strong cathartics which may only make matters worse.

My husband, who is a druggist, first recommended Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin to me. It has always helped me and made me feel better. I have used it as a laxative for the entire family for 22 years.
Mrs. M. McMaster, Peoria, Ill.

Make this Test!

If you are "not yourself" because of a constipated condition, don't blame it on your blood condition, or your age. Try the help of Syrup Pepsin until you are relieved and nature restores your regularity.

When your bowels continue then to move regularly, comfortably, and completely every day—you'll know why most doctors favor a liquid laxative like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

announce the opening
BEAUTY SALON
at 62 East Monroe

A most popular spot at the World's Fair was Daggett & Ramsdell's Beauty Salon . . . and many were the regrets when the Exposition ended. Since then we have received so many inquiries asking where this same sort of individual expert beauty advice might be had that we are opening today a permanent institution in Chicago.

The purpose of our new Salon is to show by actual demonstration the proper use of the Daggett & Ramsdell beauty preparations according to the varying needs of individual women.

The Forgotten Honeymoon

BY ROY VICKERS

SYNOPSIS.

Rhoda Cornboise's engagement to Maj. Ralph Stornack is arranged by her ambitious mother. Rhoda is in love with Colin Briarley, who is serving sentence unjustly for the murder of a Canadian solicitor in a London night club. Chief witness against Colin was Maj. Stornack, who was the solicitor's host. Rhoda met Stornack when he called to express his regret for the testimony he had to give at her lover's trial. Jack Caermaen, an old pal of Colin's, is his warder. Caermaen takes Colin's place as prisoner, allowing Colin to use his week's vacation. Rhoda elopes with Colin on the eve of her marriage to Stornack. They spend a brief honeymoon. Then Colin returns to prison. Rhoda returns home and feigns a lapse of memory. Her mother besieges her to marry Stornack, who is still willing. He and his confederates know she has inherited the fortune of a Canadian relative. The solicitor had come to London to tell her of it. Stornack calls on Caermaen and they quarrel. Jack suspects Stornack of the crime for which Colin was convicted. Rhoda, who is expecting a baby, leaves home and stays with friends of Caermaen, the Rawlings, in London. Her mother follows with a court order, placing Rhoda under her charge. Caermaen has his solicitor, Jarroman, start a private investigation. Mrs. Cornboise takes Rhoda to France, where her son is born. The baby is left there when they return to London. Caermaen arranges to get Colin out of prison again for a few days. Rhoda flies with Colin to see their son. Her mother is at the aerodrome when they return and sees Colin. Her fear of scandal keeps her from turning him over to the police. Colin goes back to prison. Mrs. Cornboise arranges a visit to the prison to see Colin. There she meets Caermaen and penetrates the mystery of Colin's excursions from jail.

INSTALMENT XXXIII.

FORCED TO SUBMISSION.

"I'll give you one last chance to be sensible," said Mrs. Cornboise. "If you throw it away I shall tell all I know—and Capt. Caermaen can give up all hope of a career and become a convict himself."

"But I won't throw it away. If you give me a chance I shall take it—whatever it is."

"Very well! I will say nothing whatever to anybody for—six weeks. Marry Maj. Stornack in that time—and I swear to you that my lips will remain sealed."

The two women were very close together. It was almost as if they were engaged in a physical struggle. Rhoda gave back, crouching with one hand on the dressing table.

As yet she could hardly realize what her mother was offering.

"I—I don't understand," she faltered.

"Yes you do," asserted Mrs. Cornboise. "I don't want any evasions. If you don't marry Stornack within six weeks I shall just tell what I know.

"But it's impossible, mother—— "

"So much the worse for Capt. Caermaen!" snapped Mrs. Cornboise. "If you don't care to accept what I suppose you call my terms I shall go straight downstairs and write to the home office."

"But do be reasonable, mother, and listen—— "

"I don't want any excuses. I don't want any explanations." Mrs. Cornboise moved toward the door. "You're very clever at inventing excuses and finding reasons why it's quite impossible to do what you don't want to do. And once you've set your mind to it you could make anybody believe anything—look at that lapse of memory!"

"Don't go yet!" cried Rhoda. 'I've something to say—— "

"I—I don't understand," she faltered.

"There's only one word you can say to which I will listen," said Mrs. Cornboise, her hand on the door. "You can say 'yes'—or you can say 'no.'"

Rhoda made a gesture of despair. Of course she need not really say 'yes' or 'no.' She had only to blurt out that she was married already.

She looked at the still beautiful but hard face of her mother and in it could see no mercy. To cry out the truth would make her mother ridiculous. And could there be the slightest doubt that she would vent her anger and frustration by crushing Jack Caermaen.

Six weeks! Six weeks was quite a long time. All sorts of things might happen in six weeks. Jarroman might have obtained proof of Colin's innocence.

"Well Rhoda?"

"Of course I must do what you wish, mother!"

Mrs. Cornboise heaved a sigh of relief.

"That's a good thing!" she exclaimed. "If you only knew how I hate all this intrigue and quarreling! But you have created it all and I have to take advantage of it. There's not only you to be considered in all this—there's your father as well. If we were reduced to downright poverty I daresay I could make the best of it myself but your father would not be able to go on with his work. All those clever scientific books don't bring him in fifty pounds a year."

"You're making me do this and yet you know I don't love him."

"Love!" echoed Mrs. Cornboise with profound scorn. "You must try to get rid of that romantic nonsense. That sort of thing doesn't last."

Even at that moment Rhoda could smile. She and Colin knew better. They both knew that love would last—that, if necessary, it would live on its own memories for twenty years.

"Besides," continued Mrs. Cornboise, "hasn't it occurred to you, Rhoda, that sometimes one ought to think a little bit of others besides oneself? I have spoken of your father. I have not spoken of your child. You seemed to be very upset when he was taken away from you. But now you seem to have forgotten him!"

Rhoda looked at her in genuine bewilderment.

"Ralph Stornack has plenty of money and he will make you a generous allowance. You will be able to do more for him than your father and I could ever have managed. If you are clever you will be able to put a good deal of money aside without his noticing it."

It was Rhoda's turn now to be scornful.

"I see. I tell him nothing about my baby. I cheat him over that. And I wheedle out of him a huge dress allowance pretending that I want to look nice for him."

"Don't be a ninny!" snapped Mrs. Cornboise. "You talk like a schoolgirl. You're old enough now to realize that men expect women to cheat. At least, they don't admit it to themselves, but that's what it amounts to. Nine times out of ten they have the money, which means the power. If you're nice to a man—and, of course, faithful to him—and look after his affairs as well as you can—if he's got any sense he doesn't want to know any more. And provided you are never unfaithful you can do very much what you like with him, if you're reasonably clever."

"Lie, cheat, swindle—that is my mother's advice to me!" she said, half aloud. "And all my life I have thought of her as upright and honorable."

Then, with the clear honesty that was a part of her nature, Rhoda accused herself of being a humbug.

"I'm just as bad as mother. I've pretended to agree to marry Ralph Stornack in six weeks—when I haven't the least intention of doing so. And I shall pretend to him, too. I shall lie and cheat and swindle."

And with it all she had gained—what? A delay of six weeks. Well, that was something! She would at least get the utmost value out of her meager winnings.

She went to the writing table, with which every bedroom in the hotel was supplied. She would write to Jack Caermaen to reassure him.

"Dear Jack, I think you will have guessed that my mother now knows nearly all there is to know. I expect you are very worried as to what may happen, so I am writing at once to tell you——

Rhoda paused. What exactly was she writing to tell him That she had obtain a reprieve of six weeks, at the end of which time he would be called upon to sacrifice his career and go to prison as a penalty for have helped her and Colin.

She could not write to Jack like that. If friendship and honor meant anything there was only one way in which she could write to him.

—that there is no danger. I have talked it out with my mother and come to terms with her. In a word, Jack, I have fixed it, and you can put out of your head all fear of unpleasant consequences as a result of what you have done for us. With everlasting gratitude—Rhoda."

She blotted the page, then quickly put it in an envelope and sealed it down. And then it was as if instinct drove her to hurry out of the room and post the letter without giving herself time to think.

It was not until the letter dropped into the pillar box that she let herself face the facts. She had given Jack Caermaen a definite pledge that he was in no danger from her mother.

"I had to—I had to!" she gasped, defending herself at the bar of her own conscience. "As long as Colin and I are both alive we must do anything rather than let Jack down."

Beauty Answers

Height Often Is Asset.

M. L. S.: You don't want to feel sensitive about your height. The chances are that you won't grow any taller. It may help you to know that most of the girls used as models are at least as tall as you are.

Permanent Basis of Coiffure.

L. P. B.: You may look upon a permanent wave as the foundation for a smart hairdress. It is necessary that you have the wave set after each shampoo unless you are adept along those lines.

Bachelors and Benedicks to Dance Tonight

Annual Ball Will Be Held at Palmer House.

The first performance is to be the night after Christmas under the sponsorship of the Woman's Trade Union league. Among the tea guests will be the members of an ushers' committee that has Miss Jean Wilhelm for its chairman.

Members of the Arts club and their guests will hear Aaron Copland give an illustrated analysis of his new ballet "Hear Ye; Hear Ye;" this morning at 11 o'clock. The ballet is on the all-ballet program of the Chicago Grand Opera company Friday night of this week.

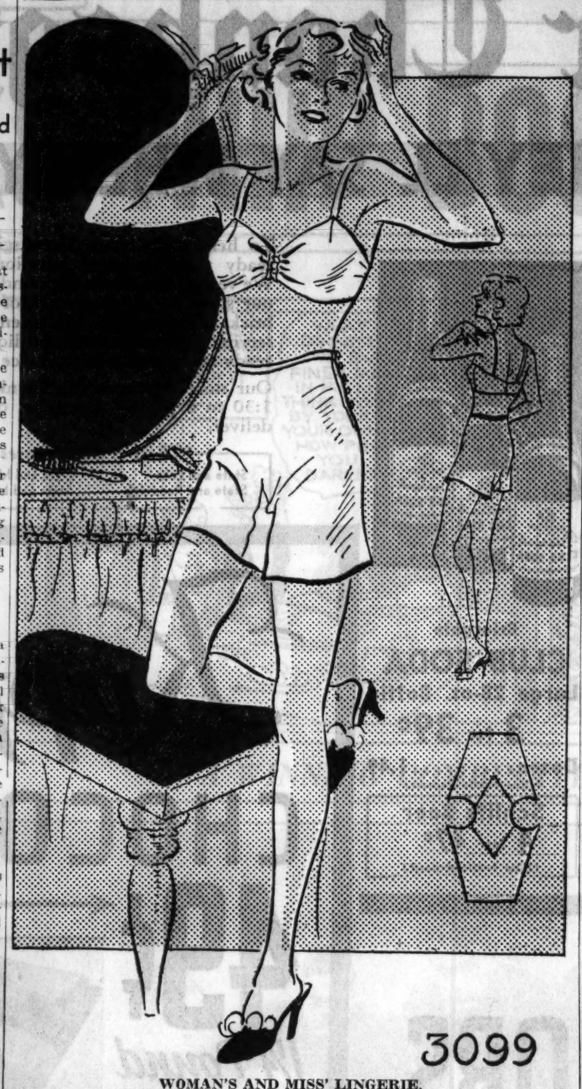
Opera Program This Morning.

The fourth of the intimate opera mornings, a series of studies sponsored by a group of opera enthusiasts headed by Mrs. Ernest R. Graham, will be held this morning at 11:30 o'clock in the ballroom of the Blackstone hotel. Edith Harris will be the opera star guest and will talk on her interpretation of the leading rôle in Wagner's "Die Walkure," the work to be studied. Miss Edna Kellogg will present a tabloid version of the opera, accompanied on the piano by Frederic Persson.

Mrs. John R. Winterbotham Jr., Mrs. Byron S. Harvey, Mrs. E. Harris Brewer, Miss Eleanor Holden, Mrs. Walter Paepcke, Mrs. James M. Hopkins, Mrs. Charles H. Chadwick, and Mrs. Ballard Moore are some of the women who will attend the luncheon and showing of Victor Stiebel's collection of clothes that the fashion group is giving today at the Casino. Mr. Stiebel is a young English designer who has dressed some of the best looking women in England and on the continent.

The grand ballroom of the Palmer house will be gay tonight with the annual benefit supper dance of the Misericordia Hospital and Infants' home. Mrs. Raymond P. Tennes, chairman, and Mrs. Joseph P. Savage are in charge of reservations.

Perfect Under Clinging Gown



WOMAN'S AND MISS' LINGERIE.

Here is ideally shaped lingerie that will be just the thing to wear under your slim line frocks. Both brassiere and panties are easy to cut and make, and they require the minimum of material. Crêpe de chine, flat silk crêpe, washable satin, and satin crêpe are lovely materials for lingerie.

The pattern, No. 3099, comes in sizes 14, 16, and 18 years, and 34, 36, 38, and 40 inches bust measure.

Perhaps you would be surprised, and maybe you wouldn't, at the large number of persons who ask whether they would be successful in a literary career. Often the handwriting shows a true artistic love of literature without showing actual creative talent. Almost all writers of a small, well spaced writing are literary, at least so far as appreciation of literature is concerned.

Noted authors who write an extremely large hand are few and far between. Invariably they are well known lecturers as well as writers unless the handwriting is small in size.

Expect to find intelligence and imagination expressed in many ways. The small t crossings are high on the stem of the t. Many letters may be formed in an unusual, original way. Words may be somewhat illegible if the writer is one who works by rapid inspiration.

The Greek d, made with no downward stroke, is found in the handwriting of the most artistic writers who compose with precise attention to style and form. John Galsworthy, for instance, always used this unusual d. So did Abraham Lincoln, whose words of wisdom are jewels of instinctively precise composition.

Here is the handwriting of an author you know, at least by name. It follows all the rules of creative literary talent as shown in handwriting. The letters are unusually small, the words are frequently broken by "intuition," the formations are often orginal and the "literary d" is outstanding in its frequency. The writing is also rapid and somewhat aggressive, indicating a keen, swift mind.

Good Morning!

Well, here's where we go aboard ship again!

"Student Tour" takes you on a liner peopled with students—and a lot of pretty co-eds . . . who are on a world cruise. . . . Chief object of the cruise is a prospective race for the world championship between the Bartlett university boat crew and that of an English college.

All sorts of things transpire, of course, on sea and at ports of call. Love interest centers around a caterpillar of a co-ed who loves the handsome captain of the crew. She turns into a butterfly by the end of the picture—so that's all right.

Humor is injected by Charles Butterworth as a professor of philosophy who accompanies the boys and girls to coach them during the voyage, and by Jimmy Durante as the trainer.

This is light-hearted entertainment, incredible as to story, but zestfully acted, and distinguished by several catchy tunes. I liked "From Now On" best.

See you tomorrow!

Child's Fear of Daily Bath Can Be Overcome

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

What a long time since we've written about the Bath Fear! We put it in capitals because it looms so large to the baby who has it.

For the fear that today's article describes there are a number of causes.

Among the first is anything that has to do with the feeling of insecurity—for loss of support is one of the few things that arouses signs of fear in a baby.

Many babies are frightened by the noise of rushing water, especially when there is high pressure in the supply.

Rough handling, scolding while in the bath, soap in the eyes, getting an accidental ducking, or some unpleasant occurence which is associated with the bath are some of the other origins of the fear.

Though fear cannot always be prevented, the quick-witted mother can, if her baby is old enough, handle any untoward circumstance so tactfully, or so cheerfully, or even jokingly, that fear yields to laughter or interest in what she is saying or doing.

Little ducks and other water toys, and rabbit washcloths, and such devices some people find will reconcile a child to his bath after the fear has arisen.

One device is to give up the big bath tub for a time if there is real terror and buy a small portable tub. Another device is to let the child bathe in only a few inches of water.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

During those devastatingly hectic days that precede Christmas, when you shop like mad from morning until night and get completely exhausted every hour, on the hour hie yourself to a haven we found down in the loop the other day. There in a beautiful room with mahogany walls [and how good they look to eye wearied of art moderne!] and inviting Chippendale davenport and chairs, you can rest your weary frame, perhaps smoke a cigaret—and look at and learn about some cosmetics.

Upstairs, in smart black and white booths, all fitted up with indirect lighting, huge mirrors and chromium and black chairs, makeups are given to those who fulfill the purchasing requirements either in this charming salon or in some other shops, but the attractive downstairs room is available to every one.

You can do leisurely shopping for beauty gifts there, too. Look, in particular, at the attractive little white flexible kit tied in dashing red ribbon. It's tiny and attractive, and it holds a flock of things for skin care and makeup that any woman would like to own. Those feminine friends who travel about will love it because it takes up such miraculously small space in an overnight bag.

In it are special traveling sizes of cleansing, tissue, and protective cream; face powder, skin tonic, finishing lotion, lipstick, eyebrow pencil, rouge, and even eye shadow. The makeup items can be chosen with an eye to the recipient's type.

This little kit is amazingly inexpensive but a most swanky Christmas gift. There are other beauty cases, too, varying in price and in elegance that are well worth listing in your little book when you start the mad whirl of shopping.

HAWKS WHIP BOSTON, 3-2, FOR HOCKY LEAD

INGRAM GIVES UP CALIFORNIA COACHING POST

Stub Allison Named Successor.

Berkeley, Cal., Nov. 27.—(AP)—William [Navy Bill] Ingram resigned tonight as head football coach of the University of California and Leonard [Stub] Allison, Ingram's first assistant, was named to succeed him.

Ingram's resignation was presented at a special meeting of the executive committee of the Associated Students and was accepted immediately. Allison was then named head coach.

The retiring coach, who came to California in 1931, gave as his reason for resigning his desire to enter "private business life."

"It has been a difficult problem for me to make a final decision on," read the resignation. "But the time is near when such a decision is imperative and I have decided there is only one course which I can take with due regard to my responsibilties in life."

Assisted Gil Dobie.

Ingram entered the coaching field as coach of the Pacific fleet team after starring as quarter back at Annapolis. He was assistant to Gil Dobie at the Naval academy for one season.

He was head coach at the University of Indiana in 1923 and at William and Mary before going to the naval academy where he had charge of football from 1926 to 1930.

Ingram was recommended to the University of California by the late Knute Rockne of Notre Dame. He succeeded C. M. [Nibs] Price in the spring of 1931. His team that fall won eight games and lost two to finish second in the coast conference. The record included a victory over Stanford, California's first in seven years.

In 1932 the Bears won 7, lost 3, and tied 2; last season they won 6, lost 3, and tied 2 and this year won 6 and lost 4.

At the start of the present season, California generally was rated the team to beat for the conference title. Injuries shelved two star players at start of the schedule, however, and California met unexpected defeats and disappointments.

Ingram Cracks Down.

By midseason Ingram began to hear complaints from alumni and undergraduates. At a club meeting in Oakland, he cracked down on his critics, placing much of the blame on a "lack of coöperation" on the part of the student body.

California started a comeback during the absence of its coach while he was in Jeffersonville, Ind., attending the funeral of his mother. It beat University of Southern California, 7 to 2, after having previously lost to Washington and Santa Clara. Following the victory over U. S. C., the Bears trounced Idaho, 45 to 13, and the tenseness over the coaching situation lessened noticeably.

As four to one short-enders in the game with Stanford last Saturday, the Bears won the applause of followers by losing 9 to 7. It generally was felt then, Ingram would be back next year.

Ingram is 37 years old. His brother Jonas, formerly director of athletics at the Naval academy, now is commanding officer of the U. S. S. Pennsylvania. Ingram attended high school in both Louisville, Ky., and Jeffersonville.

ATHLETES TAKE UP DANCING TO HELP FOOT WORK

Toledo, O., Nov. 27.—(AP)—University of Toledo athletes are going to try to dance their way to success on the football field and the basketball court.

In a tap dancing class opened yesterday under the supervision of Mrs. Marion Richley, director of physical education for women, sixty-five men and only fifteen women were enrolled.

Five members of the football team Charles Schlaff, Orin Neff, Louis Bolton, Louis Disalle, and John Wichter and several basketball players will take the course.

Andy Vanyo, line coach of the Toledo team, who is assisting with the class, advocated dancing for the athletes. He says it is one of the best methods of learning coördination and footwork.

Gardner Stops Quintero in 6th; Foe Breaks Collarbone

St. Petersburg, Fla., Nov. 27.—(AP)—Manuel Quintero, Tampa, former contender for the world welterweight boxing title, lost to Jimmy Gardner, New York, by a technical knockout at the end of six rounds tonight. Gardner knocked Quintero out of the ring in the third. It was discovered at the end of the sixth the Tampa fighter had suffered a broken collar bone when he struck the concrete floor.

Albert Mamaux Named Manager of Albany Club

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 27.—(AP)—Albert Leon Mamaux, former pitcher for Brooklyn and Pittsburgh in the National league and more recently manager of the Newark club, has been named manager of the Albany club of the International league, Joseph Carl Cambria, owner of the Senators, announced tonight.

The back field of the Leo football team, which holds the Catholic High School league championship. Left to right: Bud Mulcahy, quarter back; Bill Hinckley, right half back; Art Heil, full back, and Hal Bowen, left half back. They will carry the ball for Leo in Saturday's charity game with Lindblom, champion of the City Public School league. The teams will meet at Soldiers' field.

Rangers Are Beaten, 3 to 2, by Canadiens

New York, Nov. 27.—(AP)—The Montreal Canadiens scored their first victory of the National Hocky league season tonight, defeating the New York Rangers, 3 and 2.

The Canadiens played superb defensive hocky at times to earn the decision, but they also had luck with them when it came to scoring. The winning goal, scored early in the second period, came as a gift from Earl Seibert, Ranger defense player, who deflected the puck into his own net with his skate. Al Mondou passed the disc out from behind the net and it bounced off Seibert's blade past the surprised goalie.

Bun Cook and Murdoch collected the first goal on a snappy rebound play, only to have the Rangers drop behind before the first period ended on some new passing by the rookies, Nels Crutchfield and Jack McGill, and by Jack Riley, Mondou, and Joe Lamb who formed the most effective Canadien line. After Mondou's gift goal Frank Boucher put the Rangers back into the fight.

Indiana Celebrates Without Coach; He's Father of Son

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 27.—[Special.]—Students and townspeople tonight conducted a hilarious celebration of the University of Indiana's recent football victory over Purdue. But Coach Bo McMillin, who might have been expected to be a central character in the festivities, was absent. While the celebration was at its height, McMillin was at the Bloomington hospital. His wife tonight gave birth to an eight pound boy. The McMillins now have four children—two boys and two girls.

In the Wake of the News

WAKE LETTER BOX.

DEAR WAKE: In my perusal of various sport sheets I never have thought Minnesota football, present players and alumni, received full credit for their ability. It seems they are Vikings or Norskis or perhaps "Thundering Herd." Well, I'd be just as proud to be Swedish or Norwegian as Scotch, but Gophers have not a majority of those races. In fact, I know of only two regulars, Pug Lund and Butch Larson, who are of Scandinavian descent.

Bernie Bierman, Minnesota coach.
Clark Shaughnessy, Chicago coach.
Ossie Solem, Iowa coach.
Tex Cox, Tulane coach.
Gilmour Dobie, Cornell coach.
Earl Martineau, assistant Princeton coach.

Then there are Bronko Nagurski and Jack Manders if you care to go into the pro ranks. Also where did Fritz Crisler, now at Princeton, and Doc Spears, now at Wisconsin, gain their coaching reputations?

L. Cameron McLachlin.

How can that Rose Bowl invitation go other than to that Crimson Tide of Alabama? And what can Stanford do against Alabama, which has scored 253 points to the opposition's 32 to date?

Here's a smart, alert, fast team. It has gained 2,836 yards again 976; completed 52 of 111 passes for 779 yards, while the opposition was completing 35 of 121 for 587 yards. 'Bama has rushed 2,057 yards, while the Red forward wall has yielded only 389. First downs: Alabama, 124; opponents, 53.

And watch this Millard [Dixie] Howell and End Don Hutson at Pasadena.

Travis K. Hedrick.

Could a coach be blamed for having the jitters if he had to direct this combination:

Ends, Null of Wisconsin and Bragg of Cornell; tackles, Mourning of McKendree and Nutter of St. Joseph's; guards, Guffee of Vanderbilt and Staller of Butler; center, Layman of Butler; backs, Gass of Albright, Dyer of Lake Forest, Falter of Kalamazoo, and Nott of Detroit.

Sing Sing Will Clear $5,000 on Football Season

Ossining, N. Y., Nov. 27.—[Special.]—Gate receipts for the eleven games played by Sing Sing's football team will give the prison's mutual welfare league a net profit of about $5,000 for the season, which closed Saturday, Warden Lewis E. Lawes announced today.

LINDBLOM BACKS HARD TO CHECK, LEO MAY LEARN

Stopping Dubsky, Juska Is a Problem.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Mr. Robert Woodworth, the gifted publicity counselor of Purdue university, once christened Duane Purvis and Jim Carter, the Boilermakers' best backs, the touchdown twins, and they duly became famed as such up and down the playing fields of the western conference. But to the students who attend Lindblom High school out on the southwest side of town, they are just a couple of football players, for the Lindblom rooters are certain that they have the original touchdown twins in two young men named Joe Dubsky and Tony Juska.

What is more, they expect to see the title justified Saturday afternoon at Soldiers' field when Lindblom, as holder of the Chicago Public High School league championship, battles Leo, the Catholic league title winner for this season, in a charity game sponsored by Mayor Kelly. Probably the largest bloc in the expected crowd of more than 50,000 will be composed of Lindblom fans who will be out hollering for Joseph and Anthony to dash off with the interleague crown.

Some of Dubsky's Exploits.

None will argue against the contention that Dubsky and Juska were the major offensive weapons of a team which started out as a comparatively green organization, hampered by injuries in the early part of its season, which went on to win a well deserved championship from nigh onto three dozen of the toughest competitors in high school football anywhere.

Dubsky, a 17 year old of Lithuanian extraction, is credited with the outstanding solo dash of the season. What is more, he didn't make it in any practice contest, but saved it for a spot where it counted—the all-important battle with Englewood, which clinched the central section title for Lindblom. On this particular achievement, Joe took a kickoff and proceeded 95 yards down the field for a touchdown. Then he returned in the league title game with Fenger, and sprinted half the length of the field for a touchdown, and after the play had been recalled, did it again to score.

Juska's Blocking Counts.

Juska, Lindblom's full back, finished just a trifle behind his speedy colleague in the season's scoring. It was the blocking of this 175 pound senior which paved the way for a majority of Lindblom touchdowns.

It still requires eleven players to constitute a football team, however, and Tony and Joe would be the last to say that their nine partners and understudies didn't do just as much as themselves to earn a place in the big game Saturday. In the back field with them are two very handy parties, Ted Hennis, a quarter back who knows the answers without looking in the back of the book, and Clyde Mills, a 145 pounder who shares the half back job with Dubsky.

Bird Is Defensive Star.

Heading the forward wall is Capt. Harry Bird, a 165 pound guard who is the key man of the south siders' defense. At the other guard is Walter Maurovich, while the tackle positions are attended to by Anton Bejcek and Walter Zemeck. William Schaumann, the heaviest man on the squad at 257 pounds, is the center operative, with Joe Kacleckas and Melvin Mathis at the ends.

The proceeds from Saturday's game, which is a major portion of Chicago's Own Christmas fund, will be used to buy warm clothing for the city's underprivileged children. Reserved seats for the general public are $1. The kickoff will be at 1:30 p. m.

Princeton Football Team Elects Constable Captain

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 27.—[Special.]—Pepper Constable of Baltimore, Md., today was elected captain of the 1935 Princeton football team at a meeting of the letter men. He has been the regular Tiger full back for the last two seasons. Constable, who is an able ball carrier and one of the finest defensive full backs in the east, is the first Princeton backfield man to be chosen captain since 1922, when Ralph C. Gilroy of Hudson, Mass., a half back, was named leader of the eleven.

N. U., Purdue and Michigan Pick Most Valuable Players

Ed Whalen, Spirited Guard, Choice of Wildcats.

Honor Roll

FIVE Big Ten football teams have named their most valuable players. They are:

Duane Purvis, Purdue, half back.
Ed Whalen, Northwestern, guard.
Les Lindberg, Illinois, half back.
Milt Kummer, Wisconsin, guard.
Gerald Ford, Michigan, center.

Ed [Rip] Whalen, for three years a regular guard on Northwestern's football team, was chosen yesterday as the most valuable member of the 1934 eleven in THE TRIBUNE poll to determine the most valuable player to his team in the Big Ten.

Whalen is a Chicago boy, having prepped at St. Patrick's High school, where he played on the football and basketball teams. While not a player who rose to prominence through spectacular achievements, he has been a steady, reliable performer in the Wildcat front line ever since his sophomore days.

Throughout the present season Whalen has been regarded by players and coaches alike as the sparkplug of the team. When the team's morale was at low ebb following the Ohio State defeat, Whalen spurred the players on by his own high spirit. With Capt. Al Kawal out with injuries, Whalen was appointed acting captain, and led the team to its first Big Ten victory of the season by defeating Wisconsin, 7 to 0.

Whalen has the distinction that comes to few linemen, that of scoring a touchdown. In the Iowa game two years ago he intercepted one of Joe Laws' forward passes and ran 75 yards for a touchdown.

For three years he paired with Al Kawal in giving the Wildcats a strong combination at the guard positions. He had a reputation of being one of the best blockers on the team, in addition to being an excellent defensive player.

It was through his qualities of leadership as well as playing ability that his value to the team was measured, however. Voluble and witty, he would double up the players with laughter on numerous occasions, usually when the going was toughest. This did much to cheer up the Wildcats and place them on the comeback trail which culminated in their 13 to 6 victory over Michigan in the season's final game.

Boilermakers Name Purvis; Wolverines Choose Ford.

Ohio's Captain

COLUMBUS O., Nov. 27.—(AP)—Gomer Jones, 207 pound junior from Cleveland who plays center, tonight was elected 1935 captain of the Ohio State university football team. Jones alternated with Damon Wetzel at the center post early in the year, but clinched the post later.

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 27.—[Special.]—Duane Purvis, versatile Purdue half back, today was named the most valuable player to his team during the season just closed, and will be the Boilermakers' candidate for THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S silver football award.

Selection of Purvis was practically a foregone conclusion. An outstanding star during his sophomore and junior years who was showered with all-team honors, the husky 196 pound half back turned in his most brilliant performances during the season just closed, despite early season injuries.

Purvis is one of those football rarities who does everything well. As a ball carrier he averaged better than 4.5 yards a crack on running plays from scrimmage, and included in his runs an 80 yard touchdown gallop against Wisconsin, and a 73 yard jaunt across the goal line against Chicago.

Former Javelin Champion.

As a forward passer he had few equals, particularly on long throws on which he made full use of the right arm that made him national intercollegiate javelin champion his sophomore year. His long passes were big factors in more than one touchdown drive.

His long distance, accurate kicking was one of the bulwarks of the Purdue defense. Against Chicago he averaged approximately forty-five yards, while the following week, against Iowa, he averaged forty-seven yards.

Although chiefly known for his ball carrying, passing, and kicking, it was his blocking and defensive ability that had considerable to do with Purdue's five straight triumphs following defeats in the first two games of the season. Nothing delighted Purvis more than making a good, clean, hard tackle, and it was his effective blocking that accounted for many of the gains of his back field mates.

Name Skoronski Captain.

Ed Skoronski, husky center, from Chicgo, was elected captain of the 1935 team. After being handicapped by injuries in midseason, Skoronski returned to form in the latter part of the year and is recognized as one of the outstanding pivot men of the Big Ten.

HONORED

CENTER CHOICE OF MICHIGAN

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 27.—[Special.]—The tradition of strength at center on the Michigan football team was upheld on the players' own say so, despite the disastrous season, when the team today named Gerald Ford Jr. of Grand Rapids as its most valuable player this year. Choice of Ford wins him a white gold football fob, to be given by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, and makes him a candidate for the Big Ten's most valuable player trophy.

Ford probably would have attained

BIKE RACERS MAY INVADE JAPAN FOR 6 DAY MEETS

New York, Nov. 27.—(AP)—As soon as Babe Ruth and the touring major league ball players get through performing for the Japanese, the six day bicycle riders may invade the orient to introduce the islanders to insomnia.

Harry Mendel, promoting next week's semi-annual race here, announced today that Charles Hugo, Chicago theatrical agent with Nipponese experience, is negotiating for races in Tokio and Osaka, two major Japanese sports centers, for next April. The race in Tokio would be held indoors, that in Osaka outdoors under a tent.

European and American riders would have to be taken along, Mendel said, but a couple of competing Japanese teams probably could be recruited from native road racers, the only professional bike riders in Japan.

Chabot	9	9	11	—29
Thompson	4	10	6	—20

Boston, Mass., Nov. 27.—(AP)—The Chicago Blackhawks soared to the top of the National Hocky league's American division tonight by defeating the Boston Bruins, 3 to 2, for the second time in three nights.

It was a fast and bruising conflict, similar to the Sunday affair in Chicago, which the Hawks won, 4 to 0. The Hawks scored twice in the second period, when Johnny Gottselig and Louis Trudell broke through the Boston defense without assistance.

The winning tally came in the third period, after Peggy O'Neil had tied the score by netting Jack Schill's pass from behind the Chicago goal. This point was the signal for the Hawks to increase their speed. They threw five men into the attack and kept them going down until Lolo Couture forced Goalie Tiny Thompson to make a diving stop. While the Boston net minder was trying to smother the puck, Donnie McFadyen whipped it away from under him and slammed it into the empty goal.

Before the game an impressive tribute was paid to the memory of Chuck Gardiner, the goalie who guarded the nets while the Chicago club was winning its first Stanley cup. The lights were dimmed, a spotlight played upon the empty Chicago net, and, while the crowd of 10,000 stood for a minute's silence, a bugler sounded taps.

Cook Comes Close.

The best play of the scoreless first period came when Tommy Cook split Pusie and Savage, the Boston defense men, and drove a closeup shot that called for a diving stop by Goalie Thompson after fourteen minutes' play. Dit Clapper tested Goalie Chabot of the Hawks with a terrific drive from the right side, and then Paul Thompson gave his brother a similar shot. Just before the period ended Nels Stewart almost beat Chabot.

The Blackhawks opened the scoring on a freak goal after 6:03 of the second period. Eddie Shore checked Johnny Gottselig's rush and passed out to Johnny Gagnon in the center zone. Gagnon tried to hook the puck with his skate and missed. Stewart followed him down, crashed into him and the puck became free when both hit the ice. Gottselig took the rubber and skated up close to drive an angle shot into the Boston net.

A few minutes later, Louis Trudell came on with the third Hawk line, hooked the puck out of a scrimmage near the Boston blue line and drove a 20 foot shot past Goalie Thompson.

Emms Cuts Hawk Lead.

With eight minutes of the period left, Stewart got inside the Chicago defense and missed a short shot. The puck bounced out to Gottselig, who had a big lead on the pack when he sailed into Boston ice, but Tiny Thompson made a long dive to turn back his shot.

With four minutes to go, Babe Siebert rushed to the Chicago blue line, fed the puck to Stewart and the big center man relayed it to Emms. Emms' first try hit a post, but he slapped the rebound past Chabot.

At the start of the third period Chabot drew a terrific barrage and was called upon to make six difficult saves.

O'Neil Ties Score.

Art Coulter was sent off for checking Peggy O'Neil into the boards and Boston took advantage of his absence by scoring the tying goal. With the Bruins employing a five man attack, Chabot stopped several hard tries, but finally Jack Shill took a rebound, circled the Chicago net, and passed out to O'Neil, who scored.

The Hawks put on a terrific drive to pull into the lead again. They threw four men at the Bruins, and Lolo Couture burst past Shore and Siebert to pull Thompson out of his cage with a sizzling shot. The Boston goalie blocked the try, but when he attempted to smother the puck, Donnie McFadyen whisked it away and poked it into the empty cage.

The Blackhawks announced that Leroy Goldsworthy, a forward, has been sent to the London Tecumsehs, subject to recall. Goldsworthy played in the Stanley cup series last spring and has done a regular stint in seven of the games this season.

LOUIS, MASSARE TO FINISH DRILLS TODAY FOR BOUT

Victory Will Place Joe as Title Contender.

Joe Louis of Detroit and Charley Massare of Pittsburgh will finish boxing drills this afternoon at Trafton's gymnasium for their 10 round bout at the Coliseum Friday. Louis sparred six round yesterday, three each with Johnny Vorce and Willie Davies while Massare went two rounds with Ed Wills.

The fight is Louis' most important in a short but spectacular professional career during which he won his 10 engagements, eight by knockouts. As a result Joe is leaving nothing undone to get into the best possible condition. Victory will place the Detroit Negro in the spotlight as contender for the heavyweight championship held by Max Baer.

Refuse to Work in Mines.

Massare was born of Italian antecedents at Monongahela, Pa., 23 years ago. Although his father worked in the coal mines there Charley refused to do likewise and after he left high school he went to work in a steel foundry at East Monongahela. When 20 years old he got the urge to become a topnotch boxer and so went to New York. He weighed 168 pounds in his first test which he won by a knockout over Maxie Peltz.

Massare's first major trial was against Art Huttick two years later. He knocked out Huttick in the third round to become a challenger for light heavyweight honors. He followed this accomplishment with triumphs over Tony Cancela, Bob Olin, Pickles Heintz, Barney Baker, and Abe Feldman before being held to a draw by Olin in a return encounter.

After he knocked out Eddie Mader at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., July 21 of last year, Massare surprised by fighting a 10 round draw with Steve Hamas at New York Aug. 29. Then he beat Yustin Sirutis. His first embarrassment was a defeat suffered in a third contest with Olin. He refused to become discouraged, however, and in his next appearance whipped Maxie Rosenbloom. Since then he has lost to King Levinsky and beaten Eddie Simms, Steve Dudas, Larry Johnson, Hans Birkie, and Edward [Unknown] Winston. In his latest bout Charley lost a disputed decision to Al Ettore at the Stadium last Friday.

Tonelli to Meet Miller.

Ernest [Laddie] Tonelli, Marseilles, Ill., and Billy Miller, Milwaukee, have been signed to clash in the eight round semi-final at 147 pounds at the Coliseum. Bill Treest, St. Charles, Ill., light heavyweight, and Johnny Long of Hammond, Ind., are paired for six rounds and Rudy Sterbenz is matched with Danny La Marre for four.

Max Baer, heavyweight champion, and King Levinsky may be principals in a four round exhibition match at Chicago Stadium Dec. 28. . . . Al Ettore, Philadelphia heavyweight, plans an indefinite stay here. . . . Sherald Kennard, Sioux Falls, S. D., returned to the loop yesterday. . . . Harry Dublinsky, west side junior welterweight, is scheduled to open workouts today for a pending clash with Tracey Cox at Dallas, Tex., Dec. 7. . . . Tony Herrera, El Paso, Tex., 140 pounder, will be out of action for several weeks due to a dislocated hip.

Young Geno, La Salle, Ill., junior lightweight, has returned to his home after a two months' tour in California. . . . Maurice Rivkin, Chicago promoter, is expecting an heir any day now. . . . Ancil Hoffman, Champion Baer's representative, expressed the opinion Levinsky may be Max's opponent in a championship battle in June at Soldiers' field.

Dick Mastro, Golden Gloves graduate, will present the first of a series of amateur bouts at Community Recreation center on Dec. 10. . . . Mike [Little Pal] Primich, Indiana Harbor, Ind., 130 pound battler, will rest until January, when he will go on tour in the east. . . . Winfred [Moon] Mullins of Vincennes, Ind., is back in the loop. . . . Tommy Paul, Buffalo, N. Y., 126 pound boxer, is slated to commence training here today for a 10 round bout at Midway arena Monday. . . . He also is booked to encounter Tony Morgano at Hollywood, Cal., Dec. 21. F. M.

NORTH SHORE TO MEET ARTILLERY TEAM SATURDAY

Capt. W. S. Everett yesterday announced the starting lineup of the high goal 124th Field Artillery polo team that will meet Herb Lorber's North Shore trio Saturday night in the windup match of the Metropolitan Indoor Polo league inaugural. This game and a duel between the Cardinals and Lincolnshire Polo club will be staged at the 124th Field Artillery armory, Cottage Grove avenue and 52d street.

Supporting Capt. Everett, who will hold down the No. 2 post, will be Lieut. Don Rice at No. 1 and Lieut. Chris Schuh at back.

Lorber is withholding the identity of his mates on the North Shore Polo and Hunt club team.

The Lincolnshire three which will clash with the 124th Field Artillery Cardinals will be selected from among Charley Roovaart, Eddie Hirsch, Roy Nafziger and Al Bairnsfather. The Cardinals will be led into action by Capt. Romeo Mura.

MACK GARNER QUITS AS RIDER FOR SLOAN STABLE

Bowie, Mr., Nov. 27.—[Special.]—Mack Garner, who rode Cavalcade, the 3 year old champion, in all of his big races this year, has left Mrs. Isabel Dodge Sloan's Brookmeade stable, it became known today in a telegram from Columbia, S. C., where the Brookmeade string is in winter quarters. Garner and Trainer R. A. Smith were at Columbia today.

Garner is a veteran of twenty years in the saddle, although he is only in his middle thirties. He has ridden for many well known owners, including Joseph E. Widener, and has been the rider of the winner in many of the country's famous stake events.

SEES COMBINED U. S. NET TOURNEY

Tennis Head Forecasts Men's, Women's Meet.

New York, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Combination of the men's and women's national tennis tournament into an American Wimbledon next summer was forecast today by Walter Merrill Hall, president of the United States Lawn Tennis association.

The sanction and schedule committee has recommended such action, Hall said, and he thought it likely the executive committee also would view the proposal favorably when it meets in New York Dec. 8 to make plans for the national convention at Cincinnati in February.

The final decision will be up to the national meeting, but Hall said he believed there was a strong feeling in the U. S. L. T. A. that the experiment was worth a trial.

Tourney to Last Ten Days.

The proposal, according to Hall, would involve combining the national women's tourney, including singles and doubles, with the national men's singles, all to be played at Forest Hills starting the latter part of August and continuing for ten days. Formerly the women's tournament has been held separately, in the middle of August, with the men's singles in September.

It is not contemplated as yet to include the national men's mixed and veterans' doubles tournament. This tournament, formerly held annually at the Longwood club, Boston, was shifted to the Germantown Cricket club, Philadelphia, last season. Thus the American plan would not go as far as France and England do in combining all their major national championships in a single tournament, spread over a two weeks' period.

Probable Starting Date Aug. 29.

"The proposal is still in a tentative stage," Hall said, "but it probably would be held on dates including those now allotted to the men instead of on the dates for the women's earlier in August. The starting date probably would be set as Aug. 29, a Thursday, instead of Aug. 31 and would run through the entire next week.

"We have considered this matter for several years and I am of the opinion that it is at least worth a trial. There seems to be considerable sentiment for it."

Joseph W. Ivy, second vice president, in Kansas City, also expressed approval.

"I can't forecast the action of the executive committee," he said, "but personally I am favorable to the idea. It has worked out to excellent advantage to Wimbledon, although the English use the full 14 days while we plan to use only 10."

To avoid too much confusion in the early rounds it has been suggested that the men and women play on alternate days, which also would serve to give the men a day's breathing spell between possible five set matches. All such details will be worked out if and when the national meeting votes to combine the two.

DE PAUL BASKET VETERAN SHIFTED TO NEW POSITION

Coach Jim Kelly's first move in the reorganization of the squad was to shift Ray Adams, one of the two returning regulars, to a forward position. Adams performed at guard last season and was one of the outstanding members of the team. A former St. Patrick's academy star, he was accorded All-Tournament honors in the National Interscholastic meet a few years ago. Adams is six feet two inches tall and weighs 175 pounds.

Coach Kelly plans to keep the other veteran, Capt. Frank Linskey, at his old guard post, where he proved so effective last year.

Baer Entertains, Lectures and Looks for Friends

BY FRENCH LANE.

MAX BAER.

For 45 minutes Maxie autographed menus, beer labels, and the photographs of sons and daughters of assembled Baer fans.

It was after the seventh or eighth round [of drinks], so the story goes, that Maxie began looking for his hat and coat. He spied them on a nearby hook, made one lunge, and fielded them with a perfect pickup.

Once out on Clark street he remarked: "Isn't this fresh air wonderful? Whose party was that, any way?"

Maxie is supposed to be recuperating at the Great Northern from the effects of a nibble a Mexican mosquito took at his good right arm down in Mexico City about 10 days ago.

He must be well on the way to recovery, for during the afternoon he created quite a stir when he showed up at Trafton's gymnasium to see his kid brother, Buddy, go through some training licks.

"What do I care about those Mexican mosquitoes," Maxie said. "I can whip a carload of them, yes, ten carloads of them. The one that sunk his teeth into my arm slipped up on me while I was asleep."

Like the circus trouper, who yells and snorts when he gets a whiff of the sawdust ring, so did Maxie whiff and snort when he reached the gymnasium.

"And I'll be here every day for the remainder of the week, and by Friday or Saturday will do some boxing," Maxie said. "Then bring on all the mosquitoes in Mexico."

The beam tipped at 239. "All right, my fellow," said Maxie as he gave the kid brother a pat on the back. Then the world's heavyweight champion explained how Buddy had started training six months ago weighing 271 pounds.

"And, oh yes, don't forget," said Maxie, "that in the meantime Buddy has knocked six guys cold."

Crowds are not trailing the world's champion as they did Dempsey when he was the champ and for years afterwards.

It was only a year or so ago that Dempsey walked down one side of State street and Mary Pickford down the other toward a movie house where she was making personal appearances.

Half of State street trailed along close to Dempsey's heels. Pickford in her loneliness gazed across the great thoroughfare and asked a passerby what the riot was all about over on the other side.

Things don't seem to be so busy for him in Hollywood just now and he may realize there's something lacking in his popularity as a world's champion.

MACCABEES, PRO SOCCER LEADERS, PLAY TOMORROW

Several soccer games are scheduled for Thanksgiving day, the most important being the double-header at Kuppenheimer stadium, 18th street and Keeler avenue, where the Maccabees, leaders of the Professional league, will meet a team picked from the Czech league, starting at 2:30 p. m. In the preliminary game the Maccabee reserves will play the Czech reserves.

At Sparta stadium, 21st street and Kostner avenue, the Sparta Leaders will play the German All-Stars and the Lawndale Rangers will oppose the German seconds.

The Wieboldt Wonderbolts will travel to St. Louis to meet a picked team from the St. Louis Professional league.

C. Y. O. FINALISTS ATTEND BOSTON STORE BANQUET

Thirty-two Catholic Youth Organization boxers, who will compete in the finals of the annual championship tournament at the Chicago Stadium next Wednesday night, were guests of executives of the Boston store at a banquet in the store dining room last night.

Other guests included the Most Rev. Bernard J. Sheil, auxiliary bishop of Chicago, and officials who will have charge of the finals.

Kansas U.'s Krebs Returns by Plane After 35 Years

Charleston, W. Va., Nov. 27.—(AP)—Kansas university's "fantom tackle" of 1899 was headed back tonight to get that banquet he missed 35 years ago.

It was in the Kansas-Missouri game that he became famous in 1899, when he played a large part in Kansas' defense of the sectional championship. The students planned a football banquet then, with Krebs as the principal honored guest, but he disappeared.

"You see, I wasn't the green farm boy from Colorado that I was supposed to be."

Laughing over the experience, Krebs said he previously had played five years at University of West Virginia and on a professional team in Latrobe, Pa.

Krebs emphasized, "that was all right in those days. All the colleges did it. The rules were different than they are now."

The player's disappearance after the Missouri game created much mystery. He was invited this week to attend the pre-Thanksgiving celebration.

WIATER WINS IN BOUT WITH SYKES

Battaglia Stops Ogren in Sixth.

Adolph Wiater of Green Bay, Wis., and Frank Battaglia, Chicago, won the feature bouts last night at Arcadia Gardens. Wiater, weighing 190 pounds, whipped Art Sykes of Elmira, N. Y., 182½, in ten rounds. Battaglia, 160, stopped Karl Ogren of Chicago, 164, in the sixth round of the other match, also set at ten rounds.

The Battaglia-Ogren battle was nip and tuck until the fifth round, when Ogren was floored twice. The bell sounded after the second knockdown and few in the crowd of 2,123 thought he would be able to answer the bell for the sixth round.

Throw in Towel.

Shortly after the round opened he was knocked down with a right to the jaw for the count of nine, after which his seconds threw the towel into the ring.

The Sykes-Wiater fight was marred by Sykes' holding in the clinches. Even then, however, he made things interesting for his Green Bay opponent. In the ninth round a right cross closed Wiater's left eye and in the tenth Sykes suffered a cut under his right eye. Gross receipts were $2,907.

Carroll Beats Pahl.

Second Indoor Auto Card Will Be Held Tomorrow

The second indoor auto race card tomorrow night at the 124th Field Artillery armory, 52d street and Cottage Grove avenue, will bring together some of the nation's outstanding drivers. Jimmy Rogers, Lester Quade and Chud Haelnel will represent the coast. Ralph McDaniels and seven other Milwaukeeans are entered. Jimmy Snyder and Bill Rupp will represent Chicago, while Harold Shaw of Indianapolis, winner of last week's main event, also will be back.

P. G. A. Seeks to Waive Ryder Cup Residence Rule

New York, Nov. 27.—[Special.]—A magnanimous gesture whereby Henry Cotton, England's open golf champion, would become eligible for play in the Ryder cup matches next season, has been made by the United States Professional Golfers association.

George Jacobus, P. G. A. president, announced today that he had written to the British P. G. A., advocating a change in the Ryder cup rules which would make only the place of birth, rather than both birth and residence, a condition of eligibility.

Under the present rule, Cotton is ineligible because he has a job as professional at a Brussels club, and will be a nonresident of England until after the matches. The British and American teams are scheduled to meet at Ridgewood, N. J., next summer.

AMERICANS WIN AUSTRALIAN GOLF MATCHES, 8 TO 1

MELBOURNE, Nov. 27.—[Special]—An American team of professional golfers won today's six single matches to defeat an Australian team, 8 to 1, in the two days of play. The Americans won two of the three best ball four score matches yesterday.

In today's 36 hole encounters, Leo Diegel beat Rufus Steward, 8 and 7; Densmore Shute beat Lou Kelly, 5 and 4; Paul Runyan beat Sam Richardson, 7 and 5; Harry Cooper beat Fergus McMahon, 5 and 4; Ky Laffoon beat Martin Smith, 2 and 1, and Craig Wood beat Ted Naismight, 5 and 4.

RAIN, FOG FAIL TO SLOW DRILL OF NEBRASKA

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 27.—(AP)—With the Big Six title at stake against Kansas State here Thursday, the University of Nebraska football squad today ignored drizzling rain and fog and staged its regular outdoor workout.

The Cornhuskers' lineup was dealt a slight blow today by announcement that a glandular infection will keep Ladas Hubka, guard, out of the game. Otherwise the team is in fine physical condition.

HINKLE BRINGS SOME GRIEF TO TOWN FOR CARDS

They Have to Stop Him Tomorrow.

Clark Hinkle, whose 47 yard place kick defeated Detroit Friday, will lead the Green Bay Packers against the Chicago Cardinals at Wrigley field tomorrow afternoon. It will be the Cardinals' final game of the year.

Hinkle, former Bucknell university star, is rated with Bronko Nagurski of the Bears and Mike Mikulak of the Cardinals as one of the outstanding full backs in the National league. He is an exceptional punter, passer, and ball carrier.

Hinkle isn't the only Packer the Cardinals have to fear. The Green Bay back field is one of the best balanced in the league. Arnold Herber is rated by many as Harry Newman's equal in passing. He completed 9 out of 17 passes against Detroit. Joe Laws, formerly of Iowa, playing his first year of professional football, has kept up his brilliant work with the Packers. Also in the Packers' back field is Buckets Goldenberg, well known on the north side as a heavyweight wrestler.

The Cardinals will be at full strength for the Packers. Mikulak was badly shaken up in the Bears game last week, but will be available.

Tomorrow's game is the rubber in the Cardinals-Packers series this year, each holding a victory. The Packers won, 15 to 0, early in the season, but lost at Milwaukee, 9 to 0, two weeks ago.

Three More Most Valuable Players Picked

greater heights if he had been able to serve as a regular on the Michigan squad for more than one season. But he came up just a year after Chuck Bernard, the Benton Harbor giant, and he was forced to serve as understudy to Bernard for two seasons—just as Bernard served as an understudy to Maynard Morrison for one year.

Pressed by Fuog.

During the season of 1932, his first here, Ford was handicapped by injuries. Nevertheless he won his letter. Last year he again was No. 1 relief man at the pivot job and again he won his letter. There was no question of Ford's ability either year. It was simply a matter of his having to play second fiddle to a great center.

Ford took his place at the head of the list of centers this year and never once relinquished it. He was spurred on by Russell Fuog, who came up with him in 1932 and stayed just at his heels throughout the three seasons of play.

Ford was a good man both on offense and in backing up the line on defense. He played at around 198 pounds. His age is 21.

Name Renner Captain.

Bill Renner, quarter back of the 1933 team, who was kept out of action this year because of injuries, was elected today to lead the Wolverines in 1935. Renner succeeds Tom Austin, tackle.

Renner is 24 years old, weighs 160 pounds, and is 5 feet 11 inches tall. He comes from Youngstown, O., and is the fourth Ohio man to be named Michigan football captain in five years.

35 FRESHMEN GET NUMERALS AT MICHIGAN

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 27.—[Special.]—Thirty-five Michigan freshmen, 24 of them members of the regular freshman squad and the rest members of the physical education squad, have been awarded football numerals, it was announced today. They are:

Freshmen—George Babbin, Pentwater; Lawrence J. Barasas, Chicago; Frank Dutkowski, Flint; John Fisher, Iron River; Herman Fishman, Detroit; Hubert C. Fones, East Aurora, N. Y.; Stephen Fowdy, Whiting, Ind.; George D. Ghesquiere, Grosse Point; Edward Greenwald, Whiting, Ind.; Paul H. Gleye, Detroit; James Hayes, Columbus, O.; Robert H. Johnson, Youngstown, O.; Arthur W. Leadbeater Jr., Belleville, N. J.; Walter I. Lillie, Grand Haven; James Lincoln, Harbor Beach; Earl B. Ludy, Chicago; George A. Marzonie, Flint; Charles A. Murray, Butte, Mont.; Alexander F. Muzyk, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Norman J. Nickerson, Detroit; Joseph M. Rinaldi, Elkhart, Ind.; Stark Ritchie, Battle Creek; John A. Smithers, Elkhart, Ind., and Frederick C. Ziem, Pontiac.

Physical education freshmen—Robert D. Campbell, Ionia; Arthur L. Evans, Flint; Charles Gray, Wheaton, Ill.; John J. Heering Jr., Port Huron; Wesley L. Johnson, Ironwood; Merle Kremer, East Conneaut, O.; Hughbert M. Lockhart, Frankfort; Robert Schroder, Oshkosh, Wis.; George Shakarian, Dearborn; Steve Uricek, Flint, and Arthur L. Valpey Jr., Detroit.

Two Bouts Head Mat Card at Marigold Tonight

Two bouts will head the wrestling show tonight at Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street. Frank Hart will clash with Stan Buresch and George Dusette will oppose Ernie Dugan. Each match is set for one fall with a 60 minute time limit. Fred Kimball and Roy Miller are paired in a 30 minute supporting bout. Others will involve Silent Rattan and Jim Wilkins, and Buck O'Neil and Kay Hoffman.

Freighters to Play First Practice Game Dec. 7

In preparation for their Missouri Valley A. A. U. basketball schedule the reorganized Fast Freights have booked two local games next week. They battle the Old Tymers, Negro quintet, Dec. 7, at White City and the following night play the Oak Park Y. M. C. A. at Oak Park.

3 NOTRE DAME REGULARS IDLE

Battered Squad Opens Work for Trojan Game.

Notre Dame, Ind., Nov. 27.—[Special.]—A light workout was held today as Coach Elmer Layden began preparing the Notre Dame team for the Southern California game Dec. 8 at Los Angeles. George Melinkovich, Jack Robinson and John Michuta, three regulars who were injured in the Army game Saturday, did not report for practice. Melinkovich is in the infirmary with an injured knee.

The work today was mainly an introduction to the Southern California method of play, with the freshmen running plays against the varsity in dummy scrimmage.

The outlook for the Irish against the Trojans is very gloomy. Aside from the injuries to Melinkovich, Robinson and Michuta which are likely to keep them from playing, the entire team is battered and bruised to the point where it is doubtful whether they will be in the best physical condition for the Southern California game.

One thing, however, is in Notre Dame's favor: that old fire which characterized the Irish teams of former years is fairly raging. Whether this spirit will be sustained for the intervening two weeks or whether it will wane is open to debate. It is certain that the spirit reached its peak against Army.

RACE TRACK TOUT ARRESTED WITH VIAL OF HEROIN

New York, Nov. 27.—[Special.]—The racing situation at Bowie track in Baltimore may be considerably improved because Harry Popper used a bad slug in a phone booth here today.

Popper, a typical racetrack hanger-on who apparently was en route to Bowie to watch the ponies caper, was arrested in a bus terminal. En route to the police station he tried to throw away a vial of white powder. Detective Frank Crimmins recovered the vial and Popper admitted it contained heroin, which, he said, was for horses.

"But only for medicinal purposes," he said. "I'm an old race horse owner myself. I wouldn't dope a horse."

A horse and a trainer were suspended at Bowie yesterday on suspicion of doping. Long shots have been winning with regularity unpleasant for the form players, and charges that the horses were being doped have been made freely at the track.

Popper had twenty-four brass slugs in his pockets, police said. He was held in $500 bail for special sessions on a narcotic charge.

He was arrested in Evansville, Ind., in 1922 as a pickpocket and was discharged on a burglary charge here in 1930.

SKATING BOARD AWARDS DATES FOR ICE MEETS

Jan. 20—Northwest Skating club at Humboldt park.
Feb. 2—Western Open Indoor meet at Chicago Stadium.
Feb. 3—Medinah C. C. Olympic Invitational Derby.

WOODEN LEADS KAUTSKY A. C.

Johnny Wooden, star guard on the Purdue basketball team two years ago, will lead the Kautsky A. C. of Indianapolis, Ind., in a basketball game against the Crusaders at Savoy ballroom Friday night.

Solem Thinks Bears Might Slow Down Mighty Gophers

New York, Nov. 27.—(AP)—On the word of a head coach who has seen his boys try to do something about it, only to emerge with a collection of bruises, there was no apparent way or means of stopping Minnesota's thundering herd this year.

OSSIE SOLEM.

"A great pro team like the Chicago Bears might be able to slow down those fellows," said Ossie Solem, University of Iowa coach, today, "but they would have their hands full. I have never seen a college team that compared with the Gophers for driving power. They gave my Iowa team a terrific battering, and they wrecked the Big Ten race this season.

Gophers Stand Alone.

"Ohio State came along fast and has a fine team, but I would not rate the Buckeyes on the same level with Minnesota. I have heard, too, that Pittsburgh is about on a par with Bernie Bierman's outfit, rated off the game that Minnesota came from behind to win by a single touchdown, but my scouts told me without hesitation that the Gophers were much tougher than the Panthers."

Solem singled out Capt. Pug Lund, star back, as the real sparkplug of the Minnesota team because of his leadership and all around play, but added:

"It's next to impossible to pick out any other player in a team that fairly oozes manpower. We rate Larson as a great end, but I don't think he is the blocker that Tenner is, on the other flank. You have heard a lot about Bill Bevan as a spectacular guard, but I believe if he put on a headguard he would be just another fellow in that Minnesota line."

They Do Everything.

The reason most teams became panicky defensively against Minnesota is easy enough to explain, in Solem's opinion. Speaking from personal observation, he said:

"Those Gophers could run the ends ragged with Lund and Alfonse, then rip the middle of any opposing line with Beise and Kostka, especially this Kostka. If he doesn't weigh 230, I never sized up a man's build correctly, and I don't know how he can be stopped.

"Yet Bierman insisted all season Kostka was just a substitute full back. I know a lot of football coaches who would have liked to use some of those second string Minnesota boys regularly all season. On top of their power the Gophers had a passing game just good enough to worry the opposition when holes were beginning to be plugged up a bit along the line."

"The trouble was that Simmons became a marked man after getting off so brilliantly against Northwestern in the second game of the season," said Solem. "He is very fast, elusive, and game, but he took a bad beating against the next few teams, including Minnesota, and didn't really show to advantage again until our final contest with Ohio State. There was no foundation for the suggestions that Simmons got exaggerated ideas about his prowess and lost the support of the rest of the team."

Solem, in the east to get a line on Colgate's magicians, who visit Iowa next season, hopes to sign up another eastern intersectional opponent for 1936. He has discussed the possibilities of a game with Fordham, to be played in New York.

6.17 Yards Per Smash Average of Gopher Backs

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 27.—(AP)—Minnesota's galloping Gophers traveled one and three-quarter miles by scrimmage plays and hung up an astounding average of 6.17 yards per play by 11 ball carriers. This was shown today in statistics covering the entire season.

Capt. Pug Lund clipped off the most yardage, 667 yards in 100 attempts for an average of 6.67 yards on rushing plays—more than the combined rushing total of the Gophers' eight opponents.

Julius Alfonse, right half, had the highest average, 8.53 yards a try with 64 attempts.

Minnesota rolled up 3,071 yards from scrimmage, 2,835 by rushing while holding the opposition to 915 yards, of which 574 were by rushing. The Gophers made 134 first downs to 40 for their opponents.

Besides Lund and Alfonse, the Gopher ball carriers included Kostka, Clarkson, Rork, Levoir, Roscoe, Seidel, Proffitt, Beise and Rennix.

Apparently out of a chance to play in the Rose Bowl game because of the Big Ten rule prohibiting post-season games, the Gopher players' attitude was summarized by Lund.

"The boys would be the happiest bunch of fellows you could find," the Gophers captain said, "if they would be allowed to play in the Rose Bowl game. They are itching to go and would go into training again right away if the conference rule did not prohibit the game and we were invited."

U. S. ARMY TEAM SWEEPS JUMP AT TORONTO SHOW

TORONTO, Ont., Nov. 27.—(AP)—A United States army team of three riders tonight won the military touch and out event at the Royal Winter Fair Horse show, making three clean performances and gaining all four places.

Lieut. C. W. A. Raguse on Ugly was declared winner of the feature event of the night's program when no jump off was necessary because all finalists were from the United States.

Tyrol, with Capt. W. B. Bradford up, placed second and Ansonia, ridden by Capt. C. C. Jadwin, third. Lieut. Raguse on Dakota reached the last fence before being eliminated, earning fourth.

Six Irish Free State army riders all were declared out, most of them on the three tricky poles set 24 feet apart. Eight Chileans, eight French and six Canadians failed to complete the course.

CALL 'EM BUCKS, NOT BUCKEYES! OHIO COACH ASKS

Columbus, O., Nov. 27.—(AP)—Ohio State university's football team, known for decades as the Buckeyes, will be known as the Bucks in the future if Coach Francis A. Schmidt has his way.

The coach, addressing the varsity and freshman squads tonight at a banquet at which letters were awarded, asked newspapermen to shun the use of Buckeyes and use Bucks.

"I want every one to picture the team as a rip snorting one with fire flying out of its nostrils, and they won't do it if you call 'em Buckeyes. Let's call 'em Bucks," Schmidt pleaded.

Addressing the players, Schmidt warned them to keep up their scholastic standard and thus remain eligible.

"Go to class, even if you don't know your lessons," he urged. "The best fellow on earth can't pass you if you are absent from class 10 days a month."

NAVY WORKS ON STOPPING PASSES

Buckler-to-Suhler Play Worries Middies.

Annapolis, Md., Nov. 27.—[Special.]—A barrage of footballs was in the air this afternoon at Thompson stadium as the Navy players worked against the Buckler-to-Shuler forward pass, the most feared offensive strike of the Army, an even stronger threat than Buckler's running.

George Whitmyre, an excellent passer, took the place of Buckler on the Navy's "Army" team and the rangy Clark Hood, who is also crew captain, represented Shuler on the receiving end, and much of the afternoon practice was devoted to defense against the passes put over by this and other combinations.

ARMY WORKS IN MUD.

West Point, N. Y., Nov. 27.—[Special.]—Army worked out in the mud today in further preparation for the Navy game. The varsity players who had been given a rest yesterday were all out this afternoon and the practice period was extended into the darkness with the aid of artificial light. A drizzling rain prevailed throughout. A highly geared plebe eleven put on the Navy attack.

The varsity was on the defense for nearly the whole of the workout, Gar Davidson only giving them a few minutes of offensive drill. Both Jack Buckler and Ralph King, the only casualties of the Notre Dame contest were in action. Buckler went through nearly the whole of the defensive drill, Simons, his understudy, taking up the task just before the halt was called. King was in and out of the lineup.

The plebes caused much uneasiness with the Navy aerials, Army expects the Navy attack to be made up largely of forward passing and stressed the planning of defensive measures to cope with it today.

SEATS FOR ARMY, NAVY GAME GO TO $75 A PAIR

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 27.—[Special.]—Prices of tickets for the Army-Navy game here next Saturday rocketed to $40, $50, and $75 a pair today as scalpers began to infest cigar stores, shoe shine parlors, and restaurants.

As far as those in charge of the official ticket sale is concerned all of Franklin field's 78,079 seats have been sold.

PINTAIL PUTS ON AERIAL SHOW FOR HUNTERS IN BLIND

Wins Sportsman's Praise as Graceful Bird.

BY BOB BECKER.

A green headed mallard is a beautiful sight when he starts banking around a blind in the marsh, his eyes on a stool of decoys in front of you, but in our estimation the pintail or sprig takes all the ribbons for gracefulness on the wing, and the ability to bank the curves when he wants to swing to a decoy layout.

Last week end when we were shooting at Cuba Island along the Sangamon river there were times when we couldn't help whisper our admiration for the crafty pintail drakes to Jim Offield, our hunting partner, because of the show they put on around our blind. We had a fine decoy spread. More than 20 blocks in all—and about one third of the number painted up to imitate pintail drakes with their long necks. Then we had three "Susies" or live hen mallard decoys. One of the three kept up a running account of the day's proceedings much like a radio announcer at a ball game.

The Last Word in Callers.

This particular hen talked to the blackbirds or anything that flew around our blind. In other words she was the last word in callers. The way she yoo-hooed to those high flying pintail drakes and made them forget where they were going was one of the big thrills of our day. There was no corn around this blind for ducks. Nor was there a pen of live decoys. It was just a "natural"—a slough in a big marsh made to order for pintails and mallards. Slip your duck boat into the blind, put out your decoys, tie a weight on the leg of each live decoy, sit still in the boat and the fun was there.

When a high flying pintail comes into sight, spots your decoys, hears the seductive notes of the live caller and then decides to hurry right down, the picture this bird makes as he brakes himself with his wings spread out and loses altitude like a flyer with a leaky parachute, is to us the picture of all pictures in a duck marsh. The other day when we were sitting next to Mr. Offield in the blind we had many a chance to see this happen. We recall one old white breasted pintail that came down so fast he almost made our landing field on the first try. In fact, he was so low that we feared he might see us in the blind on his first swing. We let him go around since to shoot then would have meant aiming into the sun. This bird just went down wind and came in like a million dollars. It wasn't much of a trick to add him to the bag.

Come from All Directions.

Inasmuch as the birds in the marsh where we were hunting are not fed we could hunt until sundown. The hour between 3:30 p. m. and 4:30 p. m. was a corker. The birds kept coming from all directions. When we weren't down waiting for a bird to decoy we could stand up in the blind and see the mallards swinging around David Peck and Malcolm Vail who were about an eighth of a mile north of us in a big land blind.

Illinois Man Pays $7,300 for Trotter

New York, Nov. 27.—(AP)—E. J. Baker of St. Charles, Ill., today bid in The Master, a well bred yearling trotter, for $7,300 to top the first day sale of light harness racers at the Old Glory auction.

Consigned by Dr. Ogden M. Edwards' Walnut Hall farm of Donerail, Ky., the son of Peter Volo went to the stable that houses Greyhound, well considered for the Hambletonian next year. Baker also raced the great two year old pacer, Auctioneer, which was destroyed in a fire at Indianapolis a month ago.

Bidding Starts Slowly.

A full brother to Protector and The Marchioness, both two minute performers, and the latter winner of the Hambletonian two years ago, The Master lived up to advance predictions. The bidding was slow to get under way, with Noah Squire of Windsor, Conn., making the first offer of $3,000, but once it gained momentum it advanced by leaps and bounds.

Charlie Mills, leading trainer and driver of Germany, boosted the bid to $3,500 and then E. L. Mefford, owner of Lord Jim from Columbus, O., and Baker hooked up with Squire in a battle of checkbooks. The New England buyer had enough at $7,100 and Mefford dropped out after nodding his head at $7,200. Then Baker, a nephew of "Bet-a-Million" Gates, came in with what proved to be the top bid.

Decision Brings $4,600.

The second highest price of the day was paid by Ben White of Lexington, Ky., who bid $4,600 for Decision, sired by Protector. Decision also was a member of the Walnut Hall consignment of 32 head, which went for $23,990, an average of $750.

Baker also paid $1,625 to get Sandydale, a pacer, from Gage B. Ellis' Village farm of Langhorne, Pa.

With Silverdale going to Royal Little, Providence, R. I.; Sheeter Abbedale to A. S. Rodney, Springfield, Mass., and His Highness to Noah Squires for $1,000 each, the Village farm consignment of thirteen head brought $6,305, an average of $485.

The only disappointment of the day was the failure of Walter Hanover, from E. B. Sheppard's Hanover, Pa., farms to bring more than $1,375. He went to Harriman for that price, with Dickerson doing the bidding. The entire Hanover group of 25 brought $7,285.

RESERVE HEADS AGREE TO BACK U. S. BORROWING

Fed. Bank Governors Bow to Treasury.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 27.—Federal reserve banks will support the New Deal's huge borrowing and spending program this winter, even if they are called on to buy more government bonds, the governors of the reserve banks today assured Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr.

Morgenthau laid before the governors the treasury's plans for its Dec. 15 financing, which may involve upward of 1½ billion dollars. The governors, who were meeting as the open market committee of the reserve system, were closeted with Secretary Morgenthau both this morning and this afternoon. It was the first meeting of the open market committee since Marriner S. Eccles became governor of the federal reserve board.

Governors Bow to Treasury.

The reserve governors are understood to have acquiesced completely in what the treasury plans to do. They are believed to be ready even to reverse their recent policy and once more to buy government bonds in the open market if such a step is necessary to bolster the bond market while the treasury is engaged in its huge borrowing campaign.

For more than a year the reserve banks have held their portfolio of government bonds steady at the record breaking total of 2 billion 430 million dollars. During this period the treasury itself has been forced to do its own supporting of the government bond market during periods of low prices by buying its own bonds "for investment."

Banks May Buy More Bonds.

Now the reserve banks are believed ready to do anything necessary to aid the treasury. Purchases of bonds will be resumed if and when the treasury thinks they are necessary.

After months of inactivity the treasury is now faced with another stiff borrowing campaign ahead. Relief and public works plans for the winter call for the rapid expenditure of anywhere from 3 to 6 billion dollars. The treasury has only slightly more than 729 millions in its cash balance and can count on only about 500 millions in taxes. The rest must be borrowed in one of the heaviest financing operations yet engineered by the New Deal.

Help of Banks Needed.

The Dec. 15 financing will be the opening gun in this drive, and for this reason the support of the reserve banks in that operation is vitally important. It will involve the refinancing of 992 million dollars of 2¼ per cent treasury certificates, which mature Dec. 15, and in addition may include the borrowing of 500 millions with which to start the winter relief work.

The only alternative to this borrowing is the cashing in on the "profits" which the treasury has realized by writing up the value of gold to $35 an ounce and by writing up the value of silver to $1.29 an ounce. Thus far the treasury has netted 853 millions in paper profit by this monetary juggling and might issue paper currency against it.

DETROIT BANK DEPOSITORS GET 20 PCT. TODAY

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 27.—(AP)—Announcement was made today that a 20 per cent pay-off to depositors of the closed First National Bank-Detroit would start tomorrow. The total involved is $84,000,000.

Accounts of $300 and less, numbering 560,000, are to be paid in full. Waivers of up to 10 per cent of their shares of the new pay-off have been signed by a sufficient number of large depositors to make this possible, W. J. McAneeney, chairman of a depositors' committee which has been soliciting such pledges, said today. The pay-off has been held up while this solicitation was in progress, in accordance with a stipulation made by the Reconstruction Finance corporation in agreeing to lend $90,000,000 for the pay-off and other purposes.

When this pay-off is completed, First National depositors will have received 70 per cent of their accounts. Tentative plans are under way for organization of a liquidation corporation to take over remaining assets of the bank.

Chicago Banks to Make FHA Building Loans

BY AL CHASE.

Carrol H. Sudler, district director of the Federal Housing administration for Northern Illinois, last night announced that "Title Two" of the national housing act, providing for mortgage insurance, became operative yesterday in three banks in Chicago and Oak Park. They are the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company and the Main State bank, of Chicago, and the Prairie State bank, of Oak Park.

Walter J. Cummings, chairman of the board of the Continental Illinois, Chicago's largest bank, sent the following telegram to James A. Moffett, Federal Housing administrator, at Washington: "It will give us pleasure to render every assistance to prospective home builders or home owners who desire refinancing under the favorable provisions of the National Housing act, which for the first time in history of finance, gives a uniform basic rate for private capital mortgage loans in the United States."

Moffett Approves Application.

Moffett yesterday wired an immediate approval of the Continental Illinois bank's application, which means, according to Sudler, that persons who want to negotiate a new mortgage for the erection of a house or desire to refinance an outstanding mortgage may apply at once at any of the three accepted banks for loans. Whether they are granted or not, of course, depends entirely on the bank and the answers the applicant gives to the several hundred questions on the official form.

"As evidence of the interest the public is showing in Title Two we have applications on file from 23 individuals for loans totaling $120,000," said Sudler. "These, of course, will all have to be made through mortgage banks approved by the FHA."

Officials Expect Building Revival.

"Title Two", the long delayed new unit of the national housing act, is expected by its sponsors to start home building throughout the country. Loans may be made for as long a term as twenty years. For new building the basic charge will be 5 per cent per annum; for refinancing it will be 5½ per cent.

In addition, the borrower must pay one half of one per cent for federal insurance of his mortgage every year of the loan if for new construction. For a refinancing mortgage he will have to pay 1 per cent annually. All mortgages are amortized by equal monthly payments, so that at the end of the term the mortgage is entirely paid off.

Insurance Feature Appeals.

It was pointed out by Sudler that the insurance feature is expected to appeal to both mortgagee and mortgagor. It safeguards the mortgagee against loss and in the long run it is expected that most of the insurance money will be paid back to the mortgagor. In the event of foreclosure the home owner, for the first time in history, gets a break—he has a good chance to save his equity, as the actual sale of the property is under federal supervision and anything over the amount necessary to satisfy the mortgagee will go to the home owner.

Application blanks for both new and refinancing mortgages are now in the hands of the banks, Sudler called attention to the fact that the FHA is making no loans—all must be negotiated through banks or other lending institutions.

GERMANY SAYS AMERICA MISSES POINT ON DEBTS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Nov. 27.—The American protest on discrimination against American creditors by Germany was given an official German comment today in the entire press which asserts that "American arguments miss the point." The comment adds that the only question under debate is how Germany could possibly transfer payment to America.

Germany further intrenches herself behind the argument that the "question of debts is not purely a German matter."

Semi-official sources said today Germany has increased her exports because she wants to satisfy her American creditors at least partially. Since Germany is without gold and foreign currency, these sources said, "increased exports are the only means to transfer the interest payments."

PWA TO MOVE FAMILIES FROM AREAS IN SLUMS

Moving of families and their furniture from the areas selected by the Public Works administration for the erection of so-called low cost slum reclamation projects in Chicago will be handled by work relief labor, according to Leo M. Lyons, relief director for Cook county.

He stated the housing division of the PWA already is conducting surveys of the two designated housing areas on the west and south sides. These surveys will determine the nature of the families and show how many are on relief rolls.

The relief organization, according to Mr. Lyons, will be responsible for moving the families and making a survey to find suitable accommodations outside the housing sites.

Atchison Votes $21,243,645 1935 Budget

New York, Nov. 27.—[Special.]—The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railway will spend $21,243,645 for maintenance in 1935, it was voted today by the board of directors. Under the budget program for next year the road will spend $7,030,548 for new projects and $14,213,097 for work authorized in previous years but only partially completed or not yet undertaken.

Principal item in the budget, according to the carrier's announcement, is an appropriation of $2,250,000 for air conditioning 280 passenger cars, in addition to those now in service. The rail renewal program calls for an expenditure of approximately $1,600,000 for new rails and fastenings. The board also approved purchase of three 660 horse power Diesel motor cars for passenger service and one Diesel electric switching engine.

Net operating income of the road for October amounted to $1,495,393, against $2,711,832 in October, 1933. For the first ten months of the year net operating income totaled $13,969,431 compared with $10,660,571 in the corresponding period of last year.

Downs Sees Better Business.

"Farmers have been aided by higher prices for corn and cotton," he said, "and this is being reflected by greater movements of miscellaneous consumer goods. The increase in this class of business has caused us to estimate gross revenues for November above the corresponding period last year."

He said net operating income for the month will probably show a decrease from a year ago due to increased operating expenses. He also asserted the company expects to get a $4,000,000 loan from the Reconstruction Finance corporation within the next few days, which will be used to pay interest and meet equipment trust maturities.

Report of B. & O.

The Baltimore and Ohio railroad announced operating net for October of $1,999,673, against $3,003,893 in October, 1933. Gross revenues declined to $11,035,589, against $12,974,089 in 1933. For the first ten months net operating income totaled $20,306,229, compared with $25,683,329 in the corresponding period of last year.

Among other carriers reporting net operating income for October were: Pennsylvania, $6,139,707, against $5,820,719; Burlington, $1,930,224, against $2,082,220; Norfolk and Western, $2,085,256, against $2,986,600; Union Pacific, $2,888,282, against $3,483,197; Northern Pacific, $958,339, against $1,330,376; Chicago Great Western, $157,588, against $168,009; Western Maryland, $347,825, against $418,143; Missouri Pacific, $544,097, against $801,945, and the Gulf Coast Lines' net income of $1,658, against a deficit of $48,796.

Rediscount Rate of 1.5% Unchanged in New York

New York, Nov. 27.—(AP)—The New York Federal Reserve bank announced no change today in its rediscount rate of 1½ per cent. In view of the holiday Thursday, directors of the bank held their weekly meeting today. Weekly statistics of the bank and the entire system will be given out Friday.

Consumers Co. Delays Board Meeting Indefinitly

The meeting of the directors of the Consumers company scheduled yesterday was postponed indefinitly because of the lack of a quorum. Hearing on the company's proposed reorganization under section 77-B of the bankruptcy act is scheduled to be held in the federal District court Dec. 3.

New York, Nov. 27.—[Special.]—The dollar was steady to slightly weaker against foreign gold currencies in trading here today, but was improved against the British pound, which closed at $4.98⅞, down ½ cent.

French francs gained ⅛ point to close at 6.59½ cents with the value of the dollar at 59.40 cents, based on the old par of the franc, compared with 59.42 cents yesterday. Calculated on the new par of the franc the dollar was worth $1.0058, against $1.0060.

Swiss francs rose 1 point to 32.42 cents, while Dutch guilders lost a point to 67.60 cents. The Italian lire was unchanged at 8.53 cents and the belga at 23.34 cents. German marks were 1 point lower at 40.21 cents and the Canadian dollar lost 6¼ points to close at $1.02⅜.

Bar gold in London was 2 pence lower at 139 shillings 4 pence a fine ounce, equivalent to $34.75, based on the opening of sterling at $4.98⅞. An amount valued at $1,182,334 was purchased.

An additional $10,000,000 was reported to have been engaged in Europe in the last two days for shipment here, bringing to $140,000,000 the total of gold purchased abroad this month.

Receipts of gold reported today by the New York Federal Reserve bank were $16,767,300. Of this amount $7,288,900 from Belgium and $673,500 from Holland arrived on Monday, too late to be included in that day's statement. The shipments received today were $3,991,700 from Holland, $3,823,500 from France, $640,900 from India, and $348,800 from England.

The shipment from Belgium reported today brought to $12,759,600 the total gold receipts from that country in the last two weeks. These shipments are being made in payment of the foreign loans on gold made by the federal reserve banks which amounted two weeks ago to $15,765,000 and were reduced last week to $10,339,000.

REJECT NEW DEAL FOR 'FAILURE TO ACHIEVE RESULTS'

New York, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Rejection of the New Deal on both "humanitarian and scientific grounds" by the first regional conference of the International Industrial Relations institute was announced today by Dr. John L. Childs, conference spokesman. In a summary at the conclusion of the conference, Dr. Childs, a Columbia university professor, said:

"While this conference has given ample opportunity to New Deal leaders to express their points of view, both humanitarian and scientific considerations have caused the experts who organized this conference to reject the New Deal, not only as not giving us what we now want but as not representing even the approach to the problem that promises any ultimate solution."

During the business session, Dr. George S. Counts of Columbia suggested an alliance of the 1,100,000 American school teachers and the American Federation of Labor. Dr. Harold Rugg, also of Columbia, stated that he saw "no way but that we align ourselves with the A. F. of L."

Studebaker Reorganization Plans to Be Heard Dec. 10

It was announced yesterday that plans of reorganization for the Studebaker corporation under section 77-B of the amended bankruptcy act are expected to be ready for filing on Dec. 10. A hearing has been set for 10 o'clock on that date, according to the clerk of the United States District court of northern Indiana.

Board of Trade Starts Study of Market for Oil Futures

The Chicago Board of Trade has begun an inquiry into the possibilities of establishing a futures market in petroleum and petroleum products, it was learned yesterday.

At their regular meeting yesterday directors of the exchange authorized President Peter B. Carey to name a committee to conduct such an inquiry.

A similar move has been under consideration by the Commodity Exchange, Inc., of New York for some time.

Oil Companies Oppose Move.

Establishment of such a market has been opposed by major oil companies on the ground that it would be impossible to draw a satisfactory contract form, establish acceptable grades, and obtain storage facilities.

Yesterday's action by the exchange governors was described as purely preliminary. Obstacles to the formation of such a market are imposing.

It was pointed out last night that unlike other basic commodities in which there is futures trading, the oil industry lacks public storage facilities.

Need Storage Facilities.

Such publicly supervised storage facilities are necessary if a free market is to be maintained. Establishment of standard grades would also be necessary.

The chief petroleum product which might be dealt in is gasoline. It is doubtful if any other products could support a market.

Back Dividend Is Declared by Wilson & Co.

Special dividend action yesterday was featured by the declaration of a disbursement of 1¾ per cent, or $1.75, a share by Wilson & Co., to apply against accumulated dividends on the preferred stock, payable Jan. 2 to stock of record Dec. 15.

Directors of the American Can company ordered an extra payment of $1 on common in addition to the regular quarterly payment of $1 a share. The payments, which total about $5,000,000, mark the first extra declared by the company since 1931. For several years it had been the company's custom to declare an extra of $1 at the end of the year.

Votes Extra Payment.

Wesson Oil and Snowdrift company declared an extra dividend of 37½ cents in addition to the regular quarterly payment of 12½ cents on the common stock. An extra of 50 cents a share was paid Oct. 1.

International Business Machines corporation voted a dividend of 2 per cent in stock in addition to the regular quarterly payment of $1.50. It was stated that the new stock dividend shares will be entitled to any payments declared after the dividend of Jan. 10. Directors of the Scott Paper company declared an extra of 25 cents and the regular quarterly disbursement of 42½ cents on common.

Chain Belt company approved 60 cents on common stock and 15 cents, payable Feb. 15 to stock of record Feb. 1. In previous quarters the company paid 10 cents quarterly. Hartford Steam Boiler Inspection and Insurance company ordered an extra of 20 cents on common stock, which has received extras totaling $1 a share this year.

Special Payment Boosted.

Backstay Welt company directors declared a special dividend of 55 cents a share on common. On Oct. 1 and July 2 last the company declared special dividends of 35 cents a share.

S. S. Kresge company declared a dividend of 25 cents a share on common, compared with 20 cents quarterly paid previously. Draper corporation declared a special dividend of $2 a share.

Johns-Manville company declared the usual quarterly dividend of $1.75 on its 7 per cent preferred.

Anglo-Persian Oil Company, Ltd., omitted its interim dividend on common. Monolith Portland Cement company declared 25 cents a share on the 8 per cent preferred to apply on accumulations which will amount to $2.35 a share after this payment. Standard Fruit and Steamship company declared 75 cents a share on the $3 preferred, payable Dec. 1 on account of all accumulations.

RESERVE AGENTS ISSUE HISTORY OF BANK SYSTEM

A 31 page booklet dealing with the history and functions of the federal reserve system has been issued by the federal reserve agents' conference.

The book was prepared primarily for the use of banks and trust companies interested in membership in the system.

Functions of the system are described in nontechnical language and a general outline of the requirements for membership is made.

AAA DECIDES ON 25 PCT. CUT IN COTTON CROP

$95,000,000 Bonus; Keep Process Tax.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 27.—[Special.]—A cotton control program, limiting 1935 plantings to 75 per cent of the average for 1928-'32, or about 32,000,000 acres, in return for rental and benefit payments of about $95,000,000 to landlords and tenants, will be announced tomorrow by Secretary Wallace, unless eleventh hour considerations alter plans agreed on late today.

On the basis of a probable yield of about 180 pounds of lint cotton per acre on the reduced area to be planted and about the same number of cooperating producers as complied with this year's program, the AAA expects its 1935 plan to result in a crop of about 12,000,000 bales.

Landowners complying with the new plan will be paid for retiring 25 per cent of their acres on the basis of 3½ cents a pound on the past average yield of the land taken out of cultivation, or about $6.30 an acre.

Divide Additional "Parity."

An additional "parity," or benefit payment amounting to 1¼ cents a pound on that part of the base production which went into domestic consumption is to be divided between landlord and tenant.

The basis of payment under the program for the coming crop year differs from that under the 1934 plan only in that the "parity" payment is to be increased from a cent to a cent and a quarter. The rental payment is to be the same as for this year, except that it will apply on a reduced number of acres.

The 25 per cent reduction under the so-called base acreage, now finally decided upon, is the maximum curtailment which Secretary Wallace may require of planters now under contract. Producers coöperating in the program this year agreed to reduce 1934 acreage by 40 per cent but the two year contract they signed provided that the second year's cut was not to exceed 25 per cent.

All Producers Included.

After some debate on the question, the AAA decided that the 1935 program should be thrown open to all cotton producers irrespective of whether they participated in the plan for 1934.

During 1928-32 when the average acreage planted to cotton was 38,000,000 acres, an estimated 6,000,000 acres was cultivated by producers who elected not to participate in this year's program. While the number of these coming into next year's program might further reduce the size of the 1935 crop, some AAA officials believe they will just about offset the increased plantings over the 1934 of present cantract signers who may not come in next year.

As in the past, the 1935 control plan will be financed by levying taxes on the first processing of the raw cotton into yarn. The present tax of 4.2 cents a pound is to be continued under the new plan through the 1935 crop year despite protests of mills and other factors in the trade which contended it has reduced consumption.

OIL CHIEF ICKES WANTS STRONGER FEDERAL POWERS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 27.—(AP)—The oil administration is seriously considering asking congress to strengthen the government's hand in tackling marketing difficulties, which Secretary Ickes described today as the chief sore spot in the oil industry. The administrator said he thought the government ought to have specific authority to start a counter-attack in gasoline price wars by setting differentials in prices between gasoline sold by independents and that dispensed by major companies.

With the flow of illegal oil reported virtually dried up, Ickes said he considered production and refining sections of the industry to be in fair shape.

The oil administration still is convinced that a majority of the industry favors federal control. Accordingly, it is prepared to stick by a bill similar in most essentials to the Disney-Thomas measure which died in committee in the last congress.

Before congress can get around to considering oil, the oil administration itself is faced with the possibility of altering labor provisions of the code. Labor, through the International Association of Oil Field, Gas Well and Refinery Workers of America, has obtained a hearing early next month to consider modification of labor sections.

SEC TO MAKE OIL INVESTIGATION FOR INVESTORS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 27.—[Special.]—Dissatisfied with the amount and nature of information contained in many registration statements for oil royalty interests filed under the securities act of 1933, the securities and exchange commission has appointed Dr. Irving Perrine, consultant geologist and authority on oil royalties, to make a thorough study of the situation for the benefit of potential investors.

It also has set up a special zone comprising the oil producing states of Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Kansas, and will have investigations made by field agents. Headquarters will be at Fort Worth.

The important point made by the commission is that funds distributed to investors may not continue indefinitly, as the supply of oil in a property usually becomes depleted after a period of years, and such payments, therefore, cannot properly be represented as "income."

Tarif Fails to Keep Out Canadian Feed

OTTAWA, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Despite high tarifs against them, the products of Canadian farms are being exported to the United States this year in almost double the volume of last year. Shortage of feed owing to drouth in parts of the United States is responsible in part for the increase.

A tabulation compiled by the department of trade and commerce shows Canadian farm products and goods manufactured from farm products to the value of $2,646,848 were shipped to the United States during October, compared with exports of $1,397,848 in October last year. The figures for the four months ending with October were: 1934, $9,006,545; 1933, $4,661,073.

Hay Admitted Duty Free.

Hay has been admitted free of duty since the end of August, when imported for feed in the drouth affected areas, and 5,789 tons valued at $56,224 were shipped in October, compared with 84 tons valued at $909 in October, last year. Increases were also noted in exports of bran shorts and middlings, and grass seed.

There also have been increased exports of grains, notably wheat, barley and oats. Comparative figures for these grains for October with the figures for last year in brackets follow: Wheat, $33,512 bushels [99,411]; barley, 1,180,192 bushels [none]; oats, 880,233 bushels [14,011]. For the four months ending October the same figures were: Wheat, 4,174,015 bushels [164,189]; barley, 3,055,835 bushels [none]; oats, 1,286,967 bushels [99,431].

U. S. Grain Exports Increase.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 27.—(AP)—Grain exports from the United States last week totaled 252,000 bushels, compared with 13,000 the previous week and 962,000 during the corresponding week of last year.

Commerce department figures today gave the following comparisons between last week's exports and those for the week before: corn, 158,000 bushels, against 12,000; barley, 94,000, against none; oats, none, against 1,000. No exports of rye or wheat were reported for either week.

Export clearances of wheat for the week ended Nov. 23, the Canadian bureau of statistics reported today, amounted to 2,923,429 bushels, an increase of 877,895 bushels over the previous week. The figure represented a decrease of 1,373,075 bushels from the corresponding week of 1933, when 4,796,504 bushels were exported.

CHATTANOOGA HEAD IS NAMED L. & N. PRESIDENT

New York, Nov. 27.—[Special.]—The Louisville and Nashville railroad yesterday named James B. Hill president, succeeding the late W. R. Cole. Hill has been president of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis, a subsidiary of the Louisville and Nashville. It is expected that he will resign from that post. He also was elected a director of Louisville and Nashville.

The new Louisville and Nashville president has spent his entire career in the service of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis. Starting as clerk and operator at Sparta, Tenn., he was promoted through the treasurer's department to become treasurer and assistant to the president in 1922. In March, 1926, he was elected president of the road.

No immediate changes in the Louisville and Nashville are contemplated by Hill, who said he will carry on the policies of the road outlined by Cole. Hill expressed keen regret at leaving the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis, with which he had been connected 36 years. The first major problem which Hill said he would take up is air conditioning of Louisville and Nashville trains.

ILLINOIS EXEMPTS RESERVE BANKS FROM SALES TAX

Sales of goods to or by the federal reserve banks are exempt from the Illinois state sales tax along with other "agencies, departments or instrumentalities of the federal government," according to a ruling announced yesterday by J. M. Braude, associate director of the state department of finance.

The reserve banks were listed with the Civilian Conservation corps, postoffices, United States Veteran hospital, relief agencies, and other agencies. Under the ruling persons purchasing meals in a restaurant operated by a postoffice or other government department do not have to pay the sales tax.

URGES BILLION DOLLAR REALTY DISCOUNT BANK

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 27.—(AP)—Walter S. Schmidt of Cincinnati, O., president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, says he favors establishment of a billion dollar central mortgage discount bank to finance the federal housing and other home-building and home-saving projects.

Schmidt said a central bank "would eliminate the necessity of having the government guarantee bonds, by having it instead provide the initial capital and delegate to the bank authority to buy stock in, and guarantee bonds of mortgage associations."

Schmidt disclosed that he already has made his proposal to James A. Moffett, federal housing administrator, but he said "the opinion in Washington appears to be in favor of establishing mortgage associations with private capital."

WILSON & CO., INC.

Preferred Stock Dividend

The Board of Directors of Wilson & Co., Inc., meat packers, a Delaware corporation has declared a dividend of one and three quarters per cent (1¾%) per share on its Preferred Stock, payable January 2, 1935 to holders of record at the close of business December 15, 1934, to apply against accumulated dividends. Checks will be mailed.

Dated, Chicago, November 27, 1934.

GEO. D. HOPKINS, Secretary.

Wheat Aided by Rise in Prices Abroad.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Grain prices resumed their advance on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday with the December futures contract in corn selling at a new high quotation for the season of 88⅞ cents a bushel. Maintaining its recent market leadership corn was the center of speculative activity. The advance ranged from 1⅛ to 2⅛ cents.

Wheat received new impetus from rising foreign markets and moved forward about a cent. A further gain in wheat prices in the Argentine market brought the advance there in the last two days to about 2 cents a bushel. This provided a footing on which the market here could move up.

Corn Rises in Argentina.

Corn prices in Argentina also advanced as a direct reflection of the demand from the United States for foreign feedstuffs. Other foreign markets were higher, including Winnipeg and Liverpool, with wheat in the latter center gaining nearly a cent.

Closing prices on the May futures in Chicago were:

	Yesterday.	Monday.	Week ago.
Wheat	$ .98⅞	$ .97⅝	$ .99⅛
Corn	.87⅛	.86	.83⅝
Oats	.50⅝	.50¼	.52⅛
Rye	.74⅝	.73¾	.71⅞

Predominantly bullish as the domestic situation is in all grains, the trade is keeping its eye on the foreign markets, particularly Liverpool and Buenos Aires. The strength in the foreign markets yesterday was all that was needed to rekindle bull enthusiasm here.

Less Argentine Corn Offered.

Advices from Argentina said that there is less inclination to offer corn to the United States for immediate shipment with a disposition to limit offerings to a basis calling for delivery next May and June, when the new crop is available.

A report from a Kansas City elevator firm, which owns elevators throughout Kansas, gave a discouraging picture of the condition of the winter crop and again focussed attention on that situation. Even now conditions in the state preclude the possibility of a large wheat crop next year, the firm reported, stating that the western part of the state is in urgent need of moisture. Another factor was a wind and snowstorm in the southwest, which disabled communication facilities.

Iowa Lacks Surplus Corn.

Reports coming in from Iowa yesterday tended to confirm the expectation that the surplus producing area will have no important volume of corn to ship to Chicago this year. From Dubuque H. C. Donovan of Thompson & McKinnon reported that truckers are hauling corn out of the state in all directions. He found that there is no old corn left, having driven 370 miles without seeing a sealed crib of corn. The truckers pay what is demanded without regard for the prices prevailing in Chicago.

Some 200,000 bushels of corn were bought yesterday for shipment to Chicago. The entire amount represented corn being brought in from another terminal market by a large corn processing concern.

OCTOBER FARM INCOME PLACED AT 736 MILLION

Washington, D. C., Nov. 27.—(AP)—Cash income of American farmers during October from all sources was reported today by the bureau of agricultural economics to have totaled 736 million dollars, compared with 620 millions in October, 1933. Of this amount 631 millions came from the sale of farm products, 76 millions from rental and benefit payments of the AAA, and 29 millions from the emergency sale of cattle and sheep to the government in drouth stricken years.

October income was higher than September by 48 millions but was less than the usual seasonal increase because the marked decline from the sale of crops was only partially offset by the larger increase in income from sale of live stock and live stock products.

After adjustment for the usual seasonal changes in income, the income from marketings in October was 55 per cent of the 1924-'29 monthly average, compared with 60.5 per cent in September and 48.5 in October, 1933.

STOCKS RECEDE MODERATELY ON PROFIT TAKING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 27.—Profit taking in steel and utility shares, and also in a group of miscellaneous issues which had been prominent on the four day rise, introduced a sour note in today's proceedings on the stock exchange. At its worst the market was down 1 to 2 points from yesterday's closing levels but some fresh demand appeared in the afternon and many parts of the list firmed up in encouraging fashion.

Most of the victims of the forenoon liquidation closed above their worst marks of the day and in some instances early losses were replaced with net gains. One conspicuous example of such a recovery was afforded by Union Pacific, which came from below the line to close 2 points higher. The trading volume was inclined to dwindle on the reversal.

Rail Group Shows Strength.

The railroad group as a whole performed rather impressively and to some observers it looked as though the carriers were being brought forward to take up where the steels left off. Atlantic Coast Line moved ahead rather strongly and such issues as Delaware and Hudson, New York Central, Louisville and Nashville, and Northern Pacific advanced a point or so.

Renewed talk of increased local taxation stimulated selling in the utilities. American Telephone sold off about 2 points before fining ground to stand on, while Consolidated Gas Public Service, Brooklyn Union Gas and Peoples Gas were singled out for markdowns of a point or more each. American Telephone recovered about half its loss, but the others closed around their forenoon lows.

Most Metal Stocks Easier.

Metal stocks for the most part were easier but Homestake climbed 15 points on two sales—a performance by no means unusual for the market's highest priced active stock.

Specialties to go somewhere included Hamilton Watch preferred, which extended its gain for the last two sessions to more than 15 points. International Business Machines advanced 2 points to the best price in three years.

Motor shares were inclined to be sluggish with both General Motors and Chrysler dragging fractionally lower. There was considerable activity in Radio common, but the improvement in price was negligible. Building shares enjoyed an occasional buying flurry. Johns Manville going to a new high on the move.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 27.—Bond prices developed strength in more active dealings on the stock exchange today. Against a background of rising prices for high grade corporate issues and treasury securities, secondary and speculative bonds advanced fractionally to more than a point for the day. The advance enabled many high grade corporate liens to swing through previous highs. Turnover totaled $13,332,000 par value, against $10,764,000 on Monday.

Prices of Liberty loans finished a shade lower, but the rest of the treasury list registered improvement. A feature of this market was the rapid advance of Home Owners' Loan 4s, following an announcement in Washington the corporation will not call the balance of the issue Jan. 1.

Many Hit Post-War Peaks.

As a result of additional gains in high grade corporate bonds many were carried through their old highs for the year. In most cases this meant the highs for the post-war period has been bettered. Old 1934 tops were exceeded in Chesapeake and Ohio consolidated 5s and general 4½s, Burlington refunding 5s, Philadelphia Electric 4½s, Norfolk and Western consolidated 4s, and Pennsylvania secured 4¾s and consolidated 4½s.

Gains of more than a point were recorded in Chicago and North Western 6½s, Wabash first 5s and refunding 5s, Western Union 5s, Vanadium 5s, International Telephone convertible 4½s, some of the Erie and New York Central issues and Baltimore and Ohio convertible 4½s and refunding 6s.

Germans Ignore Action.

German 5½s did not break on the announcement that only one-sixth of the Dec. 1 interest was available. This revelation was largely discounted, following the failure of the reich to provide for a full cash payment due Oct. 15 on the 7s. One-sixth of the interest will be paid and the bonds were already selling at less than one-fourth of their face value.

South American bonds, headed by Argentines, displayed strength. Norwegian government 6s of 1943 and 1944 reached new highs, as did Norwegian municipal 5s.

Air Reduction.

Investors' Guide: Would you be good enough to tell me about Air Reduction? You gave me information about other securities and I am very thankful.—Mrs. P. G.

Answer: The business of Air Reduction Company, Inc., is almost entirely the manufacture of oxy-acetylene gases and equipment for welding and cutting. It is the second largest unit in the industry, supplying with Union Carbide and Carbon corporation about 90 per cent of domestic requirements.

Ordinarily the steel and railroad industries are the two largest sources of business. Active research during recent years, however, has developed methods of application of its products to many other industries, notably the automobile trade. This has made the company less dependent on two trades that are subject to sharp fluctuations.

Because the industry is dominated by two principal producers, the price structure has remained relatively stable and the company has been able to operate with satisfactory profits during lean years. With improvement in industrial conditions, net income for the first nine months of 1933 totaled $3,077,000, or $3.70 a share, against net of $2,137,000, or $2.54 a share, for the first nine months of 1933.

	Gross income.	Net income.	Inc. per share.
1933	$5,238,000	$3,193,000	$3.80
1932	4,158,000	2,294,000	2.73
1931	6,262,000	3,815,000	4.54
1930	8,116,000	5,250,000	6.32

Current position at the close of 1933 was strong. Cash assets alone were more than four times total current liabilities.

The company has strong minority interests in U. S. industrial Alcohol company, Pure Carbonic Company of America, and Commercial Acetylene Supply company.

The 832,588 shares of no par common have paid regular dividends of $3 a year since the third quarter of 1929. An extra of $1.50 a share was paid on Oct. 15, 1934. An extra dividend of 75 cents a share was paid in 1933.

Andes Mining and Development.

Investors' Guide: I have twelve shares of Andes Mining and Development, incorporated under the laws of Maine. Are these stocks of any worth? Thank you in advance for this kindness.—S. E. N.

Answer: Andes Mining and Development company was incorporated in Maine in 1911. Its charter was forfeited the same year for nonpayment of taxes. The stock has been ruled as worthless in inheritance tax proceedings.

FIND WHOLESALE TRADE IMPROVES IN MIDDLE WEST

ReserveBankReportsGain More than Seasonal.

Wholesale trade in the Seventh federal reserve district showed considerable improvement during October with either greater than usual or contra-seasonal expansion, according to a report on business conditions released yesterday by the Chicago Federal Reserve bank.

In the hardware and electrical supply fields there were increases over September of 11 and 18 per cent, respectively, compared with average gains for the month of 7 and 14 per cent. The gains over October, 1933, amounted to 29 and 18 per cent. Grocery sales were 1 per cent above those of the preceding month and 17 per cent higher than a year ago. The seasonal average trend is a decline of 1 per cent. Drug sales showed an increase of 13 per cent over September, against a seasonal decline of 2 per cent, and were 24 per cent greater than in October, 1933.

Dry Goods Trade Declines.

Dry goods trade, however, was 14 per cent below September, a seasonal decline of 3 per cent from September. The loss was principally due to declines of 21 and 12 per cent, respectively, at Detroit and Indianapolis. Sales of Milwaukee firms gained 13 per cent, Chicago trade 2 per cent and sales in smaller cities 7 per cent. The 8½ per cent gain for the district over a year ago was practically the same as shown in September. Detroit sales were 15 per cent above a year ago. Milwaukee 8 per cent, Chicago 6 per cent, Indianapolis 3 per cent, and those of smaller cities 14 per cent.

Stock of Stores Increase.

Stocks expanded 7 per cent in accordance with the seasonal trend but for the second successive month were approximately 7 per cent smaller than in the corresponding period of 1933.

After two months of greater than usual expansion, retail shoe trade dropped sharply in October, being 27 per cent below September, compared with the 1925-'33 average decline of 10½ per cent. Sales, however, were 8 per cent heavier than in October last year. Stocks increased 2 per cent over September and 5 per cent over a year ago.

Sales of furniture and house furnishings dropped 13 per cent below September but were 18 per cent greater than in October, last year. The 1927-'33 average for October shows a drop of 16 per cent from the September average.

Aggregate sales of 13 chains, operating 2,544 stores, in October were 9 per cent heavier than in the preceding month, and 7 per cent larger than in the corresponding month last year.

LARD FUTURES REACH NEW HIGH LEVEL FOR SEASON

Strength in grain and the light average weight of hogs, which is taken as indicating only a small make of lard, brought in sufficient commission house and investment buying of futures yesterday to lift prices 10 to 20 points over Monday's finish to a new high of the season. Profit taking was in evidence on the way up, and there was also changing over from the December into the May delivery. Cash trade was reported as slow. Bellies finished unchanged to 5 points lower. Cash lard was quoted at 10½ cents, loose 10.20 cents, and leaf 10¼ cents, while bellies were 14.17 cents per pound. Prices follow:

CHICAGO MEN.

We will hire 5 more men who live in Chicago. Your investigation of this ad will establish the fact that this is a reliable company, and you can make money here if you will work hard and give one hour each day of your time to study. The experience of many successful men here proves this. No sales experience whatsoever is necessary. We will give you 2 days' complete training on how to sell and install our mechanical unit. It is not unusual for men to make commissions of $15 to $50 in one day with this company. We have nothing to sell you. The requirements are that you be of good character, between the ages of 25 and 40, and are looking for a real opportunity. Applicants will receive a personal interview, Wednesday morning, between 9 and 1, at Room 329, 9 S. Kedzie-av.

CREW MANAGER.

A promotion has made an opening for a crew manager who knows houses to house work, qualified to increase production of men already selected and trained by office; recent exper. in elec. appl., radio or kindred lines pref., yet nothing to sell; man selected will join a 75 year old institution, receive a livable drawing acct., and spend at least 30 days in training.
